News In Brief

Satellite Bill Hits Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of a bill to establish a private communications satellite corporation ran into a charge of filibuster Thursday.

"I've been in some filibusters myself and I know one when I see one," said Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., veteran of many a civil rights battle.

But Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., one of seven senators sponsoring a substitute bill for government ownership of the satellite system, denied opponents were filibustering.

He said their lengthy speeches were aimed at "educating" colleagues and the public about the issues at stake.

Belgian Minister Blasts Commies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak blasted the Communists on Thursday and appealed to U.N. members to work with his country in smoothing the transition to independence in Ruanda-Urundi.

He spoke to the General Assembly's Trusteeship Committee while an Asian-African resolution was in preparation to have the assembly approve July 1 as independence day for Ruanda and Urundi. It would ask withdrawal of Belgian troops from that African trust territory by Aug. 1, subject to the local governments' wishes.

Laos Coalition Path Cleared

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, strongman of the Vientiane right-wingers, capitulated Thursday and the last obstacle to installation of a neutral coalition government of Laos apparently was removed.

Barring new hudles, the new three-party government of right-wingers, neutrals and pro-Communists may be installed Saturday under Prince Souvanna Phouma as the neutralist premier.

Phoumi, defense minister and deputy premier in the present pro-Western regime in Vientiane, said the three factions agreed to give King Savang Vathana full power to install the new provisional government.

Three Killed On Turnpike

HARRISBURG (AP) — Three persons were killed Thursday in a Pennsylvania Turnpike crash involving two autos and a tractor-trailer.

The victims were riding in a westbound car which, state police said, crossed the medial strip of the four-lane toll road and smacked into the eastbound tractor-trailer and a following auto.

The accident occurred at 10:40 a. m., edt, about two miles east of the Fort Littleton Interchange in Fulton County.

State police identified the dead as:

James McMahon, 43, of Brooklyn Heights, N. Y.; Marjorie Black, 40, of Meridan, Conn.; and Jane Festa, 34, of New York City.

Thailand Agrees To Decision

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand decided reluctantly Thursday to abide by a World Court decision awarding a disputed border temple to Cambodia. It expressed belief that war on the issue would mean Communist encirclement of this pro-Western nation.

Premier Marshall Sarit Thanarat announced the decision after a Cabinet meeting. He told newsmen his government still considers the verdict an injustice and will so label it in a report to the United Nations.

Coupled with this was anger at the role played by former U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson as counsel for Cambodia in winning the 9-3 judgement from the International Court of Justice at The Hague last Friday.

Ike To Help Pa. GOP Campaign

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will help Pennsylvania Republicans raise $2.5 million for the November election campaign with appearances at two fund-raising dinners.

His office said Thursday that Eisenhower had agreed to make at least two speaking engagements during a conference here Wednesday with Philip Sharples of Philadelphia, GOP chairman.

Sharples said in Philadelphia that Eisenhower will make his two addresses "in late September but I can't give you the exact dates yet because they are subject to change."

He added that the Eisenhower appearances will be in upstate counties and not in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh.

AGVA Head Accused Of Accepting Illegal Payoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate B-girl investigators bore down Thursday on union leader Jackie Bright with testimony that he accepted illegal payoffs and a free Caribbean cruise.

Bright, pictured earlier as occupying free quarters in an expensive Catskill Mountain resort hotel, may get a chance to tell his story Monday.

Clayton (Smiley) Hart, a former branch manager for the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA), told the Senate investigations subcommittee he paid Bright $2,000 for a transfer to a job in Florida.

Hart and his wife, Sonya, testified they also yielded to Bright's demand for a $200 contribution to help elect comedian Joey Adams president of the union in 1959.

Can't Say 'No'

"You couldn't say no to the boss," Mrs. Hart explained.

Adams attended the hearing but offered no comment. He also may be called as a witness next week.

The Harts said their contribution was in violation of union rules but Bright insisted o n electing Adams over actress Penny Singleton.

"We can't let Penny Singleton win," Hart quoted Bright as saying.

Miss Singleton was kicked out of the entertainers' union last month, to use her own words, and has become a bitter critic of Bright's activities as administrative secretary.

She charged at the opening hearing last week that under Bright's administration the AFL-CIO union has opened its doors to strip tease and exotic type dancers who spend most of their time working as bar girls.

Bright, in sideline comments, depicted Miss Singleton as a headline hunter who he said has shown continuous malice against the union since several misunderstandings while she was president.

The story of the free 13-day $1,000 Caribbean cruise was in an affidavit by Herbert Robins, managing director of the Carillon Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla.

Robins, who is also president and part owner of the Atlantic Cruise Line, Inc., of Miami, said he arranged the cruise in February 1961, at the request of Jerry Baker, AGVA's Miami branch manager, who told him Mrs. Bright's health had not been good and Bright did not make too much money.

Subcommittee investigators said Bright receives more than $31,000 a year as operating head of AGVA.

Robins' affidavit said the Carillon has a contract with AGVA, but he said he has not received any special treatment or favors from the union as a result of the free cruise.

The subcommittee's inquiry into alleged links between AGVA and underworld night club operators will be resumed Monday.

Estes Hit With New Indictments

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes was charged in new federal indictments Thursday with use of the mail to defraud and transportation of securities obtained by fraud and conspiracy.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury here.

Meanwhile, in Austin, Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said he would hold another court of inquiry into Estes dealings on June 23 in Estes' home town of Pecos. There have been five previous courts of inquiry.

Wilson has been looking into possible state antitrust violations and the cotton allotment dealings of Estes.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the federal indictments in Washington Thursday.

Three of Estes' associates and the Superior Manufacturing Co.—all named in previous indictments—were named in the latest action, which includes 29 counts.

Kennedy said Thursday's action was based on the same kind of transaction for which all four defendants were indicted on eight counts April 5.

Kennedy said that the new indictment was returned "because of additional and better information on the case."

The grand jury alleged the defendants engaged in a scheme to defraud by selling fertilizer tanks and related equipment, promising future delivery on tanks that did not actually exist.

Also named were officials of the Superior Manufacturing Co.: Harold E. Orr, president; Ruel W. Alexander, secretary, and Coleman D. McSpadden, a director.

A Justice Department spokesman said the federal grand jury investigating Estes' affairs has now completed its work and been discharged.

Buildup Of Troops On Red China Coast Puzzles U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House expressed concern Thursday over a puzzling buildup of Communist Chinese armed forces on the mainland opposite Nationalist-held Formosa.

U.S. authorities acknowledge they do not know why the Reds have massed aircraft and troops along the Fukien Province coast in a buildup which intelligence reports indicate may exceed any there since the Korean War.

They advanced two theories:

1. That the Peiping regime, hit by food shortages, industrial breakdown and domestic unrest, is deploying its forces defensively in fear of an invasion by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces from Formosa.

2. That the buildup is a prelude to a Communist offensive triggered by Peiping's troubles at home. This could be either a move to take only the little offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu or, less likely, could be aimed at Formosa itself.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger said, "The administration has been watching with concern the buildup of the Chinese air and ground troops."

At the State Department, press officer Lincoln White declined to add anything to Salinger's statement.

Other officials, in response to reporters' inquiries, stressed that the long-standing U.S. policy remains unchanged.

The policy is that this country's defense obligations do not go beyond Formosa and the Pescadores and that the offshore islands would be defended only if an attack on these is related to an all-out attack on Formosa itself.

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk on Thursday called Berlin's grim Communist wall an "affront to human dignity" and predicted a way will be found to tear it down.

He proclaimed his willingness to continue seeking ways for opening negotiations with the Soviet Union to settle the problem of this divided city, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Rusk flew here from Paris in a U. S. Air Force Constellation, crossing East Germany through one of the air corridors on his round of fence-mending visits to Allied capitals.

After a stay of nearly three hours he went on to Bonn for talks with West German officials.

Rusk will confer with Chancellor Adenauer at length Friday. The West German leader was host at a dinner with top rank German politicians and Rusk went immediately to it from the Bonn airport.

Rusk said in a Bonn airport statement his visit to Berlin was "all too short, and very impressive." He added that although the Berlin problem did not originate with the Western allies it was up to them to discuss it and find the "best way to handle it in the interest of world peace and freedom of Berlin."

Accompanied by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling, Rusk took a 40-minute tour of West Berlin, including two stops at the wall. About 30,000 West Berliners waved and applauded along the winding 10-mile route.

At the first stop, Rusk and his wife climbed an observation platform overlooking a grim wasteland of bomb ruins at Potsdamerplatz where heavy traffic used to circulate.

Only two or three East German police were in sight. Apparently the Communists wanted to give Rusk little to look at in the way of armed guards.

A newspaperman asked for Rusk's impressions of the wall and what should be done about it.

"I am deeply impressed," he said. "We will find a way to break it down. It will be broken down one day."

At the second stop, the walled-in Brandenburg Gate, symbol of the city, he gazed past ugly antitank obstacles down Under den Linden, once Berlin's smartest street.

"It is a very impressive scene—something the long story of human history must bring to right," he said.

Later, at a ceremony of signing the visitor's book at City Hall, he called the wall an affront to human dignity and said, "I continue to be ready to explore further with the Soviet Union whether a basis for negotiation exists. To do less would be a dereliction of my duty to the American people and to the people of West Berlin."

To Berliners he brought the reassurance they never tire of hearing from Western statesmen.

"I can assure you that you will have no cause to doubt our determination to honor our pledge to protect your freedom," he said. "We Americans are shoulder to shoulder with you for the sake of our own freedom."

Algeria Quiets Down But Future Is Still Uncertain

ALGIERS (AP) — The Secret Army Organization command in Algiers accused French gendarmes Thursday night of provocations and ordered its commandos to fight back with gunfire. The broadcast order came after a day of calm, with Moslems returning to work amid a shaky and uncertain truce.

The clandestine broadcast said the French police were violating a truce agreement between the European settlers and the Moslem nationalists by continuing operations against "Algerian Europeans and against Moslems despite official guarantees and the agreement."

The secret army in Algiers called a truce with the Moslems on the condition they integrate Europeans in the Moslem security force that is being formed to maintain order in the emerging independence of Algeria. But their terrorist colleagues in other parts of Algeria refused to go along and kept up attacks on Moslems.

Dr. Chewki Mostefai, who represented the Moslem nationalists in the talks leading to the present truce in terrorism and arson, promised that Europeans should participate in the maintenance of order.

Outcome Uncertain

But government sources said they had no knowledge of plans to carry out Mostefai's promise, and no one knew what the terrorist secret army would do if the pledge is not kept.

A number of French officials said the truce pact announced with fanfare on Sunday was simply an escape door for the secret army, but hardly anything more.

This view of the secret army's attitude seemed to be the basis of the optimism of some officials that the present truce was on a more or less solid foundation.

"Everybody is tired of war and fighting," said one official.

Another said the bases of Moslem-European cooperation were now being laid and "no one will be foolish enough to destroy them."

After days of scorched earth tactics by the secret army, gangs of Moslems came out of their squalid quarters in safety to their jobs again.

For the first time in months piles of garbage and debris were attacked. There was a nearly 100 per cent return to work in vital city services.

Some stores and restaurants reopened. A few movies even advertised new films.

Veteran X-15 Pilot Soars 50 Miles Up To New Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Veteran X15 pilot Robert M. White zoomed the rocket plane to a record 250,000 feet — 47.3 miles — Thursday to achieve the research craft's designed height maximum.

"What a view," the Air Force major radioed in tones of awe as he arched in a state of weightless over the California desert at the peak of his climb. "It's just tremendous."

Back on the ground, he said the ship did all it was supposed to at design limit height and should easily go much higher. He predicted 280,000 feet for the next altitude run in July.

Ultimately, as it continues exploring problems of heat and stress in re-entering the atmosphere from the edge of space, the X15 is expected to soar higher than 300,000 feet—simply by letting its 57,000-pound-thrust engine burn longer.

The old X15 mark of 246,700 feet was set last April by National Aeronautics and Space Administration pilot Joe Walker in a flight, also aimed at 250,000, that fell short.

White, 37, holder of the X15 speed record of 4,093 miles an hour, hit only 3,682 Thursday. This was his 15th jaunt in the 50-foot space dart.

The handsome, curly-haired pilot told newsmen: "I could easily see several hundred miles—and it looked like down there." He pointed to the ground at his feet.

"The sky was very dark blue, and I could see a thin band of light blue around the earth—very beautiful."

During his descent, he radioed: "Man, this is known as arriving with plenty of energy."

Osked to elaborate, he said the B15—which glides approximately like a brick with a shingle for a wing — came down even faster than expected and he had to make slowing maneuvers before swooping in for a 200 m.p.h. landing on Rogers Dry Lake.

Dissenting Lines Will Meet Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The flight engineers lifted their strike threat Thursday against Trans World Airlines after both sides agreed on a formula for cutting jet airliner crews from four to three men.

But new complications arose quickly when engineers for Eastern Air Lines and Pan American World Airways, involved in an identical dispute, balked at the terms reached with TWA. A union meeting was called for New York on Friday to chart a course the engineers for the two big airlines will follow.

Labor Department officials took the position that this meant no essential change in the situation. The Flight Engineers International Association has outstanding a strike notice against Eastern and Pan Am, but no actual walkout has been called.

Three Lines Involved

All three lines originally were involved, but the union called a strike only against TWA, and now has lifted it.

Signing of the TWA pact, a victory of the Kennedy administration, was announced by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who proclaimed it noninflationary. The engineers will have to learn how to be pilots, but they have guarantees that they won't be elbowed out of jobs by the pilots' union.

The settlement was hammered together in four days and nights of almost uninterrupted talks watched over by Goldberg after he offered the framework for the pact on Monday.

Goldberg obviously was conscious of recent industry complaints that the administration has been exerting undue pressure on wage and price decisions when he stressed that the terms were worked out by TWA and the engineers.

'Collective Bargaining'

"They resolved this dispute by genuine collective bargaining," Goldberg said.

However, the government has been trying to help settle the controversy for 16 of the 20 months it has been raging. And it was only fast action by Goldberg and other government officials that kept a strike from breaking out Monday and again Wednesday.

President Kennedy — who had vigorously protested that the strike threat raised by the engineers menaced the national economy—hailed those who worked out "a statesmanlike agreement" as deserving of praise.

In a 150-word statement, the President said the problem was a difficult one and then commented: "Here it has been resolved humanely in terms of the people involved and sensibly in terms of the industry involved. It is of great significance that this question was resolved without a strike. It is thus a good example of what can be accomplished in like situations."

Eastern Air Lines' President Malcolm A. MacIntyre, commenting before his engineers rejected the TWA terms, said he agreed with Goldberg that this should help resolve the same issue involving other airlines.

Subject To Ratification

The agreement, signed at 10 a.m. by weary bargainers, is subject to ratification by the members of the AFL-CIO flight engineers but union officials here took this for granted.

JFK Farm Bill Dies In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and disaffected Democrats killed the administration's farm bill Thursday night, marking a major setback for President Kennedy's program.

The vote was 215-205.

The vote against the controversial bill came as a distinct surprise to Democratic leaders, who had voiced confidence earlier in the day they had a safe margin.

Some Southerners joined the solid Republican ranks in the House against the bill, but scattered Democrats from other areas jumped party traces too.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the Agriculture Committee asked for a recapitulation or recanvass, of the vote, which would have given Democratic leaders time to round up more votes.

But Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts denied the request, saying the vote was not close enough to require a recapitulation.

The bill would have clamped mandatory acreage reductions and national marketing quotas for the first time on feed grains and wheat, the crops that have contributed most to the huge piles of surplus crops that now cost the government $1 billion a year to store.

Voting to kill the bill were 48 Democrats and 167 Republicans. Voting for the bill were 204 Democrats and 1 Republican.

The final defeat was even more surprising because administration forces had won all the major tests during the day on voice or standing vote tests.

Pardons Board To Hear Pleas

THE Pennsylvania Pardons Board said yesterday in Harrisburg it will hear pleas for clemency next Tuesday in Philadelphia for two former Pennsylvania Turnpike officials convicted in a $19,500,000 conspiracy.

The hearing will be the third for Thomas J. Evans, 78, Coaldale, and the first for James F. Torrance, 74, Greensburg.

Evans, former turnpike commission chairman, and Torrance, a former member, were convicted in 1958 of defrauding the commission in the award of drilling and flushing contracts for the northeast extension of the turnpike. The state contended the work was unnecessary.

Evans, sentenced to terms ranging to three years, has been confined to Harrisburg Hospital by court order since March 7, 1961. Torrance was given two terms of one-to-two years to run consecutively.

The start of their sentences was delayed by unsuccessful appeals to higher courts.

In his latest appeal, Evans said his hospital room costs him $30 a day and he can no longer pay the bills.

The spokesman said Wiedermann, a German-born naturalized American, died in the Dooley hospital he was operating in the northwestern Laotian town of Ban Houei Sai.

American officials said a Thai doctor who issued a death certificate stated Wiedermann "died by his own hand while of unsound mind."

Dr. Wiedermann announced just a month ago he was moving back with a medical team to reopen the Dooley hospital in Ban Houei Sai, evacuated May 10 following a Pathet Lao military drive in Nam Tha Province.

Summer In Poconos

SUMMER in the Poconos — with its attendant warm-weather activities — made its debut yesterday at 5:24 p.m. and gave the area a dry, warm day, with few clouds and a lot of sun.

According to the Weather Bureau, it was one of the driest and warmest Springs in the history of this region.

Along with the arrival of summer, yesterday was the longest day of the year — 910 minutes of daylight between sunrise at 5:30 and sunset at 8:40.

It was the second driest May in the 62-year history of the Scranton Weather Bureau, but the drought actually started in the middle of April.

Since April, rainfall has averaged six inches lower than normal.

Three high temperature records were broken, and there were five above the 90 degree mark. Last year there were only two such days during the entire spring and summer.

Erased Mark

The high mark was registered on June 13 when the temperature was 100 degrees. This erased a mark of 96 set in 1906.

A record was also broken on May 17 and 19, when the bulb showed 90 and 92 respectively. There was a 90 degree reading on May 20, the last torrid day until last Monday when the heat again rose to 100 degrees.

In contrast to early springs when blizzards have swept the area, the low for spring this year was 22 on April 4. The greatest amount of snow was 2½ inches on April 15.

Strike Enters Fifth Week

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A strike which has idled approximately 250 men at the construction site of the new $10 million White Haven School for Mentally Retarded Children, entered its fifth week Thursday. The dispute over non-union men appeared to be at a standstill.

The strike, the latest in a series of seven since June 1961, was called in late May by Local 688, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, against the DonMoyer Electrical Co., of Allentown.

Meanwhile, some 200 of the idle men have filed claims for unemployment compensation. The applications are being processed and a decision on eligibility is being awaited from Harrisburg.

The electrical workers contend that the DonMoyer company has five non-union men doing electrical work on the job and that the work should come under the jurisdiction of the union. Picket lines were established by the union and members of various other unions on the job have failed to cross the line.

William DonMoyer, president of the electrical fire, said Thursday that he filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations Board on June 14 charging a secondary boycott by the Electrical Workers Union.

General contractor Boyd Kline said that the seven strikes by various unions since the project began June 6, 1961, have put the construction job about eight months behind schedule. Approximately 80 working days have been lost by the strike.

Move From High School To College Poses Big Problem For Student

By JEFF COX
Daily Record Reporter

WITH most high school graduations completed, and with many of the graduates planning to attend colleges and universities in the Fall, what will they expect and find when they reach campus?

And the main question is: what should they expect?

One of the widest gaps in life is that between what one does and what one should do. Similarly, there is a gap between what the college freshman expects and what he should expect.

If his high school days were advantageous, he'll know how to avail himself of what he finds in college. If not, or if he lacks interest, he'll find himself swept into an atmosphere definitely unacademic.

New World of Freedom

Specifically, when reaching his freshman dormitory, he'll find a new world of freedom, a thousand new persons to meet and from which to choose friends, an active social life — and study.

Too large a number of freshmen are so overwhelmed by the good life of an American college that they neglect the latter item. The colleges expect this. Those who don't make the grade are finished. The drop-out rate of frosh at most schools is high.

This is a pitfall into which even the best high school students are sometimes inclined to topple.

With a purpose, however, the student can balance the two facets of college life and struggle through the purposely difficult freshman year.

Courses usually take care of themselves. Most are extremely interesting to the student who has an inclination along the course lines.

A student should expect just what he will get — a lot of hard and sometimes tedious work in his early years, and a lot of hard and often interesting work in his upperclass years.

Other Hurdles

If he can stay in school academically, one hurdle has been jumped — but there are others.

A student can live-it-up to the point where he'll never live it down. In other words, it's easy to spend too much money and cripple yourself financially. Every semester students drop out because they have run out of cash.

College is expensive. Probably the cheapest way to capture a degree is through a state college of your home state. Even here the cost of courses per credit hour is about $11. An average student will carry 15-18 credits, and sometimes as many as 21.

That is just the fee for taking the course — tuition is an added $100 per semester. Add to that the cost of housing and food, books and incidentals and even cut rate it comes out to a large amount.

At a large Eastern private university, the cost is much more. There a credit hour will cost about $30-$35. The total tuition for one of these a year usually runs about $1,400. Add to this food and housing, clothes, cigarettes, books, dances, parties, football tickets, the cost of operating a car, dates, and incidentals, and the cost is anything but incidental.

At an average sized Eastern university, the cost will run about $3,000 per year to live cheaply.

Also, there is no guarantee that the Army won't call you from school unless you do something about it. There are three choices here.

Many colleges have a Reserve Officers' Training Corps — ROTC. After four years of this, while you go to school, you can be commissioned in either the Army, Navy, or Air Force.

If that isn't appealing, and a great number of students don't find it so, the only other alternatives are the 2-S deferment or the reserves.

With a 2-S deferment, the Army agrees not to take you until you graduate. But you are then liable for the draft until you are 35.

If you join the reserves, then one night a week is taken up with meetings, as well as occasional weekends and two weeks during the summer.

Not Until Senior Year

The Army does pose a problem, but chances are you won't be high on the draft rolls until late in your senior year.

Along with the time-consuming activities of the Army and social life, as well as studies, there are fraternities. Fraternities are wonderful social organizations, but are often so tight-knit that one comes to think of the "house" as the be-all and end-all of college life.

To put everything in its proper perspective — to center your interest on studies, which is sometimes difficult at college, and allot a full complement of time to the social life, dates, and fraternity — will lead to a successful career at college.

Too often one facet takes complete control of a student's time, either social or studies. To allow oneself to mire down in books like Bob Cratchett in Scrooge's shop, and never go out to let off steam, can be as detrimental as to let off too much steam.

Most freshmen find it difficult to learn how to allot their time correctly at first. After a year or so, the routine pattern will settle on the college student's life, and he will be capable of absorbing the advanced education of the junior and senior years.

Local Firm Denies Plant Is Involved In Fish Kill

S. L. NEIDORF, vice president of the paperboard division of Coates Board and Carton Co., Inc., yesterday denied that his firm is responsible for a large fish kill in the Delaware River adjacent to Monroe and Northampton Counties.

James F. Hazen, Monroe County fish warden, said sometime ago he had filed with the Pennsylvania Fish Commission information and signed complaints about the kill.

Hazen said he had traced the pollution which killed the fish to a Monroe County plant, but he declined to name the company pending commission action.

Vice President's Statement

Neidorf's statement follows:

"In a recent publication you carried an article to the effect that the finger of suspicion is being pointed at us as being responsible for the recent fish kill in Brodhead's Creek.

"We deny that we are responsible.

"In an article dated June 13, 1962, in the Bethlehem Globe-Times, a state Fish Commission biologist declared that a fish kill study gives industry a clean bill. In this article it is pointed out that lack of oxygen in the water rather than industrial or chemical pollution is responsible; that the major conditions responsible for the fish kill include an extremely low flow of water coupled with unseasonably high water temperatures.

"We contend that this is the cause for the kill in Brodhead's Creek, and in further support of this contention point out that:

"1. We have been operating the mill since December 15, 1941, and, in all that time up to the present, have never been responsible for the killing of fish.

"2. In 1953 we spent some $150,000 to build and operate a waste treatment plant to clean the water before discharge to Brodhead's Creek.

"3. The operation of this waste treatment plant affords a greater measure of protection to the fish than heretofore, because all of our process water is now going through this system. We submit to the Commonwealth Department of Health weekly reports of our waste treatment operation. This department also makes periodic checks of our water, and results have always been satisfactory.

"4. We have been, and are continuing to be, extremely careful of the water being discharged into Brodhead's Creek after use in our plant.

"5. Dead fish were found upstream from our plant.

"6. In the last analysis, fish kills, due to the present unseasonable weather, are occuring in other parts of the state."

Certificates Are Presented To Bike Course Students

A THREE-DAY bicycle safety course was held at the Stroudsburg Playground on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. It was sponsored by the borough of Stroudsburg.

Fun on Wheels was the name of the booklet used to instruct the children in the safe operation of their bicycles. The pamphlet is put out by the American Safety League.

The course was held from 10-11 a.m. on the three days. On Tuesday the children were instructed in the rules of the road, on Wednesday they received instructions on care and maintenance of bikes from the safety standpoint, and on Thursday the pupils took a short written test and skill test.

Mayor Small Presents

All students were presented with a certificate from Joseph Small, mayor of Stroudsburg. The certificates were also obtained from the American Safety League.

On Thursday, at the conclusion of the course, all the bikes of the pupils were striped with Scotch reflector tape.

Those attending the course were Dennis Liebert, Richard Romansky, Michael Wells, Craig Shaffer, Mary Jane McClusky, Marie Stokes, Marie Torzillo, Carol Stokes, Janice Archer, Karen Archer, Michael Radler, David Serfass, Betsy McClusky, Gary Meckes, Charles Margretta, Robert Funk, Peter Hoffman, Patty Parker, Michael Farry, Ruth Jacobson, Carol Strunk, Kenneth Strunk, Bonnie Dotey, James DeRenzis, Joseph Jacques, Frank Counterman, Mattie LaPenna, John Parker, Barbara Reese, and Wayne Duggins.

State Solon Against Guards Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Leon H. Gavin, R-Pa., is opposed to the administration's proposed reorganization of the Department of the Army and elimination of eight reserve and National Guard divisions.

Gavin told the committee in a statement that in his opinion the reorganization is "not an Army plan but in reality is a decision by the secretary of defense to simply reduce the size of our reserve forces."

"The Department of the Army is thus forced to play the role assigned to it by the secretary—a role, in my opinion, dictated by budgetary considerations without regard to the actual military contingencies which would dictate our reserve personnel strength," said Gavin.

3 Injured, 1 Critically In Accident Near Milford

MILFORD — Three persons were injured, one critically, in a two-car accident on Route 6, one and one-half miles west of here, at 2:15 p.m. yesterday.

State Police here identified the drivers as Richard H. Hughes, 35, of 306 W. 34th St., New York City, operating a U. S. government station wagon, and James P. Conlon, 41, of 1852 Bundy St., Scranton, driving a sedan owned by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Hughes and two of his passengers were taken to St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, N. Y.

Andrew Huber, 18, Budd Lake, N. J., was reported in critical condition with severe head injuries, including brain damage. Hughes suffered a cut of the left hand, and Edgar Ireland, 36, also of the New York City address, had a cut left leg.

Troopers identiged Hughes and his passengers as Air Force police. Conlon is employed in the safety division of the State Highways Dept.

Troopers said Hughes car was traveling east on the wrong side of the road when it went off the highway, hit a guard rail, bounced off, crossed the highway, swung back into the wrong lane, hit Conlon's vehicle on the left side, bounced across the road again, went down an embankment and rolled over.

A Crying Need

With the publication of the annual Resort Edition in today's Daily Record, Monroe Countians should take a good look at what we have at the present, what we can expect in the near future, and what needs to be done.

The Pocono Mountains area has become one of the finest and most widely-known recreation facilities in the United States. From a small group of country hotels and boarding houses of several decades ago, the area has grown into an era of plush accommodations for the wealthy and other accommodations to suit every need and every pocketbook. This is what we have — a wonderful vacationland.

As we look to the future, the potential for growth is so great that we look upon it with awe. Even as it stands, it is growing so fast as to make an ordinary human's head spin as well as keeping the alert resort owner on his toes in constantly catering to the more and more visitors and vacationers we have each year.

With the imminent possibility of a great national recreation area in connection with the planned Tocks Island Dam and reservoir, the image of growth is magnified almost infinitely. We are in the midst of probably the widest and fastest growth as a recreation area that has ever been known.

There are dangers to this growth, however. Unless it is planned and executed properly it can become a hodgepodge of inefficiency and haphazard building programs that will ruin it. Rather than waiting until the horse is stolen, something should be done about it now!

Monroe County is, for all practical purposes, entirely lacking any group completely devoted to planned community development. Some stab was made at the project some time ago, but it died a-borning. Right now there is nothing!

Meanwhile, in our sister Pike County to the north, schools and meetings are being held in every community; individual citizens have been finding out all they can about the idea; township, borough and county development planning commissions have been organized and are extremely active. Progress on the project of planned community development is traveling high, wide and handsome.

It is high time that Monroe County, too, began some planning along this line. There is a crying need for such planning now, rather than waiting till the lightning strikes and then crying over the corpse of what might have been.

The time is now—if it is not already too late—for us to get going on planning future development, rather than letting development just happen and grow wild.

Kerr-Mills Law's Results

Opponents of the King-Anderson bill providing for medical care of the aged under the Social Security system — headed by the American Medical Association and including some prominent members of Congress—have sought to justify their stand on the ground, among others, that the Kerr-Mills Law adequately meets the problem. This is the statue under which the federal government and the individual states jointly provide funds for the care of needy persons who are 65 years of age or older.

The result of a study made by the staff of the State Special Committee on Aging raises some serious doubts about the validity of this contention. In the first place, only 24 of the nation's 50 states have seen fit to implement the provisions of the Kerr-Mills Act. In Pennsylvania, Governor Lawrence "reluctantly" agreed to have the state qualify for participation in this plan, but only as a stop-gap measure pending action by Congress on the Social Security approach to medical care.

And in the 24 states as of March of this year, only about 88,000 medically indigent persons—less than ½ of one per cent of the nation's total population of those in the 65-or-older age bracket —were receiving help under the Kerr-Mills Law. The committee found that 90 per cent of the federal funds advanced for this program is currently allocated to four states — California, Massachusetts, Michigan and New York.

In all instances, the means test which so many of our senior citizens find repugnant and offensive to their sense of dignity and self-respect is compulsory. In nine states, this extends to the point where the homes of these elderly persons are liened so that after their death they may be taken by the state as a means of recovering the amounts paid by them for medical costs. Benefits are far from uniform as between the participating states. In one state, only six days of hospital care is permitted, while others have fairly comprehensive coverage for those in need.

We recently expressed the hope that the House Ways and Means Committee would report out the King-Anderson Bill for a floor debate and vote, rather than have it pigeonholed by the decision of a comparatively few congressmen. We now think that the report on the operation of the Kerr-Mills Law, after nearly two years, furnishes a strong argument in favor of such action by the committee.

Summer In The Park

It used to be that the parks of our large cities were pleasant places to spend a Summer night, perhaps sleeping on the green or spooning under the moon or revelling in dreams.

Today prudent people are afraid to go into the parks of such a place as New York, afraid of being mugged, afraid of being robbed, afraid of being killed. In 1961, 2,525 policemen were attacked in New York City. The same kind of story comes from Chicago, San Francisco and every large city.

And the criminals are children, juveniles, kids, who ought to be spanked. Silly social workers and judges who want a glorious reputation of being socially conscious let these terrorists off easy because they are young. If their parents had used a cat-o'-nine-tails on them early enough or if a cop were permitted to use a night-stick on them, these kids would learn to behave.

In "Look," Samuel Grafton says:

"No Chicagoan in his right mind would dream of strolling at night through Grant Park, along the downtown lakefront. And the New Yorker who used to sleep on the grass in Central Park on hot nights would as soon take a cosy nap on an East Berlin sidewalk with an American flag in his hand."

The fact is that crime in this country is growing so rapidly that we are one of the most lawless people on Earth. If, when a policeman wants to make an arrest, a neighborhood mob intervenes, all who can be caught should be arrested and punished severely. A few exhibitions of police strength, unimpeded by politically-minded judges, would be a splendid lesson. A decent citizen would help the policeman.

Grafton quotes Cleveland's chief of police, Frank W. Story:

"Not long ago a crowd of 50 to 60 people calmly watched one of our motorcycle men, a good officer, being beaten by a couple of thugs. No one called the police."

Lawlessness and danger often makes for corruption among the police. Disgusted by the ridiculous attitude of judges, annoyed at police rules which often are disadvantageous to the policeman, tempted by large and small bribes, policemen do go wrong. When a cop risks his life to bring in a mugger, a thief or a rapist and then finds a soft-minded judge, assisted by a social worker, letting the criminal off because he has not yet reached the magic age of 21, the cop naturally throws up his hands in disgust.

For there is only one way to stop crime and that is to have "hanging judges" on hand to get rid of messy human beings. Every year, the age of criminals grows younger. Why? Because as the kids say, "You can't do nothing to me. I ain't 21 yet." 21, my eye! Bring out the cat and throw the kid over the knee of a strong cop, let down his pants, and give him an old-fashioned hiding and he won't forget it.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy says:

"The only lasting solution will come when people everywhere realize their own responsibilities to abide by the law."

I fear that some virtues have to be pounded into some people. They learn better through the rear-end than by eyes and ears. What they hear goes in one ear and comes out through the other. What they see is the bunk. But what they feel leaves with them a lasting, even an everlasting, impression. The worst thing about city life is that the old-woodshed is gone and when a kid screams, the neighbors hear the noise and telephone in their complaints.

The parent who has good children is truly blessed.

When I was a youngster, we always knew the cop on the beat. We usually liked him. If we were bad, he gave us a warning. If we were very bad, he would tell our parents who would probably whack us to maintain family self-respect. There were no juvenile courts in those days. Some kids were pickpockets and petty thieves. So they were locked up. Those who were locked up were likely to become permanent criminals. But the crime rate was low.

Nowadays, with all kinds of courts and social reforms and progressive education and recreation and everything done for the kids, the crime rate goes up every year and the criminal is younger. Is this progress?

Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook:

Speechless Governor — For Once — Ordinarily Pennsylvania's Governor Lawrence can handle a speech or off-the-cuff comment with considerable ease — Like any old political pro should . . . This week though, his gubernatorial nibs was caught off base and left literally speechless!

The incident developed on the occasion of his 73rd birthday Monday when completely unknown to Mr. Lawrence, the front office secretariat staged a surprise birthday "party" — this one a complete surprise . . . On his schedule that day was a fifteen-minute "pop-out" to the outer reception room for a few words of off-the-cuff greeting to a visiting group.

At the appointed time Mr. Lawrence checked his tie and was ushered out to the reception room to make his remarks — but alas — the group consisted of his own office secretariat, plus Mrs. Lawrence and their two grandchildren, David, 13, and Kathy, 11 . . . The Governor munched one of the cup cakes and sipped some punch, thanked the group warmly but conceded that for once he was speechless.

"All of which goes to prove that the Governor is a very good party man!" quipped one aide following the gubernatorial notation . . . The affair only lasted about fifteen minutes — and as an aside to those who might think the office staff was making light on taxpayer time, they deducted fifteen minutes from their lunch period . . . (Yes — they all sang "Happy Birthday"!)

Socio-economic Sidelight — Much will be heard during the current governorship campaign in the Keystone State over what has and has not, been done to decrease unemployment in Pennsylvania by the two Democratic Leader and Lawrence administrations.

The positive side of course will be accented by Keystone State Democrats with Republicans striking at the negative side . . . Which "interpretation" to believe will be dependent in many cases on partisan leanings, but regardless of what either say, here are some interesting items concerning Pennsylvania's economic plight from the hard-fact sheet of the 1950 and 1960 U.S. Census as compiled by the far away partisan-as-a-prune U.S. Department of Commerce:

Item. Population increase: the Nation — 18.9 per cent; Pennsylvania — 7.8 per cent.

Item. Unemployment increase: the Nation — 7.0 per cent; Pennsylvania — 10.2 per cent.

Item. Employment population increase: the Nation — 11.2 per cent; Pennsylvania — 2.7 per cent.

Item. Value added by manufacturing: the Nation — 57.6 per cent; Pennsylvania — 44.7 per cent.

Item. Personal income increase: the Nation — 76.5 per cent; Pennsylvania — 56.0 per cent.

Fasten Your Seat Belt, Boys — In a page-long mimeographed "news release" this week Secretary of Property and Supplies Andy Bradley announced that henceforth all state cars purchased will have seat belts as mandatory equipment.

Said the mimeographed handout further:

"The new policy was adopted at the suggestion of Governor Lawrence in line with the administration's over-all program of traffic safety."

The thought occurred to this column: do the Governor's own cars have seat belts?

A check with the Governor's Office revealed (after some minor fumbling around) that: on one car, yes; the other — no.

"But the Governor has ordered them installed on the other car," was the quick added comment!

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

What do school districts face today?

Probably the biggest problem is the cost of putting up new schools or adding additions to old ones.

The State Department of Public Instruction figures that if a school district builds a new building, the average cost per secondary school pupil is $2,424 and for an elementary school student, $1,336. The statistics are based on 1961 reports of 77 new buildings in which 50 were elementary structures.

But the whole crux of the matter is that high construction costs has steadily widened the gap between the amount the state pays and the local districts must cough up.

The state's assistance for new school buildings is based on an allowance of $1,100 per elementary pupil and $1,700 per secondary pupil. This is quite a breach from the State Department's average of $2,434 for secondary students and $1,336.

Anyway you look at it the taxpayer pays, whether it is on a local or state level.

Actually the state's debt through the school building program runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

The 1961 Legislature removed the so-called lid on the debt whereby a limit was put on the amount of debt the state could absorb.

Today, unlike the last 10 years, there isn't a flood of applications waiting to join the school building program. The tremendous cash load the local districts must pick up due to higher construction costs has lessened the demand for new buildings.

Credit has been given to the school reorganization act of 1961 for putting a brake on school enlargements. However, critics of the act say the plan creates doubt in the minds of some school administrators about the future identity of their school districts.

Like everything else the school building program is reaching the "point of no return" on the local level. Even the taxpayers, the group who hardly ever quarrel about how hard or often they are hit, are complaining out loud.

It's always nice to want what the Jones' have. But can we afford what the Jones' got?

Food Rationing Ordered For East Germany

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, June 22 — Communist East Germany is preparing to follow Red China and Cuba in rationing food.

This drastic economic move, designed to conserve that nation's dwindling food supply, is expected to be announced early in July when controls will be placed on bread and meat.

Already, East Germany's Boss Walter Ulbricht has ordered 16 million ration cards printed in East Berlin. General distribution of these cards is scheduled for next month.

According to U. S. Intelligence sources, Soviet Premier Khrushchev directed Ulbricht to begin food rationing after thousands of factory workers in scattered East German cities began taking time off to stand in line to await food shipments from the rural areas.

These unorganized work stoppages, which hit a peak last week, caused Ulbricht to depart early from the recent Soviet bloc economic conference in Moscow and rush back to East Berlin to prepare for possible food riots.

This situation was so explosive for a time last week that Ulbricht cabled Khrushchev for permission to use military force if necessary to put down any riots caused by food shortages. At one point, Soviet troops stationed in East Germany were actually alerted for action in seven cities, including East Berlin.

So far, there have been no major incidents of violence because of an unannounced decision by East German authorities not to try to force workers back to their jobs.

However, this uneasy situation could explode overnight. Once rationing is announced, Ulbricht is expected to issue a flat ban against workers leaving their factories to seek food during working hours.

WORST TO COME — U. S. Intelligence officials believe the tense situation in East Germany is going to get a lot worse before it imporves. Growing food shortages are being forecast throughout the remainder of 1962 because of reports of poor crops from within East Germany. The potato crop is expected to be one of the poorest in recent years.

During 1961, the Sino-Soviet bloc imported more than 10 million tons of food from Canada, Australia, France, Argentina and the U.S. The Communist countries have contracted for another 7 million tons in 1962, and Communist China has even contracted for 1963-1964 crops from Canada and France.

Red China, which is acting as purchaser for Eastern European satellite nations, obtained more than a million tons of wheat, barley, maize and flour from Canada for East Germany during the past year.

East Germany is now seeking to repurchase surplus farm commodities that Poland and Yugoslavia recently obtained from the U. S. Already, the State Department has warned these governments against any trans-ship ments.

There are other definite signs that the Communists are expecting additional trouble within East Germany this year. A new "Siegfried Line" of fortifications is being constructed along the entire line that divides East and West Germany.

This new Communist wall, according to the West Germans, is designed to block Western forces from going to the rescue of the East German people should they revolt against their Communist regime.

Note: Secretary of State Rusk cautioned West German officials against encouraging any East German uprising. He warned that a massive revolt inside East Germany could easily touch off a nuclear war.

GOING ALL THE WAY —The National Institutes of Health is assured of a record amount of money to spend on medical research during the coming year.

The Senate is expected next week to vote $900 million — or the full amount the Senate Appropriations Committee is recommending for the government's famed research center.

The Committee's recommendation is $60 million above the $840 million already approved by the House.

A final compromise budget of $870 million is expected when Senator Lister Hill, D-Ala., who handles the NIH budget in the Senate, and Representative John Fogarty, D-R.I., the agency's champion in the House, bring together House and Senate conferees to iron out differences.

That budget figure will represent an all-time high in funds for research in cancer, heart, arthritis, allergy, and all types of infectious diseases.

Already, both Senator Hill and Representative Fogarty are forecasting that next year's NIH budget will reach $1 billion.

SOCIAL WHIRL — If you have wondered what they dine on at those high-flower State Department banquets for visiting heads of state, the following is the menu served Panama President Chiari: Cold lobster on the shell, duck orange with wild rice, asparagus and broiled tomatoes, lettuce with mousse of roquefort, flaming strawberries and ice cream with petits fours, four different appropriate wines, champagne, and of course cigars and coffee. Yes, the taxpayer picks up the tab for these lavish affairs . . . . . Several others just as lush, but only one at U. S. expense, were a luncheon and banquet for Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies. The luncheon, a stag affair given by the President for 35 guests, started with melon wrapped, Italian style, in ham, followed by tournedos with pate de fois gras served with potatoes rissole, green beans and almonds, a green salad and strawberry tarts. How much work the diners accomplished in the afternoon after this gourmet feast, is not known. In the evening, Australian Ambassador and Lady Beale had a black-tie dinner for Menzies and the menu, tailored for a hot day, consisted of consomme Madrilene, filet of sole, roast stuffed pheasant with wild rice, green vegetables, and a dessert of parfait marron place, plus appropriate wines, etc., etc. It sure is tough to be a VIP in the Capital. Hard on the digestive system, albeit not on his personal purse.

Former Senator and Mrs. H. Alexander Smith, R-N. J., celebrated an unusual event this week — their 60th wedding anniversary. The exceptional occasion was commemorated by a party by their three children and attended by numerous official friends . . . . . What will they think up next! To celebrate the marriage of Mrs. Polly Guggenheim, wealthy widow of the Ambassador to Portugal, to Jack Logan, friends gave them a "champagne and bluebirds" luncheon. The ingenious affair was explained as follows: "The champagne is for gaiety, and the bluebirds for happiness." . . . . Ghanaian Ambassador W. M. Q. Halm's big housewarming for his new Chancery featured a unique touch — a set of native drums and two beaters who hammered them exuberantly throughout the evening. The Chancery is a 30-room mansion that had fallen into disrepair and was completely restored to original magnificence. Several hundred high-ranking guests attended the lively party, at which champagne flowed freely and gusty singing accompanied the throbbing drums.

Inside You And Yours

What Is Cystic Fibrosis?

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.

What is cystic fibrosis? Does it always kill?

No. Even though cystic fibrosis (CF) still takes a large toll of lives, casualty lists are shrinking. Doctors are discovering milder forms which sometimes actually improve.

Baby can't inherit CF unless Mom and Dad are carriers. He has to inherit the trait from both.

Then, thick glue-like mucus clogs both the pancreas-to-intestine passage and tiny bronchial tubes.

Without pancreas-chemicals to digest food in the small intestine, undigested bulk rushes straight through. Meanwhile, those dammed-back chemicals digest the pancreas itself, leaving cysts and fiber-like scars (cystic fibrosis).

Air Passages Blocked

Gummy mucus also stops up tiny air passages. The victim gags, chokes and retches, but mucus sticks to bronchial lining.

Like special magnets, blocked bronchial tubes attract all kinds of germs. Bronchitis and pneumonia linger and eventually destroy vital lung tissue.

Extra salt floods spit, sweat and tears — so much that CF sufferers have to tank up with extra salt and minerals to withstand overheated homes and sultry summer days.

Sometimes the pancreas is spared. Chronic bronchitis in adults may be a mild form of CF.

To pinpoint CF, doctors analyze salt in sweat or saliva. Salt-filled droplets show up as black thumbprints on a special chemical plate. A new test analyzes mucus-like chemicals in perspiration.

Giant doses of vitamins, pancreas-chemicals and liver shots help the intestinal problem.

Inhalations of steam and special mucus-thinning mists help bring up clogging mucus. Mucus drains downhill when you raise the foot of the bed on six-inch blocks. Modern miracle drugs fight infection.

But all this is merely a holding action. Doctors are still searching for the magic cure that can guarantee a long, sweet life to every salty victim!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Dear Abby

He Needs A Dentist!

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever kissed a man without teeth? Well, I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy. My husband takes his dentures out every chance he gets and he won't try to get used to them. When I put up a fuss he puts his teeth in to kiss me, but most of the time he doesn't even know where they are. He has had his false teeth for over two years and he hasn't given them a chance. What can I do?

END OF ROPE

DEAR END: Your husband doesn't give his dentures a chance because they don't fit him. It's not his fault. Tell him to trot back to the dentist who made them and put the bite on him for an adjustment or a new set!

DEAR ABBY: When should a girl start her hope chest?

MARGIE

DEAR MARGIE: As soon as she has "hope."

DEAR ABBY: There is a middle-aged woman who works at the mill where I work. She is what every man wants. What she does is her own business, but now she has a young boy so dizzy about her I am afraid one of these days he will put his hand in one of the machines. Maybe I feel like I do because I have a boy just his age. He is in Korea. Anyway, this trampy woman goes everywhere with this kid and keeps him out until all hours, drinking and twisting. She is no good. Should someone talk to his parents? Or would it be better to talk to the boy? He is just a green kid who doesn't know what life is all about.

WANTS TO HELP

DEAR WANTS: Since you seem eager to "talk" to someone, talk to this woman. If the boy is under age, she can be hauled into court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. But whoever makes the charges had better be able to back them up with proof.

Report On The Delaware River Basin

A Daily Record Feature

Commission Has Many Plans Along With Tocks Island Dam

THE vastness of the Tocks Island multi-purpose dam project tends to draw attention from the 19 other water conservation, flood control and recreation projects planned by the Delaware River Basin Commission.

But these undertakings are vast—estimated to cost at least $200 million—and some have a higher priority for construction.

Some already are under way, in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and have been incorporated by the Commission in its master plan.

Here is what the Commission envisions:

The Beltzville Project

Beltzville, located approximately four miles east of Lehighton, Pa., would cost about $14.9 million and is scheduled for development at once for water supply, flood control and recreation. About $6.8 million would be paid by the Federal Government.

A 4,500-foot dam, rising 160 feet, would create a reservoir extending seven miles up the Pohopoco Creek. It would impound 40,000 acre-feet of water for long-term storage and 27,000 acre-feet for short-term flood control.

(An acre-foot is 325,850 gallons or, roughly, three acre feet is equal to a million gallons. Thus Beltzville would impound over 13 billion gallons for water supply and 9 billion gallons of potential flood waters.)

Its water would augment the supply of the Palmerton-Bethlehem, Pa., and Trenton and Philadelphia areas. It would afford flood protection to a region around Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton, Pa.

But complete flood protection is not assured. The Army Engineers say generally a 45 per cent reduction in flood damage could be expected in the major impoundment service area of most projects.

Beltzville would require an overall acreage of 2,413 with 1,300 related to recreation — which is expected to serve half a million persons annually.

Blue Marsh Project

The Blue Marsh Project also is scheduled for immediate development and is to be in operation by 1969. Located on Tulpehocken Creek about six miles northwest of Reading, Pa., would be a dam impounding 14,500 acre-feet for long-term water supply and 33,000 acre-feet for flood control.

The reservoirs, extending 10 miles upstream, would require relocation of the community of Blue Marsh, part of Bernville, and some roads.

Pottstown, Reading and Philadelphia would benefit from the water supply and flood reduction could be expected along the Schuylkill River from Reading south to Philadelphia.

In all 5,296 acres would be required for the project, with 3,700 for recreation to accommodate 437,000 visitors annually. The Federal Government would pay about $7 million of the estimated $15.7 million cost.

Trexler

The Trexler Dam, costing $11.2 million for its over-all development, is scheduled to be in operation by 1972. Located on the Jordan Creek in a Pennsylvania game preserve about eight miles northwest of Allentown, it would impound 24,200 acre-feet for water supply and 14,000 acre-feet for short-term flood control.

Extending eight miles up Jordan Creek, it would require relocation of Lynn Valley and Widensville, and a bridge to carry Route 309 over the water.

In all some 3,580 acres are needed for the project which will augment the water supplies of the Bethlehem, Trenton and Philadelphia areas and would be operated in conjunction with other Lehigh Valley dams for flood protection in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton region.

The Federal Government would contribute about $4.3 million for the project, which also would have a recreation capacity of 312,500 persons annually.

Prompton Dam

The Prompton Dam, completed two years ago as a flood-protection facility, would be modified at a cost of $4.35 million to impound 28,000 acre-feet for water supply to augment the needs of the Trenton and Philadelphia areas. The Federal Government would bear only about half a million dollars of the modification costs. Prompton additionally would have a recreation capacity of 156,300 annual visitors. The modification will require an additional 2,055 acres upstream from the dam, located west of Honesdale, Pa., and should be completed by 1974.

Aquashicola Project

Located on Aquashicola Creek, about 3½ miles east of Palmerton, Pa., would be a $19.5 million dam facility to be in operation by 1981. The Federal Government would pay about $8.5 million of the costs for the development which envisions impounding 24,000-acre feet for long-term water supply and 20,000 acre-feet for flood control.

Allentown - Bethlehem and Trenton and Philadelphia would benefit from the water supply facility while Aquashicola would be operated in conjunction with the other Lehigh Valley dams for flood control in the general Allentown - Bethlehem - Easton area.

The community of Little Gap would disappear and there would be relocation of water and pipelines, some rail trackage, rural residences and quarry equipment.

The recreation capacity is estimated at 156,300 annually.

Maiden Creek Project

Scheduled for operation no later than 1982, this $30.8 million facility on Maiden Creek about 12 miles north of Reading would impound 74,000 acre-feet for long term storage and 38,000 acre-feet for flood control. Its reservoir would extend 10 miles and inundate Lenhartsville and Virginville, plus part of Moselem.

The Pottstown - Reading and Philadelphia areas would benefit in water supply and the dam would be another major factor in reducing flood damage down the Schuylkill River from Reading to Philadelphia.

The Federal Government would pay about $9.7 million of the costs. The project recreation potential is estimated at 625,000 persons annually.

Bear Creek Project

This project calls for modification of the huge Bear Creek Dam above White Haven, Pa., to include 70,000 acre-feet of long-term water storage in addition to the 108,000 acre-feet available for flood control impounding. The modifications will cost about $9.8 million and would add a recreation potential for 250,000 visitors annually. Allentown - Bethlehem and Trenton and Philadelphia would benefit from water supply. Federal Government payments might be negligible.

These are the major multi-purpose facilities which with Tocks Island form the bulk of Commission planning and for which the commission has cost estimates, completion dates and other data.

Some smaller facilities are nearing completion and others such as the Newark, Del., water supply and recreation project are in the stage of data gathering and review.

The Silver-Lake-Locust Island watershed plan is virtually complete and is expected to be benefiting the Salem - Cumberland County area of New Jersey immediately.

Also in New Jersey the Paulins Kill watershed project of Warren and Sussex counties is expected to be completed by mid-1964 and the Maurice River Cove project, also in Salem and Cumberland Counties, may be in operation by June, 1963.

Water Resources Assn. To Aid River Basin Interests

(Editors Note: Complementing The Daily Record's current series on reports on the Delaware River Basin, the report of the Finance Committee of the Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin is given below.

(The report, originally given at the annual meeting of WRA/DRB in Princeton, gives some of the scope of the organization in assisting the present plans of the Delaware River Basin Commission.)

Report—Finance Committee

The Finance Committee met twice in the past year to direct the Association's affairs in three different areas. These were: (1) campaign; (2) proposed expenditures for programming purposes; and (3) proposed expenditures for staff benefits.

1. Fund-Raising Campaign

The Association hopes to raise between $65,000 and $70,000 this calendar year from three major sources.

First, after the Water Research Foundation terminated its activities last December, Messrs. Hopkinson and Bensinger, through two separate letters and various follow-up efforts, succeeded in transferring substantial support that had been going to the Foundation to the Association.

The corporation that had contributed to the Foundation were asked to give 80% of what they had been giving the Foundation with the understanding that the Association's future requests would be progressively decreased from year to year in the future.

Secondly, late last year and early this year three of our New Jersey Directors . . . Messrs. George Smith, Frederick Groel and James Stewart . . . signed solicitation letters to some 229 different corporations with operations in the State of New Jersey. These letters, which are still being followed-up, have resulted in contributions of about $4,000 and should result in contributions totalling at least an additional $4,000 in the next several months.

Thirdly, the Association has just recently re-solicited former contrbutions in the Easton and Stroudsburg areas and early this year re-solicited former contributions in the Milford, Pennsylvania-Port Jervis, New York areas. The contributions from these areas should total between $5,000 and $10,000.

During the past year the Finance Committee directed the Executive Director to prepare a proposal requesting a $50,000 grant from a prominint foundation that is concerned with conservation . . . and that shall remain unnamed. This request is still being actively considered. This grant, should we receive it, would be used to staff our functional committees with part-time but highly competent technical personnel, and to permit the committees to engage in a number of Research and Reporting Projects.

2. Proposed Expenditures

At the most recent meeting of the Finance Committee in April, one of the major topics of discussion dealt with what funds the Committee could authorize for long-term programming the remainder of this year. As Mr. Parry's committee knows only too well, most of our educational and informational tools have become out-dated with the passage of the Compact and the completion of the Delaware River Basin Report.

After reviewing our current bank balance, the income that we believed was assured for the remainder of this year, and the minimum staff, programming and overhead expenses, the Finance Committee concluded that $6,000 to $6,500 only could be authorized for long-term programming needs the remainder of this year. The Finance Committee suggested, and that is all it could do since this is the province of the Education and Information Committee, that these funds be used to develop a new film strip and a booklet that explains the Association.

From the figure I just mentioned I think it is quite clear that while the Association has no financial crisis as it did last year, it does still have financial problems. This becomes very clear to me when I look ahead and see the operation of the new Commission and the activation of all the Association's functional committees. The committees, surely, will have many important projects that should be undertaken, some of which will result in publications. We can only hope to finance activities of this kind through raising additional funds.

3. Proposed Expenditures for Staff Benefits

As I think most of you know, the staff's "fringe benefits" are all but non-existent. The staff has social security benefits and is given a three week vacation annually. And that is about it.

One of the matters discussed at the most recent meeting of the Finance Committee was a pension plan for the staff. The Finance Committee had been authorized to consider and act on this matter by the Board, and I am sorry to report that the Finance Committee, while deeming a pension plan for the staff highly desirable, could not immediately authorize such a plan in the light of the current financial situation. The Committee will re-appraise this matter in the fall.

Analyist Reports On State Dept. Foreign Policy Plan

By J. M. ROBERTS

Republican reaction to skimpy reports of the contents of a State Department restatement of foreign policy presages a great new debate, and one the administration faces with confidence.

The administration, whether or not it is right in all of its approaches, nevertheless has recovered from what appeared for a time to be a dissolution of willpower following the Cuban debacle.

There is continuing worry over Laos. But also there is a definite feeling that communism is not only being generally contained, but that it has lost monentum, and much of its magnetism for the noncommitted countries.

Where there was a certain amount of handwringing a year or so ago over the difficulties of guerrilla warfare and infiltration under circumstances which obtained in places like Viet Nam, there is now a belief that certain keys have been found.

There was disappointment after the Vienna conference over Soviet Premier Khrushchev's failure to get President Kennedy's message of determination against basic retreats in Berlin or anywhere. Last summer's troop mobilization now is believed to have written that message indelibly in the Communist book.

The Sino-Soviet split, taken at first with several grains of salt, is now accepted in Washington as of great importance, though without a tendency to rely too heavily upon it.

Internal difficulties in the Communist countries are evident.

The Congo situation has cooled.

The first tentative feelers toward acceptance of independence and neutrality for immature nations have now taken root in policy. Those who sponsored the idea still like the looks of it.

The Rostow paper which promises to become a focal point of dispute is an effort to pull together all of the administration's experiences and lessons learned, and to give a sense of direction.

House Contains 4-Level Split

By JULES LOH

A split-level house of colonial design with long, low lines sounds almost like a three-way contradiction in terms.

But — seeing is believing — this house is all three. And not in an incongruous mixture, but in a pleasingly harmonious blend. The over-all effect is one of traditional warmth enhanced by up-to-the-minute styling.

An uncommonly handsome exterior is but one outstanding accomplishment architect Fenick Vogel has achieved in this plan. The view from inside is equally remarkable, which makes this design, J-26, worthy of selection as House of the Week.

The floor plan is a well-ordered layout combining the best elements of both one and two-story design.

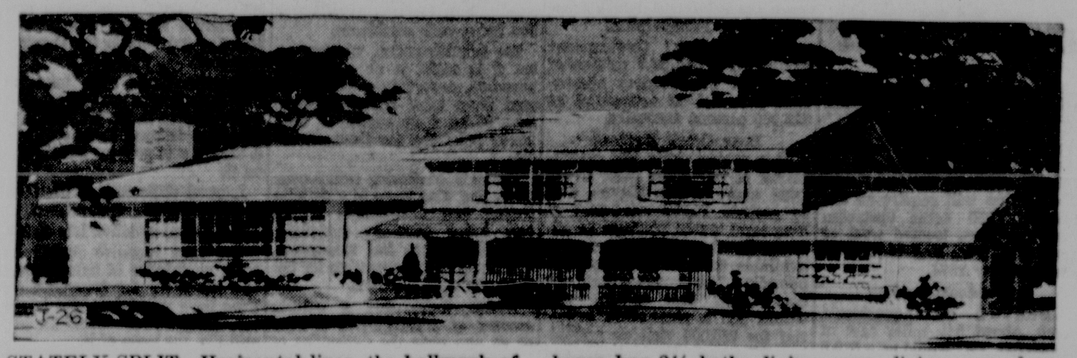

The clear separation of recreation, housekeeping and sleeping areas on separate levels, for example, affords privacy for each zone of activity to a degree not found in one-level design. And the easy six-step divisions provide convenience which is lacking in two-story construction.

The house has three bedrooms, two full baths, living room, dining room and kitchen on the upper two levels. On the foyer level is the recreation room and laundry, plus a lavatory and a multi-purpose room — den, guest room, fourth bedroom, music room, office, whatever your needs may be.

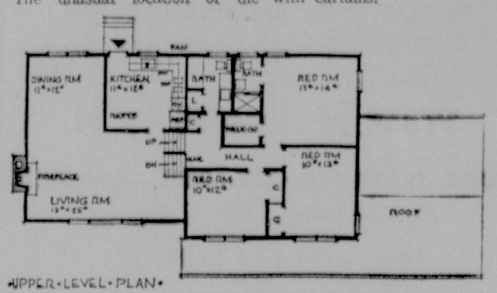

The total area of the living and sleeping levels is 1,306 square feet. The lower level has 632 square feet of living area excluding the basement and the 405-square-foot garage. Overall dimensions are 31'8" deep by 61' wide.

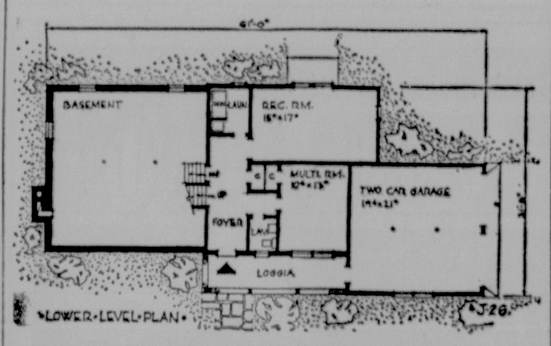

Additional Details

The unusual location of the garage in this house not only improves its looks but provides sheltered passage direct to the foyer. You don't enter the house through some room, as in most split levels. To take full advantage of the lengthening effect of the garage architect Vogel suggests its double window should be decorated with curtains.

STATELY SPLIT—Horizontal lines, the hallmark of suburbia, add up-to-the-minute styling to the colonial warmth of this three or four bedroom split level. The house has 2½ baths, living room, dining room, large kitchen and recreation room in over-all dimensions of 31' 8" deep by 61' wide.

Nearly all the traffic (and noise) of children will remain on this level, rain or shine, completely isolated from the rest of the house. The recreation room is here, with its own rear entry; there is a lavatory, and down a half flight of steps is the basement which also could serve as extra rainy-day play area.

The foyer is spacious enough but doesn't consume any more space than necessary, and has a nice sized coat closet. For extra coat room, say at a party, there is the multipurpose room with its closet.

The formal living room-dining room ell measures about 25 feet in each direction. The living room itself is 13'4" deep, large enough for creative furniture arrangements to take advantage of the handsome fire-place and large front window.

A feature which might escape notice but which is of more than passing importance is the elimination of through-traffic in the kitchen. A service entry is here, so there is no need for delivery men to traipse through the living area; but the normal rear entry is on the grade level through the recreation room. To complete the traffic - free arrangement, the breakfast table is well out of the way of the L-shaped work area.

Closet space is abundant in all three bedrooms, especially the master bedroom. The main bath has its own linen closet, and there is an additional small closet in the hallway for supplies or a soiled clothes hamper or what have you.

J-26 Statistics

A four - level split, including basement, with three to four bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room, dining room, kitchen, recreation room, foyer, separate laundry room and double garage.

Living and sleeping levels total 1,306 square feet. Lower level contains 632 square feet of living area excluding basement and 405-square foot garage. Dimensions are 31'8" deep by 61' wide.

Lower Height

A tall privacy fence needn't look formidable. A good trick for making it seem low and friendly is to arrange planter boxes along the fence line.

Slowed Down Driver Views Beauty Bypassed By Speed

By PAT WILLIAMS
Daily Record Reporter

"50 MILES AN HOUR,' the speed limit sign reads at the side of the highway, but the car just ahead is going just nicely over 30. The familiar warmth of irritation creeps along the back of the trailing driver's neck.

"Just what is going on," he muses, "I don't see anything to look at." The car ahead slows on a curve. "All right," the irate driver declares, "let's get the show on the road."

A reverse curve looms ahead and the brake lights flare on the lead car. The flushed face of the rear-car's driver gets a darker shade of livid purple.

"If you can't get that car out of second, park it and call a cab." He suddenly noticed the out-of-state license plates.

"Oh, tourists," that explains it to the hurried motorist. "This time of year a lot of people come to the Poconos."

"But, what's so good about a winding two-lane blackt. road that goes from here to there with very little sense of direction?" The driver is quite puzzled.

"I've been behind this guy for more than 10 miles and haven't had a chance to pass him . . . there's always a car in the other lane. Guess this isn't my day."

Talking to himself, the harrased motorist relaxed and thought over what he had just said.

"During the time it took me to follow that man 10 miles, all I saw was the car, the driver and no chance to pass. I wonder what he saw."

With this thought in mind, the motorist slowed down, dropped back from the lead car and began looking over the landscape that began to slip lazily by the car windows.

Views Countryside

"I always thought this road went south, but with the way it curves here, the direction is much closer to west.'

Another view caught his eye. "There's a bald spot on the mountain over there with the trees bent and gnarled. That must have been where the fire was last Spring."

The sunlight glinted on the car ahead. "Wonder if he saw that fish leap out of the water over there?'

Movement to the left focused attention on the nearby underbrush. Brakes grabbed and tires sang. "Whew, if hitting one skunk is bad, what would it be like to hit two "

The animals in question could be seen meandering leisurely across the highway by a glance in the rearview mirror.

Another woodland resident popped out of the shrubbery. The lead sedan slowed down to a snail's pace and its occupants returned the stare of a doe accompanied by a spotted fawn. The rear car did the same.

What Beauty

"What a beauty, wait 'til doe season, and walk that close," he suggested. The deer, not trusting the purring chrome trimmed animals before her bounded back into the woods with the fawn close behind.

By this time, both cars were averaging 25 miles an hour.

The narrow blacktop road stopped at the concrete highway, pinned in place by a bright red "Stop" sign.

The two cars chose different directions and sped off.

"I wonder if he learned as much on this trip as I did?" The driver drove over a hill, well under the stated speed limit. "I've lived here all my life and take this whole panorama for granted,' he said, "I never really saw any of this until I saw someone else doing it."

The car picked up speed on the downward slope. "All I lost for that little excursion was about six minutes. I gained my temper back and have a better view of things."

To Busy To Notice

"50 Miles An Hour," the road sign read, sentinal to motorists going to and from.

"The people who come here to visit have to save for a vacation and I live here all the time. All this is free." The driver nearly ran off the road into a pole. "'Save money,' I tell my wife, and we'll go away for a trip to sightsee." And the Poconos have been just lying around here, ignored and free, but I've been too busy to notice or care. I owe that guy an apology for all the things I thought about him. If I hadn't really been stuck behind him today, I'd still be missing the beauty of the Poconos."

The car continued down the highway toward the original destination leaving behind the scenery which has brought tourists into the area for more than 80 years. The car took with it an official member of the growing organization of "appreciative natives."

Gould Hid In Canadensis Area, Area Resident Says

MRS. GEORGE W. Crane yesterday reminded The Daily Record that Financier Jay Gould had a "hideout" in Canadensis during the time—she places it in the 1870s—that federal authorities were looking for him.

Her memory was stirred by an article in Wednesday's Daily Record concerning a bill issued by the firm of Pratt and Gould, Gouldsboro, of which Jay Gould was a partner.

Mr. Crane was a boy at the time and remembers that Gould played baseball on the site of what is now Pine Knob Inn, near the Palin or Palyn Homesite.

At that time, a tannery was flourishing nearby, using as raw material the bark from the hemlock trees in the area.

Mrs. Crane, a resident of East Stroudsburg RD, suggested this was the season Gould chose to "hang out" in the area.

"After all," she pointed out," there were few people there and a stranger in town drew comment."

Her husband, often spoke to her of the group of boys he watched playing baseball with other youths from the Canadensis area.

Stroud Union Board Okays Six Teachers

EMPLOYMENT of six new elementary teachers was approved by the Stroud Union School Board at its meeting Wednesday night.

They are Mrs. Alice Brommer, Ramsey School fourth grade, $4,000 yearly; Mrs. Nancy Shoemaker, to be assigned, $4,000; Mrs. Judith Roeder, Hamilton School; $4,100; Miss Abbie Jane Frisbie, elementary music, $4,000; Robert Wolbert, Hamilton sixth grade, $4,966 and John Bubej, Clearview sixth grade, $5,166.

John K. Meixxell, was hired to teach sophomore English at $5,800 a year and Miss Lois Hill was hired to teach junior high school French at $4,000.

The resignation of Edward C. Doney as principal of Hamilton School was accepted and Woodrow W. Berger, a former teacher at Clearview School, was named to succeed him. Doney will remain in the district as a teacher.

The resignation of Mrs. Mabel G. Shook, Clearview, and Miss Gail Kepner, Hamilton kindergarten teacher, were accepted. George Metropoulos was assigned to direct the elementary physical education program. His successor as driver education instructor has not been named.

The appointment of Charles Arnold as chairman of the mathematics department, succeeding Miss Julia Seig, who retired, was approved.

School Physician

Dr. Joseph Viglione, Stroudsburg, was appointed school physician at $1,200 a year; Williams and Williams, Stroudsburg, were retained as school solicitors at $600 a year, and employment of Herbert B. Crane, Stroudsburg, as school auditor at $600 a year was approved.

An administration proposal to divide 35 first grade pupils at the Arlington Heights School into classes of 15 to 20 was opposed by John Baymer, a Stroudsburg director. No action was taken.

Roger A. Dunning, elementary supervisor, said the class was divided because an enrollment of 35 was considered too high for one class.

A decision on transferring some of the Arlington Heights first graders to Clearview was postponed.

Firemen Halt Picketing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Firemen halted their picketing of City Hall Thursday to join in the search for 10-year-old Mary Verdecchia of the city's East End.

Charles Lewis, treasurer of Firefighters Local 1, also said off-duty firemen would participate in the search for the girl missing since June 7.

Lewis said the interruption of the picket line was the first since it began last January. Firemen have been picketing City Hall in an attempt to get the city to arbitrate their wage demands.

Civil Defense workers also joined the search Wednesday night.

The girl who lived with her aunt, Mrs. Ruth Riley, was last seen when she left home to play. Her parents, who separated in 1957, have not been able to aid police in the search.

Tax Stamp Payers' Reminder

DURING July 1962, certain businesses must register and pay for occupational tax stamps for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, District Director Ellis R. Rogers of the Internal Revenue Service in Scranton advised yesterday.

This provision of Federal tax law applies to those who maintain for use or deal in or with:

Coin-operated amusement devices - Use Form 11-B.

Bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables - Use Form 11-B.

Adulterated and process or renovated butter - Use Form 11.

Filled cheese - Use Form 11.

Answers to questions regarding these taxes may be obtained from the Stroudsburg Internal Revenue office.

Reds Seize Seaweed Boats

TOKYO (AP)—Two more Japanese seaweed boats were seized by a Soviet patrol ship Thursday less than two miles off the eastern tip of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost main island, the Maritime Safety Board reported.

The seizures were the ninth and tenth made near the Soviet-held Kaigara Reef since the edible seaweed season opened May 20.

French Submarine

CHERBOURG, France (AP)—France soon will begin work on a missile-launching submarine designed for nuclear engines, says Adm. Claude Burin des Roziers, head of the navy shipyard here.

Adventists To Hold World Parley

THE 49th International Convention of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists will be held in San Francisco, California, July 26 to August 4.

Several Stroudsburg members will join more than 20,000 who will attend the ten-day parley, beginning Thursday, July 26.

Nearly 200 countries and island groups will be represented with more than 1,000 official delegates.

The convention is the most important of all meetings to Seventh-day Adventists, and its decisions constitute the highest voice of the church. Four years ago the session was held in Cleveland, Ohio.

Highlights of the parley will be the election of world officers for a four-year term, and the presentation of reports by international leaders of the church.

On Saturday, July 28, local members will join with the delegates in San Francisco in a world-wide "Day of Fasting and Prayer" to ask divine guidance in world problems.

To be held in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium, the conference will command attention around the world as pageants depicting the church's international work are presented by overseas delegates.

PATRICIA SANDS who plays Content Lowell in "The Marriage Go Round" at opening of Bushkill Playhouse, Tuesday, June 26.

Bushkill Playhouse Opens 7th Season Tuesday Night

THE Bushkill Playhouse on Route 209 — 12 miles north of Stroudsburg, towards Milford, will open its 7th summer stock season on Tuesday evening, June 26, Curtain at 8:30 p.m., with a performance of "The Marriage - Go - Round."

The comedy about the ordeals of monogamy, delighted New York audiences for 16 months from the fall of 1958 to the spring of 1960.

Walter Williams (Paul Delville) and Patricia Sands (Content Lowell) will have the roles in which Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert starred during the Broadway run, portraying a companionable and loving couple whose marriage of 25-years is exposed to a tough test when a siren turns up to tempt the husband to sire a eugenically perfect baby.

Cathie Ghem (Katrin Sveg) will be seen as a Swedish professor's glamourous daughter who administers this test, and Boyd Miller will appear as a romantically inclined younger professor in the college in upstate New York where the comedy's action is set.

Much of the success of "The Marriage-Go-Round" was derived during its Broadway run from the skillful maneuverings of the pursuing female to induce the professor to collaborate with her in her eugenic experiment.

"The Marriage-Go-Round" was written by Leslie Stevens, whose "The Champagne Complex", about a nice girl with a compulsion to do a strip tease whenever she tasted champagne, was a hit in 1954.

He is also the author of "Bullfight," which brought him first to prominence, the first off-Broadway play that was saluted by Ed Sullivan on his "Toast of the Town" television show.

The presentation at the Bushkill Playhouse is being directed by Clay Franklin and G. Ronald Knouse has designed the settings.

Cadillac

When he got the facts . . . he got the car!

And what are the facts about Cadillac that proved so persuasive?

Well, listen for yourself—and judge for yourself.

Fact Number One. A Cadillac can be unexpectedly modest in original cost. The lowest priced model, for instance, actually costs less than eleven models of other less renowned makes.

Fact Number Two. The price of a new Cadillac includes many important features that are extra on most other cars—including power steering, power braking and Hydra-Matic drive.

Fact Number Three. Cadillac cars are extraordinarily dependable—and remarkably frugal in their use of gasoline and maintenance requirements.

Fact Number Four. Cadillac dealers are especially anxious to welcome new owners to the Cadillac family at this time of the year—and they are in a position to make the step up unusually attractive.

Of course, that's only the frosting on the cake. For the basic temptation remains, as always, the greatness of the Cadillac car itself—a greatness that has this year reflected itself in every phase of performance, craftsmanship . . . and in every detail of beauty and elegance.

It's a combination that has this year proved irresistible to more motorists than ever before.

Why not visit your nearest Cadillac dealer soon and let yourself be tempted?

The Daily Investor

Planning Profits

By William A. Doyle

Q. As a means of having a steady income from the stock market, this seems to me to be a good plan. I would pick a certain stock and give my broker a standing order to buy 100 shares at a certain price, say, $56 a share and to sell at a certain price, say, $60 a share. Even after commissions and other charges, I could realize a nice profit without lifting a finger.

By watching stock prices, I have learned that many stocks rise and fall at least $4 a share a few times each month. So, my method seems to be a "natural." Isn't this a good idea?

A. Maybe. But don't get the notion that it's a new idea. It has been used for a long, long time. Sometimes it works. Sometimes it doesn't.

In the example you give, you would come out with a tidy profit. Let's assume your transactions were executed on the New York Stock Exchange. Your total buying costs (including commission) would be $5,644.60. Your net proceeds (after deducting commissions, state and Federal transfer taxes and SEC fee) would be $5,948.48.

That would leave you with a net profit at $303.88. We certainly can't sneer at that.

However, there's no guarantee that you could do this, even once, much less a few times each month.

When you put in an order to buy or sell at a fixed price, it is often very difficult to have your orders executed. All other orders, at the same price, placed before your order was placed must be executed before your turn comes up. (This has been explained in previous columns here.) You might very well be left out in the cold.

You're right when you say that the market prices of many stocks rise or fall at least $4 a few times each month. But you can't expect any stock to stay in the same "price range" (such as between $56 and $60 a share) forever.

So, you would probably have to change the price of your buy order and sell order after each "roundturn" transaction. Sooner or later, you would end up being a hot-shot, in-and-out trader. They usually end up being sorry. Long-term investors still come out ahead.

Q. I was very interested in the column in which you explained the procedure through which one person may transfer stock to another person's name, without going through the trouble of selling and buying and thus avoid paying brokerage commissions.

We had some stock transferred out of my husband's name to my name. There was no sale involved. It was simply a transfer of ownership. The broker who handled the details levied a "service fee." Should I have refused to pay that charge?

A. No, indeed. The broker was perfectly within his rights to charge you a service fee for handling the details for you. You could have done it yourself. Instead, you asked the broker to do it. That required some time and effort. The broker was entitled to a service fee.

As long as the broker didn't try to hit you with a full-scale commission, you have nothing to complain about. But I would like to point out that some brokers will handle things such as this, for free, for very good customers.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The American aluminum industry set a production record in May of 184,211 tons, a trade report said Thursday, and the industry's largest firm announced plans to expand its output.

For the first five months, output totaled 863,136 tons, compared with 753,866 a year earlier.

Meanwhile, Aluminum Co. of America said it will boost annual output by 25,000 tons July 23 by reactivating facilities at its Wenatchee, Wash., plant. It said it will restart three of the plant's four potlines or series of electrolytic melting units, to replenish inventories depleted by recent strong demand.

"LARGER THAN A BREADBOX . . ."—The shape of summer hats makes headlines in size and material. The wearer can nap without detection in this headliner.

Women's Headgear Gets Spectacular Listing

Getting a head start on summer includes hats. The lady in the picture has "stolen a march" from South of the Border with the wide brimmed patio-umbrella-sized hat to keep out the sun.

Under such a hat, even the fattest of rollers could be worn and no one would be the wiser. No one could be sure if there was a woman under a hat that large, so it would be a safe bet that the sun wouldn't attack last week's sunburn.

Basically, summer calls for a new hair-do although with styles getting shorter, the better term would be, "hair-don'ts" since you don't have to set it or pay attention to it at all.

The simple "brush cut" that takes to water with the ease of a bathing cap (and has the advantage over a bathing cap in that it doesn't get lost) can be styled with a flick of a wrist attached to a hand wielding a brush. Towelled just about dry and brushed into a wave, with bangs pulled into place and a touch of spray to set it leaves bathing top on the list of activities.

The popular bouffant styles dry in a hurry on the fat rollers although the wearer may be queried, "Just set your hair? When does it go off?"

Another comment on the setting may be the question, "How's the TV reception?" Either way, a bit of inconvenience is a small price to pay for a style that lasts even after it has been slept in.

Summer hats to top the hair-styles run from wisps of veiling to half a wicker basket with a touch of ribbon. Style calls for imagination, and the imagination can run riot with larger hats keyed to actually top off a simple cotton sheath.

Hats usually go to church, weddings and teas. There is a time coming up when the hat with the lady will be seen at the beach and pool-side with the same acceptance bathing caps have achieved. Which brings up that bathing cap angle.

Designed to go into the water, but losing the functional look of some years ago, fantasy finally got down to the insignificant bathing cap. New materials, and a headful of imagination has put bathing caps in the same category as dry-land hats. Anyway, a bathing cap doesn't become crushed if an eager child chooses to sit on it.

Beach hats have all sorts of uses, keeping out the sun; swatting flies (if you forgot the citronella); carrying a snack (if the handles on the picnic basket are broken), or hiding a pocket transistor radio. The lady with rings on her fingers and bells on her toes never had it so good.

But, top on the list as top on the wearer is the fact that a huge beach hat in addition to being a conversation piece (large ones could be put in the filibuster class) they give protection from the sun and if it should rain, sun hats have a way of shedding that too.

Foot Fashion For Barefoot Contessas

Although they're hidden from public view most of the time, are your feet ready for display in transparent plastic evening shoes, or the open toes and sandals of warm weather styles?

They can be, if you include them in your regular beauty schedule. Like your hands, they'll respond to frequent creamings, thorough washings and the use of a nail brush.

Most prominent on your foot is the big toe. If you can keep it clean and make sure the nail is well-shaped and polished, your entire foot will assume dignity and character. Of course, this doesn't mean the rest of your toenails should be neglected.

The best time to shape your toenails is immediately after your bath, or after soaking them in warm, soapy water. This softens the nails and enables you to cut them more easily.

When cutting your nails, shape them according to the base line of the nail. If it is rounded, gently round the end of the nail. If the base line is square, the ends should be square. Avoid rounding the toenail too much, since most foot specialists recommend a blunt toenail.

Don't cut cuticles, which are delicate and protect the nail base. Soften them by creaming, then push them back gently.

When the foot has dried and the nails have resumed their normal hardness, use a file to finish shaping them and remove any rough edges left during cutting.

You can improve the general appearance of your feet by massaging them with cream, kneading the areas behind the toes and under the arch. Pumice stone applied to the back of the heel smooths it and whitens it.

If you wish, you may apply polish to the toes, setting a good base coat of colorless polish and finishing up with one or two coats of your favorite nail color.

Tips Offered On Marketing In July

Though all the world be vacation bound in July, feeding the family can bring no time out for many a homemaker. Fortunately, it's the season when long awaited, attractive foods come to market, making the job considerably easier. In addition to these seasonally abundant items, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture, there'll also be a roster ful of other tempting and nutritious foods in abundance.

Top plentiful for July will be turkeys, an all-purpose summer favorite in recent years. Turkey prices are so economical, it pays to take advantage of the situation. The big birds go well in every kind of meal — from picnic to at home fare.

Milk and dairy products will continue at seasonally high levels of production in July and many Northeast markets will continue to feature a variety of items at attractive prices. Meals will be easier on the homemaker and better for the family with fuller use of these nutritious foods — whole and skim milk and milk drinks, cream, cottage and other cheeses, cultured sour cream, yogurt and buttermilk, ice cream and other dairy desserts. Put butter, nonfat dry milk and other dairy products to good use, too, for tastier, more nourishing meals.

In July, too, the markets will sport a full array of summer vegetables, fruits and melons, as produce from local gardens will be supplemented by seasonally high commercial production. 1962 promises to be a good year for cabbage, cantaloups, celery, sweet corn, cucumbers, honeydews, lettuce, tomatoes, strawberries, and watermelon. You'll find other vegetables also seasonally abundant — green beans, green onions, radishes, peppers, summer squash and others.

It's going to be a good year also for peaches — a bounteous peach crop is again in the offering, promising plentiful supplies at attractive prices. This delicious fruit is one of the leading summer favorites, unsurpassed in flavor, juicy and refreshing. It's a top choice for out-of-hand eating, as well as for summer salads, fruit combinations, desserts, garnishes, and for breakfast use.

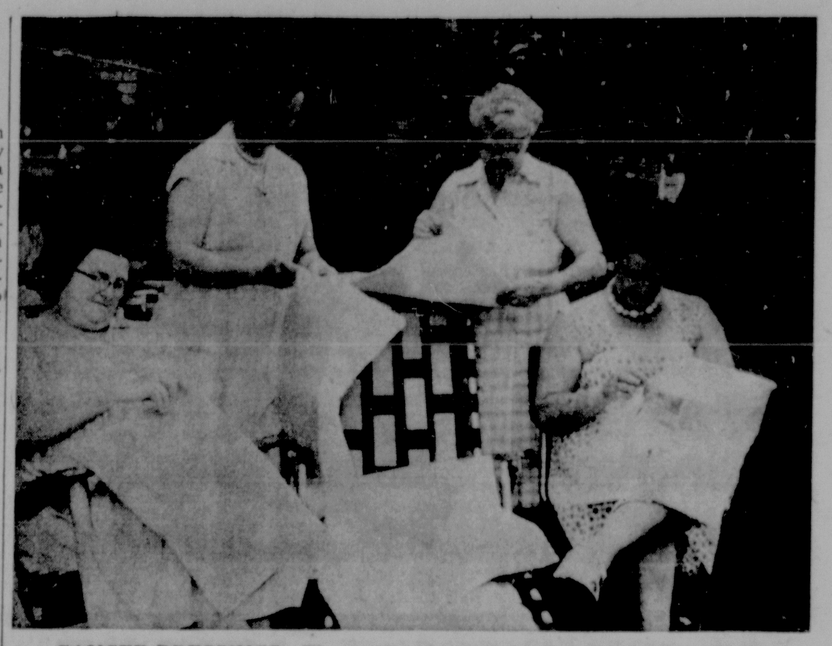

Make full use of frozen concentrated orange juice in providing for the family's vitamin C needs. Whether served at breakfast or with other meals, or in between-meal drinks, it makes an easy aid to good nutrition and a refreshing cooler. Supplies now are record large and prices exceptionally low.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

There's no doubt that I'd have accomplished much more for A. B. Wyckoff this morning had not the photograph taken at my recent class reunion arrived upon my desk about two hours ago. Not that I've spent two hours studying it . . . but I admit I have taken an occasional peek just to reassure myself that all of these fine looking, dignified citizens are honest-and-truly the same often-silly boys and flighty girls I graduated from SHS with thirty years ago. And who, by the way, is that one fellow in the back row? He must be a former buddy, or a former buddy's husband . . . but I can't recall ever having seen him before!

In the front row is Parke Kunkle, our class president, looking very boyish and gay, "sandwiched" between Mary Buck Taylor and his wife. And if Mary Taylor looks pleased, it may be because she's flanked by Parke and by Charlie Newhart, whom no one ever thought, thirty years ago, would become a serious professional man. Charlie's leading a dog's life these days as a distinguished veterinarian. Then there's Reba Fellencer Cartwright who not only BECAME a teacher, as did Catherine Wolverton and Janet Bender (now on the faculty of their old Alma Mater) but actually married our principal, John S. Cartwright, who recently resigned his important position with the Allentown school system to accept a professorship at Lehigh. John was telling me he hears our Wyckoff Shopper program regularly in Allentown, and I am very flattered . . . also a bit self conscious. Whenever I catch myself in a grammatical error these days, I can just imagine him shaking his head and saying, "Madalyn . . . you never learned that at Stroudsburg High."

On down the lines my eye travels, pairing Merlin Rutt with his wife . . . Kate Mullins with Jack . . . Marian Sayre Williams, another teacher, with her husband, Principal Trever Williams, of Bangor . . . Ray Walters with Almeda Smith Walters, whom we all knew as "Tootie" . . . Helen Adolphsen Dennis with her husband . . . "Nootie" Peckman with Morris . . . Zeula Felker Berlin with her lucky husband—ah, HE'S the one I couldn't identify . . . Lawrence DePue with his wife . . . boyish looking insurance broker Ben Coolbaugh with Hazel . . . and Clement Price and Red Stevens with their mates . . . and oh yes, that's Evelyn LaBar Owens at the center of the picture and "Hacky" Taylor, the florist, at the side. Quite a gang . . . but missing a few who straggled in a bit late. Incidentally, Larry Levy deserves a special salaam for having taken a truly excellent group picture in which we all look like happy, healthy, human beings.

Funny isn't it, how things go on without changing through the years? . . . things like old school ties that seem to fade away, yet flare back in blazing color the moment everyone gets together once again? And all the memories . . . involving "present company," those who couldn't make it, and those who are already part of eternity. One laughs, and says senseless, meaningless things, because underneath there is a current of emotion close to tears. And then other things are ever-changing . . . the physical appearance, the thinning hair . . . the graying locks . . . the slimming down or filling out. One thing about our class that is ever the same is the fact that "Nootie" and I are still tied for the dubious honor of being the gabbiest . . . a fact to which Parke attested when, during a quiet moment, he suddenly looked at me and said, "Stand up, Madge, and say something quick . . . be funny!"

Here at Wyckoff's we have a strong feeling for things that are unchanging . . . loyalty for instance; dependability, and devotion to purpose. They are the emotions that have guided our store for 87 years. But there are constant changes too, that come about through our continued will to improve ourselves in order to better serve our customers. As a store, we add "new wrinkles" as we age; and we manage somehow to keep apace with the best and the youngest in the name of progress. With businesses, as with people, this is a healthy sign.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Friday, June 22, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Quiet day in some respects? But it surely can be gainful if properly manipulated, exploited. That extra urge within, and consistent application WHERE needed. Implement program early.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Weighty problems perhaps. Seek competent advice if answers not readily available. Analyze issues thoroughly. Irritating spots can smooth out by patience, kindly consideration.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Day requires calm and amiable handling of current items, and ideas for future. Benefits through careful advancement. Cooperate happily with employer, employees. Keep up with honest progress.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Purpose and content of learning are vital, reverberating meanings, keep them present through your day of contact with people, books, scenery whatever. Make your stand but don't break another's.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — The small courtesies one receives today will be the ones that bolster and make one happiest later, will be remembered longest. Don't be fooled by pomp nor by the complainer either. Fine rays to support.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — The ordinary tasks and obligations favored under a safely restricting Mercury aspect, meaning you will have to have facts right and procedures commendable, and a patient, tolerant manner.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Here Venus' aspect strengthens but not without conflicting tendencies. You know the type day that requires a lot for a little, but shows its potency afterwards. Hold expenses down, protect securities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Starts mild; tempo gently increases, almost imperceptibly. If not "on the ball" you could be left behind. This is not your usual position but we all need occasional encouraging.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Cope with issues as they arrive, not anticipating problems but prepared. Have a comprehensive program, skillfully executed. Clip out nonessentials. The right way pays dividends.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Saturn in somewhat less favorable aspect than heretofore. Don't lose a flexible and tactful manner. Keep cool under pressure. Dovetail current thinking with impending duties.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Your biggest chore this whole week-end should be to MAINTAIN DIGNITY, PRINCIPLES, HARMONY. It may be a larger order than you think; or it may come easy. But do it you must.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A definite trend to watch. Guard against unthinking acceptances or agreements. To do service, yes, but not to jeopardize your interests, home affairs or health. Small pitfalls tempt.

YOU BORN TODAY are on the Cusp, or the change of the Sign, Gemini to Cancer. While officially Cancer, you have waning tendencies from Gemini. The two combined make for variety, imagination, usefulness, sensitivity, productivity. You like children can be wonderful to the elderly; may squabble with loved ones and partners, though wish you had not later. Education, discipline emphasized this year, and respect for the highest good for the individual. Inspiration assists if directed thoughtfully. Develop your hobby or avocation, it can be very rewarding. Don't misuse good health fretting or in jealousy; loved ones' ways; be sensibly cautious but not withholding, to have a better vantage point. Birthdate of: John T. Dempsey, former U.S. Secretary of the Interior; Henry Rider Haggard, English novelist.

Mantle Will Be In Left, Is That Right?

MICKEY MANTLE, who will be in right field tonight when the Yanks meet Detroit in the opening of a 5-game series, may settle some of the problems the Yankee fans have been airing the past month.

First of all, the flashy centerfielder is supposed to zoom the Yanks to the lead. Mantle's absence from the line-up was one of the reasons given for their poorest showing in years.

But this is contradictory to a pre-season report given by a national sports magazine which stated that "if Kubek never returns, if Maris doesn't hit another homer and if Mantle doesn't play, the Yankees should take the pennant easily.

But the real move of Mantle to right is just the beginning of a plan by Houk, reports say. Houk is preparing for the return of Kubek from the Army. Then he is supposed to switch The Mick to left field, play Kubek in center and have Maris in right—for one of the best outfields in the majors. This is the plan—if it works—time will tell.

Arnie On Way To Breaking Money Record

Pennsylvania's Arnold Palmer seems almost a sure shot to break his all-time money winning record he set at $75,262 in 1960. . . . Taking in his latest winnings at the Oakmont Open last week, Arnie this year has reached a kitty of $68,331 with six months still remaining. . . . Palmer corralled about half of the total in two of the six tournaments he has won. . . . He collected $20,000 in Masters and $11,000 in Tournament of Champions.

At one time in a 39-day period (in April and part of May), Palmer collected $43,900, which comes to the astonishing figure of a little more than $1,125.64 per day!

While 1961 was kind of an in-betwen year for Arnie, his official winnings amounted "only" to $61,091.49 and he won "only" five tour tournaments and the British Open.

Rain Never Hurt The Brew City Crew

A few years ago the hifaluting Milwaukee Braves rolled almost unrelentlessly with "Spahn, Sain and Pray for rain."

Things have changed, however, for the Brew City crew.

Today the cry is "Spahn, rain and let it rain."

Spahn and Johnny Sain were Milwaukee's one-two punch for the Braves. The two carried Milwaukee, something a whole line of pitchers can't do for many teams in the majors. In the young season thus far, Warren has won six but has also dropped eight games.

Brian Hill, Moravian star hurler for the past season, has continued his winning ways and has sparked West End to its highest position thus far in the Pocono Mountain League.

The West Enders were floundering during the early part of the season but have now won four straight. . . . The club owns the only shutouts in the league. . . . Over Reeders 13-0; Bowmanstown, 8-0 and on Sunday 5-0 over Stroudsburg.

West End is in second spot (tied with Stroudsburg), three games behind the league leading Saylorsburg nine who have won all of their nine outings.

Mantle In Make-Or-Break Test

Could Be Most Important Game Of Slugger's Career

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mickey Mantle, out of the New York Yankee regular lineup for five weeks due to an ailing left knee, will play right field against the Detroit Tigers Friday night in what could be the most important game of his career.

The game will be a make-or-break test for Mantle whose absence has sent the Yankees into a serious slump.

What Is It?

"I want to find out what this thing is," Mantle said Thursday before the game with Baltimore. "I want to see if I can play on it. I'm sick and tired of sitting around. I've wasted a month.

Mantle told Til Ferdenzi of the New York Journal American, "I want to find out about this knee so I can really go somewhere and take care of it. I want to see just what it will take when I have to do the things an outfielder has to do."

Although Mickey didn't say so in so many words, the inference appeared to be that Mantle would go to the hospital for further treatment or possible surgery if the game test is negative.

Mickey Mantle
. . . Decides Tonight

Asked about reports that Mantle would go to the Mayo Clinic if the knee did not meet the test, Manager Ralph Houk said, "It's only natural if the man can't play on it that we will have to have it looked at.

"If Mantle can make it in Detroit, he'll be able to play right field in Yankee Stadium when we get home after that series. If he can't, well then it's anybody's guess what happens."

In order to make it easier for Mantle, Houk decided to play him in right field, letting Roger Maris remain at Mickey's old spot in center because there is less ground to cover.

Clutch Hits Lead Tigers To 6-3 Win

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, getting clutch hitting from Purnal Goldy and Rocky Colavito, cracked a tie with three runs in the seventh inning Thursday, and defeated the Washington Senators 6-3.

Goldy, who had tripled and scored the Tigers' second run on a balk in the sixth, drove in the tie-breaking run with a single through the middle after the first two batters walked in the seventh.

Colavito followed with a double down the right field foul line for two more runs.

Terry Fox, in relief of Jim Bunning, picked up his first victory with 2 1-3 innings of pitching.

The Senators led 3-1 entering the bottom of the sixth. They scored once in the third on Jimmy Piersall's sacrifice fly and added solo homers by Chuck Hinton and Harry Bright.

Doug Ford's 69 Leads In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — Doug Ford's 69, three below par, earned him the first round lead Thursday in the $35,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament despite a putting lapse on the last green.

Ford, disgusted because it took him three strokes to hole out from 30 feet on the 18th, nevertheless saw his score stand up against an assault by a flock of other veterans and pro newcomers.

The stocky New Yorker held only a one-stroke margin over half a dozen other starters in the 13th annual Eastern Open. Among those shooting 70 over Mount Pleasant's 6,802-yard course were Bobby Nichols, 26-year-old Kentuckian who is sixth on the current money list; Terry Dill, 23-year-old former Texas collegian in his fifth pro start, and veteran Julius Boros.

BALTIMORE (AP)—First-round leaders in the Eastern Open:

Doug Ford	33-36—69
Charles Sifford	34-36—70
Moon Mullins	32-38—70
Terry Dill	37-33—70

Pocono Bowling Wins 6-5 In Late Rally Over Half Moon

POCONO Bowling Center came up with three runs in the last of the seventh yesterday to beat Half Moon Tavern 6-5 in Monroe County Softball League.

Ron Keiper drove in the winning run with Joel Hahn on base with his second hit of the night. The winners put together four hits in the seventh to pull out the verdict.

Strunk's two-run homer tied the count at 3-all but Half Moon went on to score twice more to take a 5-3 edge.

Pocono Bowling had to overcome the deficit in the last of the seventh when they tallied three times.

Dick Posten and Ron Keiper collected two hits each for the winners.

3-Mile Run May Prove Interesting

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — World record holder Murray Halberg of New Zealand predicted Thursday "a most interesting race" when he faces Canada's 19-year-old Bruce Kidd and controversial Dyrol Burleson of Oregon.

The trio, plus Max Truex of Los Angeles, clash in the 3-mile run, which now has captured the fancy of observers here for the National AAU Track and Field Championship.

The meet gets under way Friday night and concludes Saturday night in Mt. San Antonio College's Memorial Stadium. Excellent weather was forecast.

The New Zealander, who took a bad pasting from Kidd and Truex in a meet at Compton, Calif., June 1, made it clear he will be out to win. He indicated he is not aiming at his world mark of 13 minutes 10.0 seconds which he set a year ago in Sweden.

Halberg admitted he ran for a fast time at Compton and "I must confess I underestimated Kidd. This won't happen Saturday night."

Late Baseball

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox scored four runs in the first inning and then rode behind a superb relief job by Eddie Fisher to a 6-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins Thursday night.

Fisher took over in the second inning and allowed only two hits in 7 2-3 innings, also contributing an eighth inning double which scored the sixth White Sox run.

Chicago's second successive victory over the Twins gave Fisher his third verdict against three losses.

Four Chicago hits, including a two-run double by Al Smith, shook Twin starter Jack Kralick in the four-run White Sox first. The attack also included a leadoff double by Luis Aparicio, a walk, and Mike Hershberger's single.

DENVER (AP) — William Milner, 54, who has been appointed racing secretary at Centennial Track for the 1962 season, began as an exercise boy at Havana 40 years ago.

Eddie Arcaro rode in 21 Kentucky Derbys before he retired this spring.

Kentucky is the only team in history to win four NCAA basketball titles.

Michigan State has taken 11 NCAA team titles since it joined the group.

Aristides won the first Kentucky Derby, run May 17, 1875.

triumph, Dave McClelland was charged with the loss although he only gave up four bingles, one of them a double by K. C.'s Muller.

Crowe scored two runs in the top of the sixth to snap a 1-1 ballgame. The game was called before the next inning due to darkness.

Glenn Bisbing, holding the Exchange crew to three safeties, recorded the win. Bob Baird was the loser after relinquishing the two runs on two hits in one inning he pitched.

W. Bisbing and Sills paced the winners with 2-for-3 at the plate. Miller had two hits in three trips for the Exchange Club.

Indians Lose, 3-1; Yanks Blank Birds

BALTIMORE (AP) — Veteran Whitey Ford returned to form Thursday and led the slumping New York Yankees out of the doldrums with a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The classy left-hander posted his first victory since May 9 and broke a four-game hex the Orioles had held against the Bombers.

Ford looked sharp as he throttled the ambitious Birds on two singles, a double and three walks.

Two of the walks came in the ninth inning, when Ford was relieved by Marshall Bridges with runners on first and third. Jackie Brandt flied out to end the threat.

The Yanks scored in the second on doubles by Hector Lopez and Cletis Boyer. Singles by Bobby Richardson and Lopez, sandwiching an infield out, accounted for the second run in the third.

Bill Skowron put the game out of reach in the sixth with his 10th home run of the season, a healthy blast over the right field barrier.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Earl Wilson and Dick Radatz held the Cleveland Indians to three hits in pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory Thursday.

A two-run homer by Carroll Hardy gave Boston all the runs it needed in gaining a split in the four-game series.

The victory went to Wilson (5-2), who gave up two hits in 5 2-3 innings. Pedro Ramos (4-4), the first of three Cleveland pitchers, was the loser.

Hardy's blast in the fourth inning hit the top of the fence and bounced over for his fifth home run of the season. Pete Runnels, who had singled to right center field, scored ahead of Hardy.

Boston added another run in the sixth inning on a walk to Runnels and singles by Jim Pagliaroni and Ed Bressoud.

The Indians scored in the sixth on Ty Cline's single, a walk, a wild pitch and an infield out. (Pickup linescore 9)

HERSHEY, Pa. — The 16th annual Pennsylvania State American Legion Golf tournament will be held this year at the Hershey Park Golf Club July 13th, 14th and 15th.

Defending champion Paul Garrison of Hershey, will be on hand to defend his title won last year at Beaver Falls, Pa. This was the first year for the tournament at medal play. There are prizes for the medalist, the champion and runner-up, as well as for each flight winner, and runner-up. There will also be prizes for several special events that have been scheduled for the tournament.

The State American Legion tournament is open to all amateurs in the state, who are Legion members.

Bob Grieves of Phoenix began playing golf last December. Since then he's scored two holes-in-one. They came on the same hole.

Eighteen Of Nation's Top Auto Pilots At Langhorne

EIGHTEEN of the top professional auto pilots in the Nation will go postward, at the Langhorne Speedway, this Sunday afternoon in the 25th running of the 100-mile National championship for Indianapolis cars and drivers. The USAC sanctioned title event will start at 3:15 p.m. Qualifying trials, to determine the starters and positions, will be staged at 12:30 p.m.

A. J. Foyt, 1961 winner of the '500;' twice National champion and 1961 victor at Langhorne, will be on hand to defend his laurels in the Bowes Seal Fast Special. Parnelli Jones, sensational speedster who registered better than 150 MPH to snare the pole position at Indianapolis, will be piloting the Agajan'an Special. Jones was second to Foyt in the '61 'Horne '100.'

Jim Hurtubise, holder of the century record of 100.786 MPH, will be broadsliding the Barnett Brothers entry. Don Branson, holder of the one mile standard —U. S. and world title—will be at the wheel of the Hopkins Special. The qualifiers will be shooting for Branson's 113.996 MPH record. Don Davis, one of the four pilots to break the record at Indianapolis this season, will be in the Rose Trucking lines Special.

Also, the veteran campaigner Dick Rathman, Bobby Marshman, and Bill Cheesbourg, winner of the spring late model event.

Houston, Texas State In NCAA Golf

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The NCAA Golf Tournament turned into a Southwest shooting circus Thursday with Houston and North Texas State qualifying five men for Friday morning's quarter-finals in a day of double-round firing.

Led by Homero Blancas, the last surviving member of the 18-man All-America squad picked by the coaches this week, and medalist Kermit Zarley, Houston placed three men in the quarter-finals. North Texas State won two places with Southern California, Oregon and Louisville gaining one each.

Friday morning's quarter-final round sends Zarley against Jim Ewing of Southern Cal; Don Wilson against his North Texas State teammate, Bill Garrett, a 6-foot-6, 235-pounder; Blancas against Jim Ferriell of Louisville, and Tom Shaw of Oregon against Mark Hopkins of Houston.

The semifinals will follow in the afternoon with 36-hole championship match Saturday.

Babe Ruth Park With Arc Lights

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP)—De Sanno Field, described as the first Babe Ruth League Park in Pennsylvania to be equipped for night baseball, will be dedicated Friday night.

The 1962 state Babe Ruth League championship series will be played at the field July 25-28.

Joseph Mitchell, regional director of the league, said the field is one of the finest anywhere for youngsters' baseball.

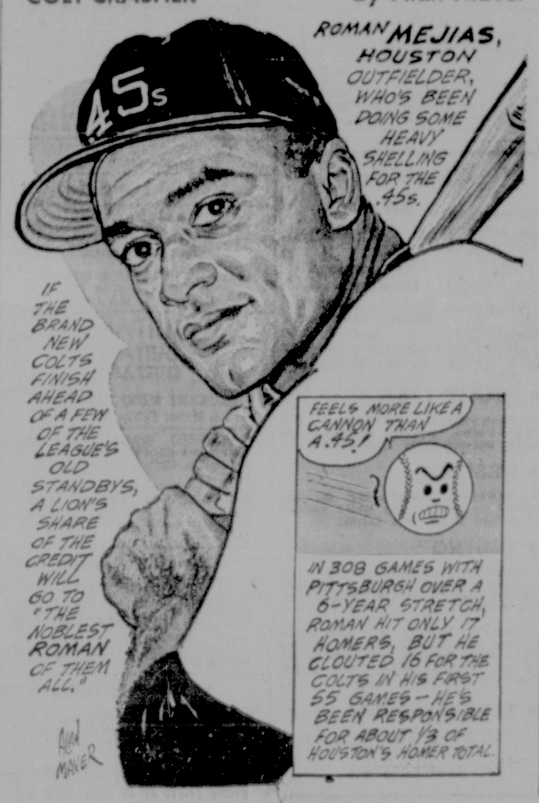

Flash Elorde Defends Title For 4th Time

MANILA (AP) — Flash Elorde, the 27-year-old world junior lightweight champion, will defend his title for the fourth time Saturday against Auburn Copeland of Los Angeles and the 30-year-old contender is being given an even chance of lifting the crown.

Copeland, in and out of retirement several times, has been doing all of his fighting in Australia and the Philippines in the last three years. Because Elorde's eyebrows are vulnerable to cuts against a slashing puncher like Copeland, the challenger has many backers.

Elorde, the Philippine 130-pounder who won the crown by beating Harold Gomes in Manila, March 16, 1960, defended successfully against Gomes in a rematch, Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif. and Sergio Caprari of Italy. In his last fight he lost the Oriental lightweight title to Japan's Teruo Kosaka in April.

Burwell Hanover Favorite

BOB CAMPER'S Burwell Hanover has drawn post three and is the early favorite for the feature $1,400 Class B-2 Pace today at Monticello Raceway.

Burwell Hanover, a five-year-old stallion by Nibble Hanover, finished second in his only start at Monticello, Malcom Hart won the race by a length and three quarters in 2:06.

Winbee, on the rail with Ned Galentine, and Dukegan, from No. 5 with Art Koch, loom as the prime threats. Winbee was nosed out in 2:05.4 in the last start in a thrilling dash won by Jet Demon. Winbee will be seek his first win at the current meeting.

Dukegan has a 2:05.1 win here in 11 starts this season. The win was against Class C-1 opposition.

The rest of the field will consist of Joe Dillion, Scotch Tape, Jamaica, Kaka Adios and Chockoyotte Gene.

Ronnybee, a beaten favorite in his last two races, gets another chance to make amends in the $1,000 associate feature for Class C-1 pacers in the fifth race. Ned Galentine will drive the three-year-old colt from the six slot.

Beacon, Sandy's Knight and Aunt Bess are other top contenders in the field of eight.

Two claiming paces will get the card under way.

Greek Money, Crimson Heading Field

STANTON, Del. (AP) — A field of seven 3-year-olds headed by Greek Money and Crimson Satan looms for Saturday's $35,000-added Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

Greek Money, winner of the Preakness but a disappointment in the Belmont Stakes, is slated to carry top weight of 126 pounds in this 1⅛-mile run on his home grounds. Jockey John L. Rotz will ride the colt, owned by Donald P. Ross, president of Delaware Park.

Buddy Raines, trainer of Greek Money, disclosed Thursday he also will enter Water Hole, a stablemate of Greek Money. Water Hole gets in at 114 pounds.

Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, second high weight at 122, is the pre-race favorite off his impressive performances in the Jersey Derby and the Belmont. Last year's juvenile champion finished first in the Jersey, but was disqualified for lugging in. He made a stout run in the Belmont only to be pulled off when he went to lugging again in the stretch and wound up third.

The Pocono Mts. Have Everything

$4 Million Expansion Program Set

AN over-all expansion program in the Poconos that will total $4 million is scheduled for this year.

An unusually busy winter in this summer-winter resort area has given great impetus to a broad capital improvement program. Expansion is either underway or being planned for a wide variety of resort facilities.

Underway at Mount Airy Lodge is a $750,000 project for improvements of both inside and outside of the lodge.

Pocono Manor has begun work on a new convention building with three meeting rooms to seat 300 people.

Many of the 250 resort spots are adding new restaurants, ice rinks, swimming pools and guest accommodations.

In the planning stage is the huge Pocono Mountain International Auto Raceway scheduled to be started this fall or next spring. When completed it will be the largest track of its kind east of Indianapolis or north of Daytona Beach, it will cost $2.5 millions.

Also in the planning is a building at the Pocono Mountain Airport in Mount Pocono. The port has been open for some months to a large number of private planes. It seeks to get commercial service within the next year.

The new Pocono Mountain Raceway is being projected from the office of Raceway Inc. in Stroudsburg. David Montgomery, Raceway Inc. spokesman, said that it will be located south of Blakeslee near Route 115 and the intersection with the Keystone Shortway. This will be eight miles from the Pocono Mountain interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Oval Track

The raceway will be a two and one-half mile trial oval. The 1,025 acre project will be laid out in a six-mile triangular course with inside cutoffs at one and a half, two and a half, and three and a half miles. The straight-away will be 4,400 feet.

Also included in the plans is a drag strip for motor boats. This is something new in the field of boat racing.

Montgomery said, "We are planning to schedule our big races before and after the regular tourist summer and in this way lengthen the season."

Mount Airy Lodge has just completed a new night club and a new indoor swimming pool. The new game room provides 5,000 square feet of space.

The lodge also plans a new indoor ice rink and a nine-hole golf course. An artificial snow machine is expected to be ready for next year.

Shows, Dancing

There will be shows and dancing nightly in the Lodge's new Empress Room for guests and outsiders.

Pocono Manor, in addition to its new convention hall, is building a new nine-hole golf course. These new facalities are designed for the constantly growing convention business.

A new motel called the Lake Naomi Motor Lodge has been built near Tannersville.

Split Rock Lodge is completing a new kitchen. Penn Hills has opened a new indoor all-year-round ice skating rink.

Camp Tamiment in the Poconos has added five all-weather tennis courts. Hawthorn Inn has added to its courts and shuffleboard area. New swimming pools have been built at Woodside, Spruce Mountain House and Farm-On-the-Hill.

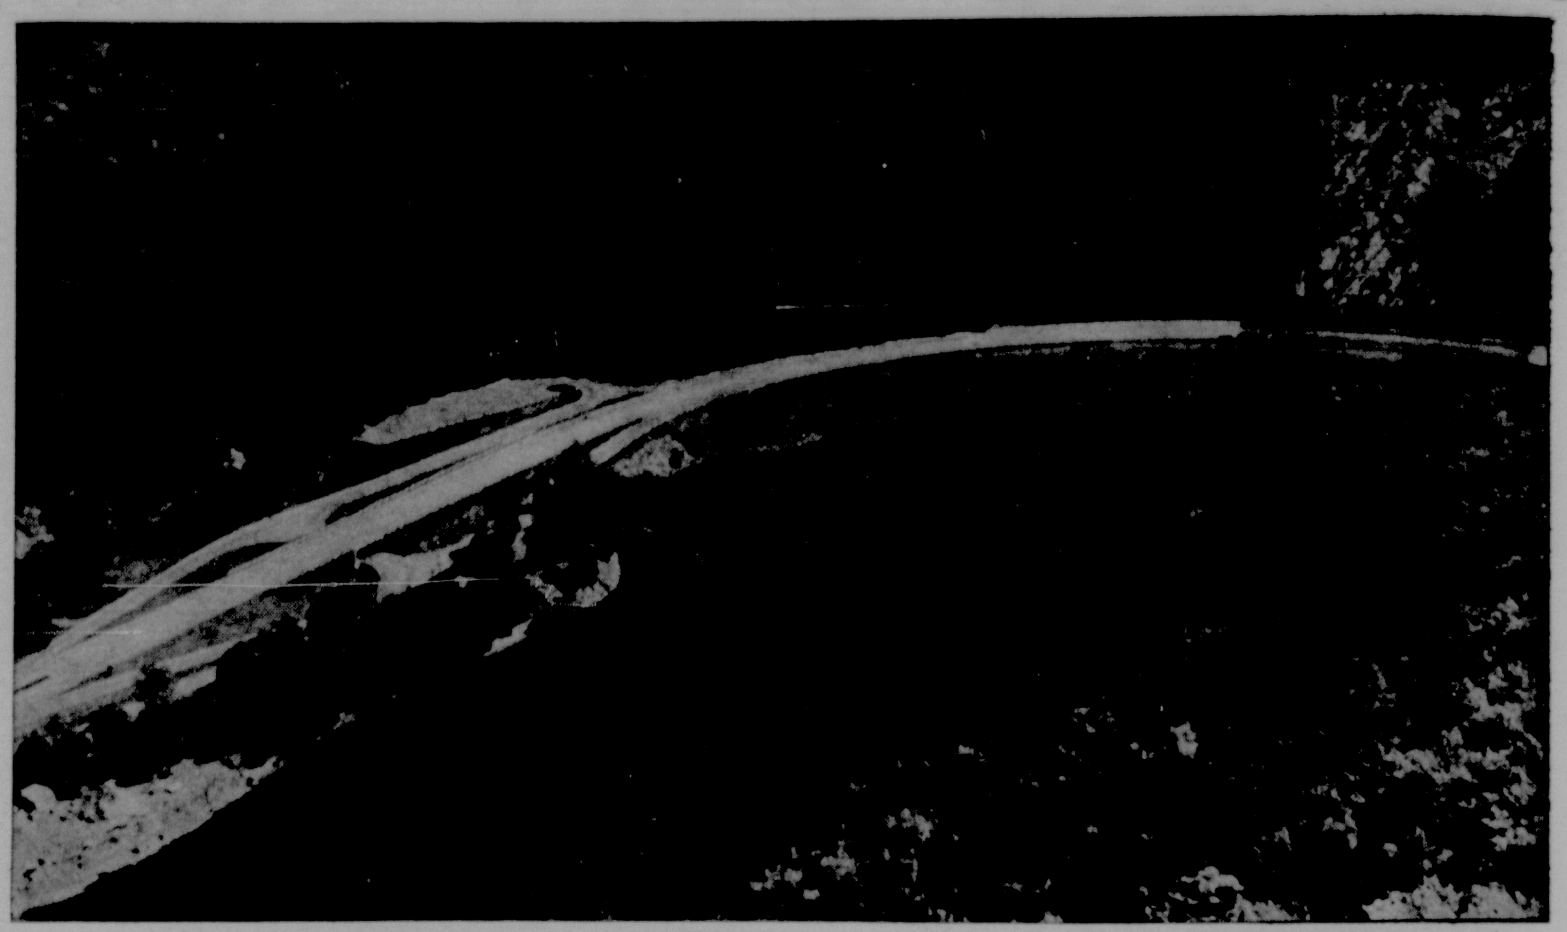

The honeymoon resorts have made a wide variety of improvements Luxury cabins have been constructed at Strickland's, Cove Haven, Birchwood Lodge and numerous other resorts.

They feature everything from antique fireplaces to sunken bathtubs, hi-fi music and picture windows.

High Point Inn is just one of the many resorts with new dining facilities. The Inn has opened its Yankee Doodle restaurant which adjoins the French cocktail lounge. High Point also is working on a children's day camp.

Dingman's Falls has a new snack bar and gift shop; Pocomont Lodge has added a new cocktail lounge and Pocahontas has built a new dining room, bar and recreation room.

Paradise Valley Lodge and Birchwood have their own unique improvements. They were the first to offer guests air tours of the Pocono Mountains. Paradise has recently purchased a second plane to prevent a delay in the tours.

DELAWARE WATER GAP—Ofen described as the eighth wonder of the world, the beautiful Delaware Water Gap is at the gateway to the Poconos. Sweeping, smooth, modern highways lead the vacationer and resident through some of the most beautiful creations of Nature.

Athletic Clinics In Area Draw Top Sports Names

ATHLETIC instructional clinics and camps are the growing industries in the Pocono Mountains and this year, as in the past, the months ahead will provide plenty of opportunity to witness the functions.

Top names in the country head the clinics and camps. Among the more noted who took part in the past were Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse; Dave Nelson of Delaware, Tom Nugent of Maryland for football clinics and Tom Gola, Gen Shue, and Harry Litwak in basketball.

In June, running from the 18th to 21st to be exact, the East Pennsylvania Coaches Clinic will be held for the 20th consecutive year at East Stroudsburg State College. It is believed to be the oldest football-basketball clinic in the country.

Under the direction of Marty Baldwin of East Stroudsburg, the clinic has drawn almost every big name in the football circles.

Dietzel Heads Staff

Paul Dietzel, U.S. Military Academy; Alex Bell, Villanova; Boyd Sponaugle, McCaskey High; Aldo (Buff) Donelli, Columbia Univ.; Jack Kraft, Villanova and Ted Dailey of Syracuse will highlight this year's program.

Basketball clinic-camps are also in the Poconos for boys from 8 to 18 years of age. They feature instruction by some of the top names in the court circuits. In the past years were Neil Johnston, Phila. Warrior coach and Jack Ramsay, of St. Joseph's College.

One camp is located at Camp Sun Mountain, only about ¾ of a mile north of famous Shawnee Inn. The camp is providing something new this year. It will open pre-session for day campers from the area. This session runs from Sunday, June 10, to Saturday afternoon, June 16.

Heddy's Has Hawaiian Atmosphere

THE most-talked about new addition to the Pocono Mountains is a friendly, completely modern establishment called Heddy's Restaurant.

With a flair for the Hawaiian atmosphere, the spot boasts of its Bamboo Room, Hawaiian decor and furnishings.

Heddy's tops the where-to-go-and-what-to-do list.

Those who have seen it are unanimous in praise of its beauty and the quality of its food. Those who haven't listen enviously to the descriptions of the decor.

Seats 300

Located on Route 209, about seven miles east of East Stroudsburg, the newly built restaurant seats about 300 persons. And it can serve them in prompt fashion — thanks to the cafeteria-like arrangement in the kitchen to speed pickup of orders by the waitresses.

Two waterfalls dominate the room. There is a sunken dance floor and two orchestras can provide nightly entertainment. The entire building is equipped with a high fidelity sound system.

Polynesion drinks, featuring pineapple and other tropical fruits, are among the specialties of the house.

A truly unique establishment in the Pocono Mountains, that is Heddy's Restaurant. Or just say Heddy's, almost everyone knows.

BITUMINOUS CONCRETE

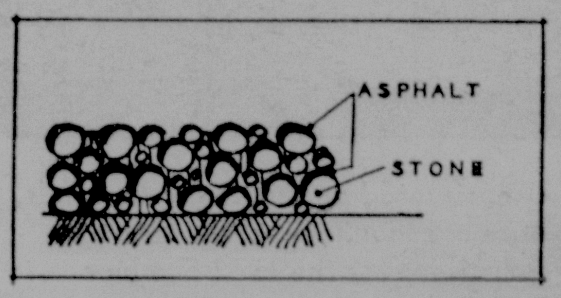

Old Fashioned Tar and Chips

Down the road goes a truck distributing stone. When the truck hits a bump, out come a few extra inches of sone. It really doesn't matter until wear and tear sets in. Then it shows up as a costly "patch job."

Next a spray of asphalt on the stone. The driver goes too slow, there's too much asphalt when traffic starts again you'll have bleeding. The driver goes too fast, and you have too little asphalt, and a dry spot. It'll show shortly as a "chuck hole."

The finished job—asphalt on top of stone. Haphazard mixing, poor binding. It'll do the job, if you've extra funds for costly repairs that are bound to come when the going gets tough.

1. LOWER TOTAL COST

Everything considered, experience has proven Bituminous Concrete to be the most economical paving material.

2. LONGER LASTING

User after User has found that properly applied, Bituminous Concrete surfacing gives longer wear than comparable materials.

3. FASTER APPLICAION

Brought to the site ready mixed, Bituminous concrete goes into place faster, the finished job is done sooner.

4. LESS MESS

You never have messy tars tracked onto sidewalks, lawns and into homes when Bituminous Concrete is the paving material used.

5. NO HIGH CROWNS

Even application across the road surface helps insure that there are no High Crowns when you use Bituminous Concrete.

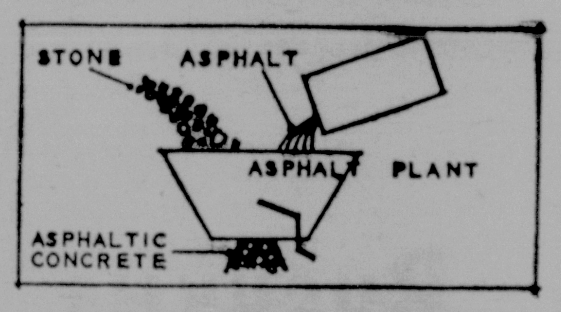

6. QUALITY CONTROLLED

Mixed to rigid specifications by machinery designed to do the job, every batch of Bituminous Concrete is quality controlled.

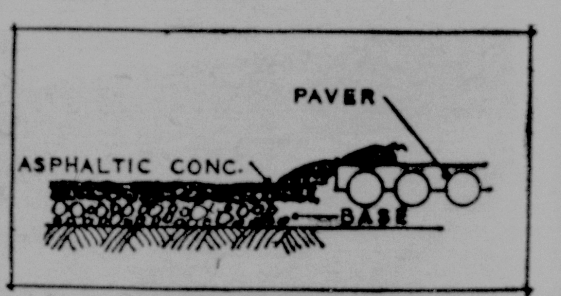

A WORD OF CAUTION . . .

Don't be confused or mislead by conflicting estimates on your job. Be sure that the estimates you get are for the same thing, depth of base, thickness of surfacing, and quality of materials. That's the only way to be satisfied with your finished job.

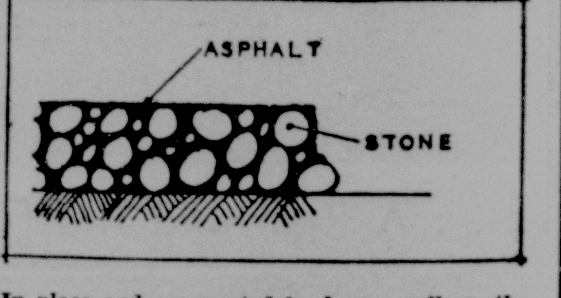

Plant Mix Bituminous Concrete

In go the stone and the asphalt, and rigid controls make certain, that after they have been properly mixed, that they become Bituminous Concrete. No guesswork, everything is done according to formula.

From the plant a fleet of trucks carry the Bituminous Concrete to the job site. Here mechanical spreaders, set to give the desired thickness, make certain that the material is applied according to specification.

In place and compacted by heavy rollers, the purchaser is certain that he has an even blend of materials. No bleeding, no dry spots, he's certain that his driveway, or road, or parking lot, or barnyard is ready to give trouble-free performance.

Modern Highways Span Area

MANY main highways lead rirectly to the Pocono area from major cities. Detailed road maps for the region are available at AAA offices, service stations and as an additional convenience the individual resort often furnishes a simplified map with concise directions leading the motorist directly to its location.

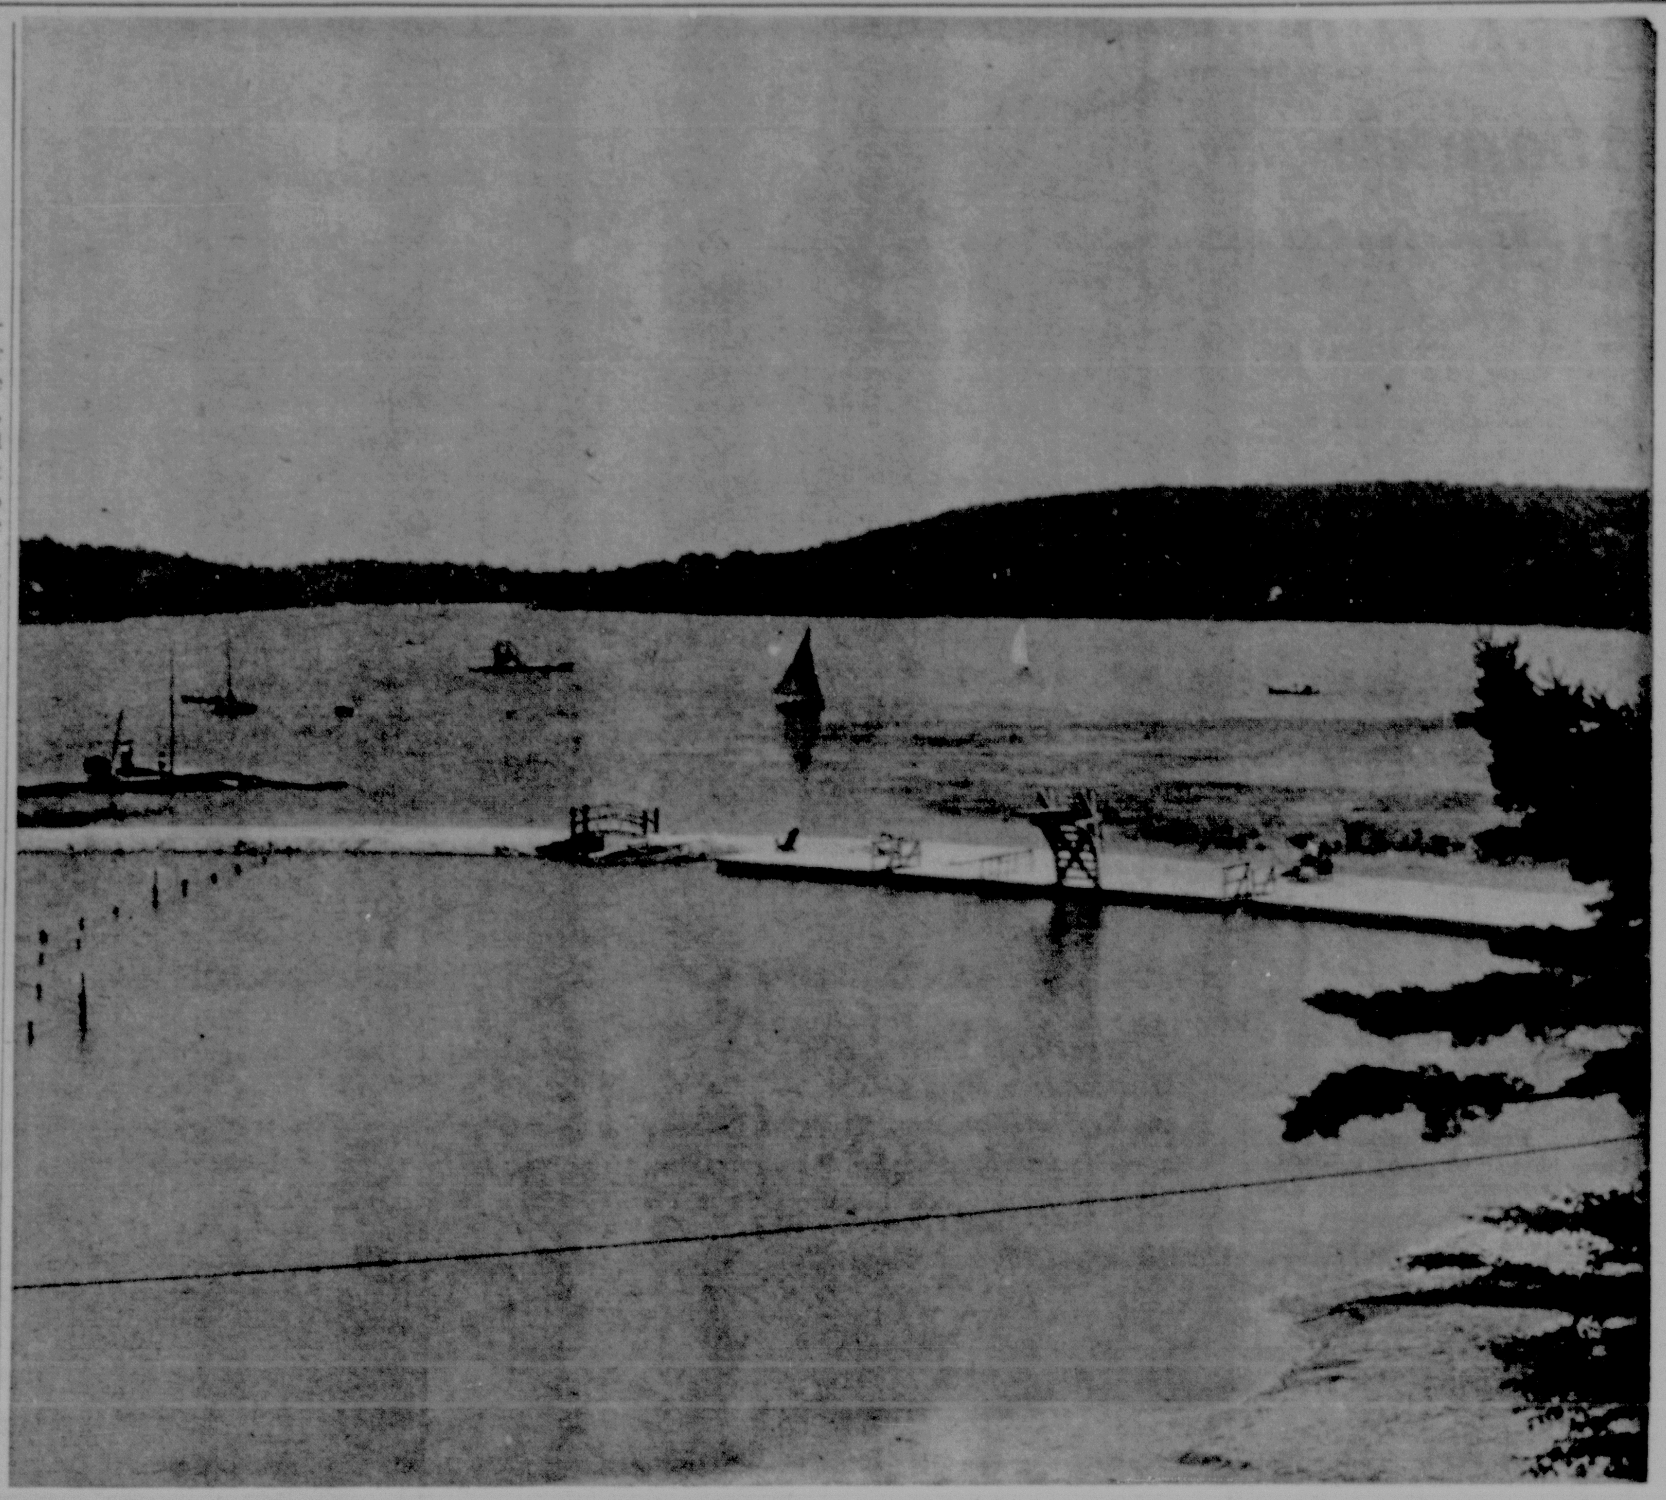

As an aid to the unfamiliar motorist a network of fine highways traverse the Pocono vacationland. U.S. 611 and the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike run north and south; U.S. 209 crosses the area east to west, as does Pa. 940. Even the most remote community is within easy proximity of these key routes. Both U.S. 611 and U.S. 209 cross in Stroudsburg, the Pocono's main shopping center, located in the southeastern corner of the vacation area.

At three of the gateways to the Poconos, Wind Gap and Delaware Water Gap, N.E. Extension of the Pa. Turnpike, information booths are operated during the summer months. These booths provide free travel and resort information and are authorized to make specific reservations if so requested by the tourist. These boths are designated as Official Information Booths and are the only ones operated by the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau. Look for the Vacation Bureau Emblem!

Chemical Plant Busiest Ever

THE NEW year will be a record-toppling one for the chemical process industries.

In its forecast for 1962, Chemical Week, McGraw-Hill publication, declares chemical process industries' dollar volume output will push beyond the $100 billion mark for the first time, hitting close to $106 millions.

SHIMMERING LIKE JEWELS in the sun, the many natural and man-made lakes in the Poconos offer every type of sport for the water enthusiast. Swimming in the cool, relaxing waters is the order of the day, while sailing or boating over the placid waters can be alternates for those who prefer this type of relaxation. Still others can find enjoyment by just sitting in a comfortable chair on the shore and watching the wealth of fun and activities.

Buck Hill Abounds In Beauty

THE Inn at Buck Hill Falls has grown from an inn of 18 rooms and a modest frame building in the middle of the wild mountain country to 300 rooms and a large stone building.

It has also grown to a 6,000-acre reservation, 300 acres of which have been developed into the resort area. The balance is forest lands and watershed.

The reservation includes 14 miles of crushed stone and asphalt roads, 20 miles of bridle paths, extensive foot paths and ski trails, a 27-hole golf course, two putting greens, eight tennis courts, two regulation-size lawn bowling greens, olympic-size swimming pool, five miles of trout streams and a glen of virgin timber through which flows the Buck Hill Creek.

The inn also owns a complete water system with reservoir and mains under the frost line capable of delivering 1,000,000 gallons daily.

The beginning of Buck Hill Falls goes back to the late 19th Century when Samuel Griscom, impressed by the natural beauty of the falls of Buck Hill Creek, purchased extensive ground in the vicinity, including the falls.

Urges Friends

Later he was obligated to sell his various properties and the area near the inn was the last to go.

In late 1898, Griscom urged a party of Friends, or Quakers, to visit the estate. In the fall of 1900, impressed by the beauty of the area and its suitability for a summer settlement, they acquired the land, organized a company under Pennsylvania law with a capital of $20,000.

After laying out roads, construction of the inn was started on March 16, 1901, and the building was occupied by the first guests on June 22 of that year.

The following year, it was enlarged to 40 bedrooms accommodating 60 persons and a dining room for 120 guests, some of whom owned cottages near the inn.

Between 1914 and 1915, the kitchen was rebuilt into a fireproof four story structure, including additional bedrooms. Work on the fireproof central section of the inn began in late 1923 and was completed by 1925.

This gave Buck Hill a total of 214 bedrooms, 97 with private bathrooms and 95 with running water. In 1930, the frame east wing was demolished and erection began on the present steel concrete section with an auditorium seating nearly 1,000 and 95 extra bedrooms making the total 300 with accommodation for about 500 guests.

The inn also serves as a community center for 196 cottages of which 187 are privately owned by stockholders of the company. The reservation's population at peak is 2,500 including cottagers, their children and employes and the inn's guests and employes.

A SPOTTED FAWN relaxing in a woodland glade is a common sight in the Poconos, which abound in the beauty of Nature. Hunting and fishing abound in a veritable Paradise for the sportsman. The natural variety of Nature's blessings in the area brings to mind the opening lines of Thanatopsis: "For him, who in the love of nature, holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language. For his gayer hours, she has a voice of gladness and a smile . . ."

Tocks National Recreation Area

Focal Point: Tocks Island, Where Dam Will Impound Waters

A NATIONAL recreation area for the Pocono Mountains, containing 10 individual sites offering visitors everything from water sports to camping, is moving nearer reality with each year.

Army engineers several years ago proposed the erection of Tocks Island Dam on the Delaware River six miles upstream from Delaware Water Gap.

U. S. Rep. Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat, has been expediting progress of the proposal in Congress and this year was honored by the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River Basin for his efforts in behalf of the project.

It is expected that the project will be a reality within the next 10 years. It will cost $177,380,000 of which $66,183,000 will go for development of the recreation area.

The reservoir formed by the 160-foot high dam will extend 37 miles up the river to Port Jervis, N. Y. It will cover an area of approximately 15,000 surface acres and will have 100 miles of shoreline.

It is estimated the national recreation area formed as a result could accommodate 6,750,000 visitors annually. Its strategic location is emphasized by the fact that about $48,824,000 for development of the ment of hydroelectric power and 30,000,000 people reside within 100 miles of the site.

The breakdown on the 10 sites approved by the National Park Service shows:

Area One — Extending approximately from one mile above the dam to a point seven miles downstream, including a portion of the Water Gap and six miles of the Delaware River, including several islands. Major purposes of the area are scenic enjoyment and foot and bridle trails.

Area Two — Pocono Recreation Area, extending from the dam site up to and including Bushkill Creek, a shoreline distance of eight miles. It is considered the major recreation site on the Pennsylvania side of the reservoir and has as major purposes water sports, picknicking and camping.

Area Three — Wallpack Bend Recarea on the New Jersey side. It extends approximately 11 miles upstream from a point two miles above the dam site and has as major purposes water sports, picknicking and camping.

est portion of the peninsula formed by the Flatbrook arm and the main body of the proposed reservoir. It contains 20,000 acres, suitable for 20 group sites and has as its major purposes camping and boating.

Area Five — Egypt Mills Recreation Area, four and one-half miles along the west shore of the reser - group sites and is in the vicinity bove Wallpack Bend. It contains 10 of eight lakes. Its major purposes are water sports, camping and pick-

Area Four — Flatbrook Group Camping Area, embraces the larg- nicking.

AREA Six — A comparatively small area of 750 acres including a scenically attractive gorge and a stretch of usable shoreline lending ing and hiking.

Area seven — Dingman Gorge Recreation Area, features a scenic Creek. It includes George Childs State Park and has as its major and tent and trailer grounds. purposes water sports, picknicking

Area Eight — Namanock Recreation Area, containing 5,000 acres. the upper limits of the proposed Located along the east shore near impoundment. Major purposes are voir to a point a short distance a- and trailer grounds. itself to boating, bathing, picknick-

Area Nine — Knob Recreation Ara, extending for seven miles long the west shore of teer -hersa voir below Milford and providing for picnics, boating, fishing, swimming and related water sports.

Area Ten — Tom Quick Boating Site, would provide access to the upper extremities of the proposed reservoir. It contains facilities for fishing, swimming, boating and picknicking.

Relaxation Is The Theme In The Poconos

SAILING ALONG with a brisk breeze under a summer sky is one of the many opportunities for fun, thrills and relaxation in The Poconos. The many beautiful lakes in the area afford the would-be sailor the opportunity of being captain of his ship as he skims with his party along the crystal clear surface of a mountain lake. There is the sky above; surrounding hills bespeak the glory of The Creator, and the soft swish of rushing water against the hull lulls one into the realm of the idyllic. It's fun to live and frolic in the beauty of Nature's prolific beauty.

Wyckoff's: A 'City Store' In The Country

A.B. WYCKOFF Department Store in Stroudsburg takes pride in being "the largest small town store in Pennsylvania".

To the many hundreds of vacationers who are served annually during the summer while making their visits to the beautiful Pocono Mountains and the resorts that are located in and around the foothills, and to the thousands who are established year-round customers, Wyckoff's is one of the most unusual businesses to be found anywhere.

One of Wyckoff's proudest achievements through the years has been obtaining the agency for Sears-Roebuck Co. Sears became a part of the Stroudsburg store in the early 1930's, taking over the entire basement as well as establishing the farm store. Many of its departments complement those on the upper floors. Others contain such items as furniture, hardware, paint, plumbing equipment, television, radio, and hi-fi apparatus not available elsewhere in the store.

Sears also maintains a well-staffed order desk which brings to customers in a matter of several days any one of the items of thousands of items on display in the fabulous Sears Roebuck catalogue.

One of the most widely renowned sections of the Wyckoff store is the International Gift Center on the main floor. Here one can find items prices upwards from a few cents that have been assembled from all parts of the globe.

Imports World

This department is, of course, not the only one that literally imports the world to Stroudsburg. The cosmetics department, which occupies the space that was once practically the entire store area, brings many of its fragrances from abroad: jams, toffees, chocolates, and spices, a taste of Scotland, England, France, Switzerland, the Far East and the Netherlands to the candy department, while the nearby jewelery department offers glitter and glamour from most of these countries as well as many others, remote and far away.

Much of the buying is done first hand in the actual places of manufacture, for not only does Wyckoff's maintain a busy travel bureau, but it frequently conducts excursions to Europe, Mexico, throughout the United States and Canada, and E.H. Wyckoff, head of the store family of 250 persons, is a traveling merchant who has personally established fine friendship around the world.

Those who have been served by the store remember it warmly as a friendly store staffed with friendly people. This is regarded by Wyckoff executives as one of the primary credos of the company.

Children through the years have become devoted to the old gray mare in the children's department on the second floor.

Many Facilities For Recreation

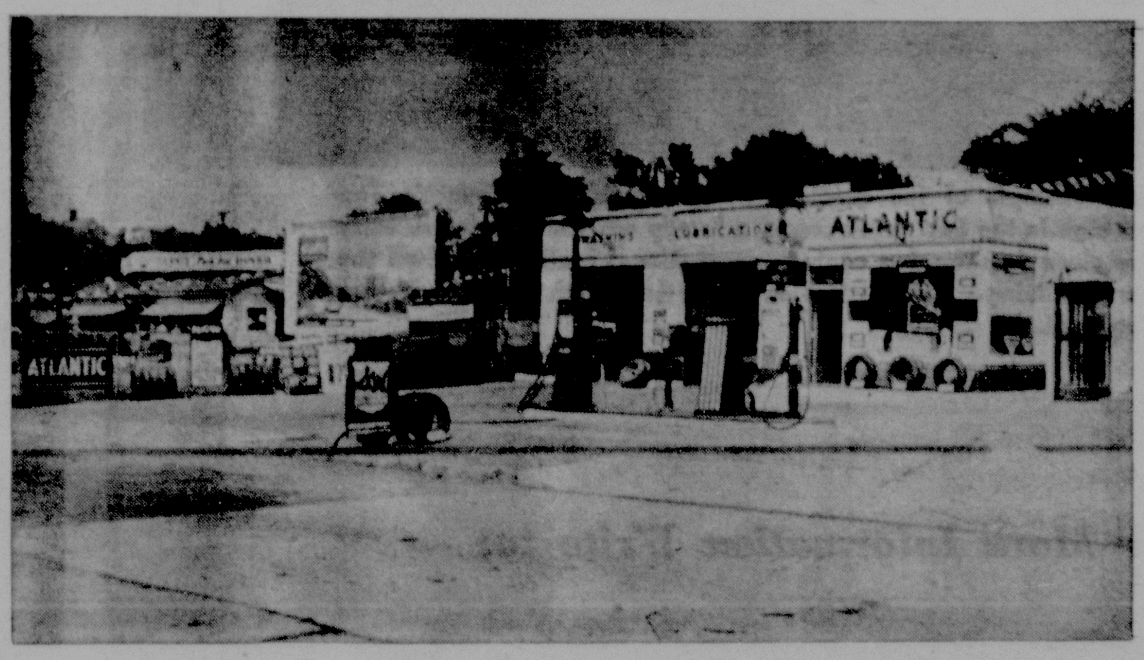

THE new look is again a common sight as the hotels, inns and cottage colonies in the Poconos look forward to a new and better season.

Tennis, shuffleboard, archery, lawn bowling, trap-shooting, badminton, volley ball, horse back riding and bicycling facilities are being added to provide outdoor recreation for guests and, in some cases, the general public.

Adding to the recreation facilities, are one of the finest bowling alleys in the state and golf courses, both public and private, to suit everyone from the duffer to the expert.

Hiking over scenic mountain trails is another popular pastime.

WILD TURKEYS, stocked by the Pennsylvania Game Commission in recent years, have begun to thrive in The Poconos. It is not unusual to see such a flock as shown above while riding along an area road. While the original American birds are a pleasant, if fleeting, sight, they also afford the hunter fair quarry in the fall when the season is open. Many a Pocono Mountains wild turkey has graced the festive board of a lucky hunter as he boasts of his prowess in the woodlands.

'The Gap' Is A Sight To Behold

ONE of the best known and most beautiful natural features in eastern North America will again bring thousands of visitors to the Poconos this summer.

Delaware Water Gap, a gorge cut by the Delaware River to a depth of 1,600 feet in the Blue Ridge, is commonly referred to as the eighth wonder of the world.

Much of historical and geological significance may be found there and it annually attracts people of all ages and tastes.

It is easily accessible by automobile, bus and railroad. The main highway through the community which takes its name from the Gap is U. S. 611, connecting Philadelphia and Scranton. From the south it crosses the Delaware into New Jersey at Portland, then returns to Pennsylvania at the town of Delaware Water Gap.

The toll on each bridge is 25 cents. They may be avoided by following Alternate 611 on the west side of the river between Portland and Delaware Water Gap.

The main route from New York City is U. S. 46. From northern New England and other points northeast of the gap, U. S. 209 may be followed to Marshalls Creek and then Rt. 402 to the gap.

U. S. 209 is one of the western approaches. Through its connection with the Northeastern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike at the Pocono Interchange, it provides a suitable route for those approaching from the southwest. U. S. 611 or U. S. 6 may also be used by motorists approaching from the west and northwest of the scenic wonder.

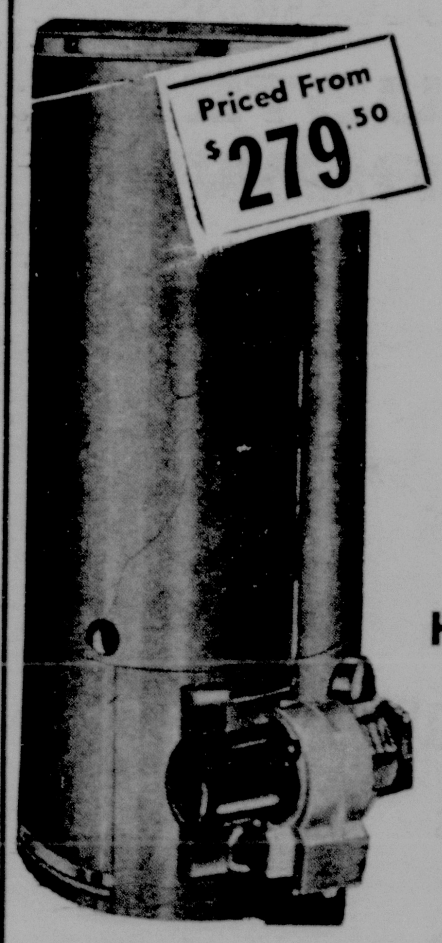

Bus service is available to Delaware Water Gap between New York and Scranton. Philadelphia buses stop at Stroudsburg, about three miles from the gap.

Trains from Hoboken, N. J., and Buffalo stop at East Stroudsburg, just north of Delaware Water Gap and taxi service is available from both train and bus stations.

Racing, Inc., Will Feature Spine-Tingling Enjoyment

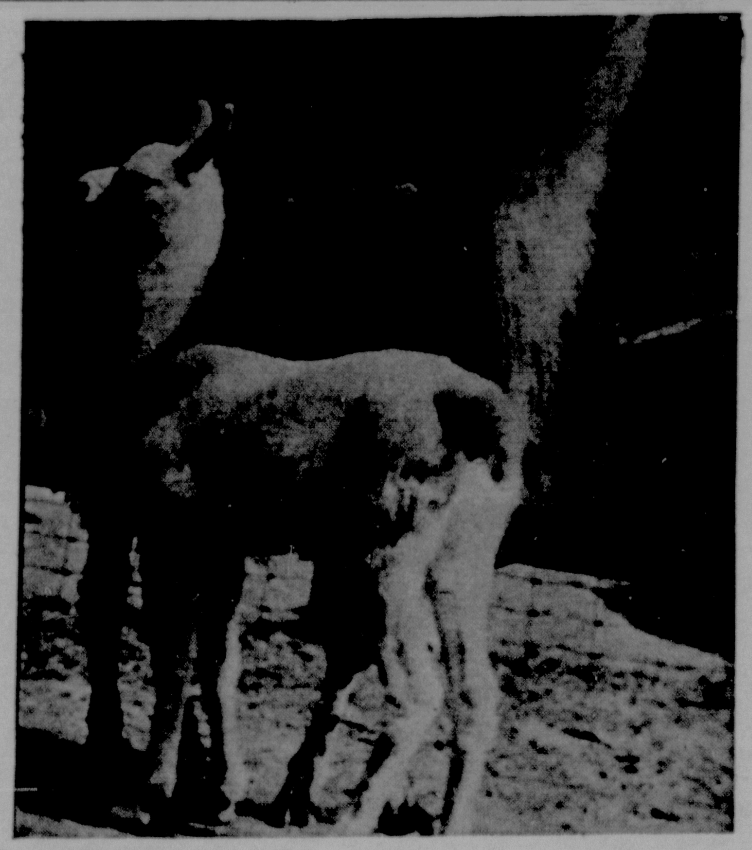

RACING Incorporated — the newest member of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau — will build and operate the Pocono Mountains million dollar recreation facility to be located near Blakeslee, Pa., at Long Pond, eight miles east of the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Planned to include courses for all types of automotive racing sports cars, stock cars, midgets, motorcycles, dragsters and championship cars - with grandstands for 110,000 spectators, the new racing center is expected to attract an additional 500,000 visitors to the Pocono resort area annually.

The raceway will be the largest track east of Indianapolis Speedway, and north of Florida's Daytona International Speedway. Present plans call for a restaurant, paved parking for 35,000 cars, an outdoor campsite, an elevated press tower, a covered grandstand and a special paddock building, as well as facilities for a qualified drivers school and mechanics who will offer schooling in engines.

According to William Altier, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, construction is expected to start this fall on the track, and upon completion the Raceway will be a major addition to the array of new recreational facilities now available for vacationers and honeymooners.

Information on Pocono area resorts offering water skiing, speed boating, horseback riding and other active sports may be obtained from the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, 1018 West Main Street, Stroudsburg.

There's A Place For Everyone In The Poconos

THERE'S something for everyone in the Poconos, whatever his taste may be or his pocketbook may dictate.

There are luxurious resort hotels where a week's pay won't pick up the entire check. There are camping spots in state parks where you can live for as little as $3 a day. And there are all shades in between.

There are accomodations for honeymooners — where you have to be recently-married to make a reservation. There are quiet boarding homes for the elderly. There are the boy-meets-girl type of resort.

The entertainment ranges from some of the best-known names on Broadway and the night club circuit to square dances featuring local combinations.

Food may also be found in abundant variety — from hot dogs and pizza to such epicurean delights as breast of turkey in champagne.

Want to go out for the evening? You name it and the Poconos have it.

Dinner Prices Range

Dinner prices range from a modest $2 to $3 in less pretentious places to swank, night club types where the tab for two, not counting drinks, can easily demolish a $20 bill.

Most of the Summer theaters are reasonably priced. If dancing is on the agenda, again, the prices will vary depending upon what you want and what you are willing to spend.

Perhaps the most fortunate wisitor to the Poconos is the person who likes to swim.

Most public beaches charge only a nominal fee for entry and use of clothes changing facilities and showers.

If you are a guest at a resort, the odds are about nine out of 10 that it has its own pool or an arrangement with one nearby so that guests may use it.

And a great number of the motels now have their own swimming pool.

Whatever you may have in mind, it's here. And, if you take the time to shop about a bit, it's probably available at a price you can afford to pay.

THE TREE Farm program, sponsored in 47 states by American over 3000 Tree Farms, an all time high, and 3 million acres to its rolls of certified timberlands.

At year's end there were over 22,000 Tree Farms in the conservation movement comprising 58 million acres.

SPORTS AFIELD—The Pocono Mountains area is not limited to summer fun and sun. The surrounding woodland is fabulous as a game area, and many a nimrod or angler has enjoyed the startling rise of a cock bird from cover, the flash of the elusive whitetail deer, or the sheer exhiliration of of a speckled native trout on the end of a fishpole.

Collectors' Items Abound In The Area

FOR many collectors and historical buffs, summer in the Poconos means planning antiqueing tours throughout the mountain resort areas.

In recent years the Poconos have become known for their abundance of local implements, equipment and furniture found in fields, old barns and early farms and homes.

According to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, Stroudsburg, many metropolitan women's groups now include Pocono antiqueing tours in their annual events programs, and the Bureau suggests the following Pocono antique shops as a nucleus for any browsing expedition:

The Chimes, Newfoundland - local material from early homes; The Green Circle, Lake Wallenpaupack-china and glass; The Griffin Shop, Swiftwater — period furniture, glass; Herb's His and Hers Shoppe, Stroudsburg — pairs of frames; Joan Marie Gifts, Mt. Pocono — English oils in original frames; and, Nealis Antiques, Scotrun — bric-a-brac, furniture, glass.

Poconos Are Foremost In Recreation

THE NEW look is again a common sight as the hotels, inns and cottage colonies in the Poconos look forward to a new and better season.

Tennis, shuffleboard, archery, lawn bowling, trap-shooting, badminton, volley ball, horse back riding and bicycling facilities are being added to provide outdoor recreation for guests and, in some cases, the general public.

Adding to the recreation facilities, public and private, to suit everyone from the duffer to the expert.

Hiking over scenic mountain trails is another popular pastime.

ESNB Has New Look For Customers

EAST STROUDSBURG National Bank last year completed a major interior and exterior redecorating project designed to imporve its appearance and efficiency.

Among the innovations was a parking lot which provides space for 20 customers and a drive-up window, which may also be used by pedestrians. The new lot, on property formerly occupied by the Kistler Store and Engelhardt Electrical Shop, has entrance and exit on Washington St.

Established In 1889

The bank was established in 188[illegible] at its present location with members of the first board of directors coming from all areas of the county and all walks of life. Diversity in occupation is still a characteristic of the board, although most of its members now live in Stroudsburg or East Stroudsburg.

Swinging Clarinet At 'Top Of Fox'

THE SWINGING clarinet of Tommy Cullen is the chief attraction at Top O' The Fox, the night club he owns and operates on Foxtown Hill, south of Stroudsburg.

Cullen, a veteran of Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians, has also toured with his own band and has worked in the Poconos, either as a musician or as a hotel keeper, for 30 years.

Formerly known as Frank McNamara's Gap View Inn, Cullen opened the Top O' The Fox in 1961 on (when else for an Irishman) St. Patrick's Day.

His announced intention was to provide the area with the best in food, entertainment and drinks.

To that end, he hired two competent mixologists — Tom Murphy and Bill Foley — and eventually lured back to the kitchen, Eugene LeBue, who had been the chef there for McNamara.

Cullen's redecoration of the building included transfer of the bar to a point where customers face what is probably one of the best scenic views in America — looking toward Delaware Water Gap.

Guests at Top O' The Fox at various times have included such celebrities as Jackie Gleason, Carmen Cavallero and Hugh (Lumpy) Brennan of Mr. Green Jeans television fame, who has a home in the Poconos.

Mount Airy Lodge Beams Hospitality

HOSPITALITY is the keynote for Mt. Airy Lodge, the year around Pocono Mountains resort at Mt. Pocono.

Whether the visitor to the Poconos is looking for a good time or simply rest or relaxation, he will find the modern comfort and luxury of accommodations in the main lodge, cabana cottages or luxurious penthouse bedrooms and suites all he could ask for.

The resort features all year entertainment and sports with more than 40 activities.

During the summer months, there are white glistening sand and cool, sparkling water for water sports. During the cooler days, there is the heated swimming pool and in winter there are other varied activities.

Recreational Program

The recerational program includes tennis, horseback riding, shuffleboard, archery, ping pong, basketball, handball, boating, swimming, water skiing and other sports.

Dinners are prepared by famous chefs and French pastry bakers and after dinner, entertainment for the formal and informal is presented in Club Suzanne.

Pococabana Is 'Bigger And Better'

EARLY RESERVATIONS are suggested by the management of Pococabana Lodge, Minisink Hills, now bigger and better than ever.

But despite the innovations, the same reliable staff is on hand to cater to the guest's every need or desire.

The program is varied and includes such sports as tennis, badminton, volley ball, hand ball, baseball, shuffleboard, riding and golf.

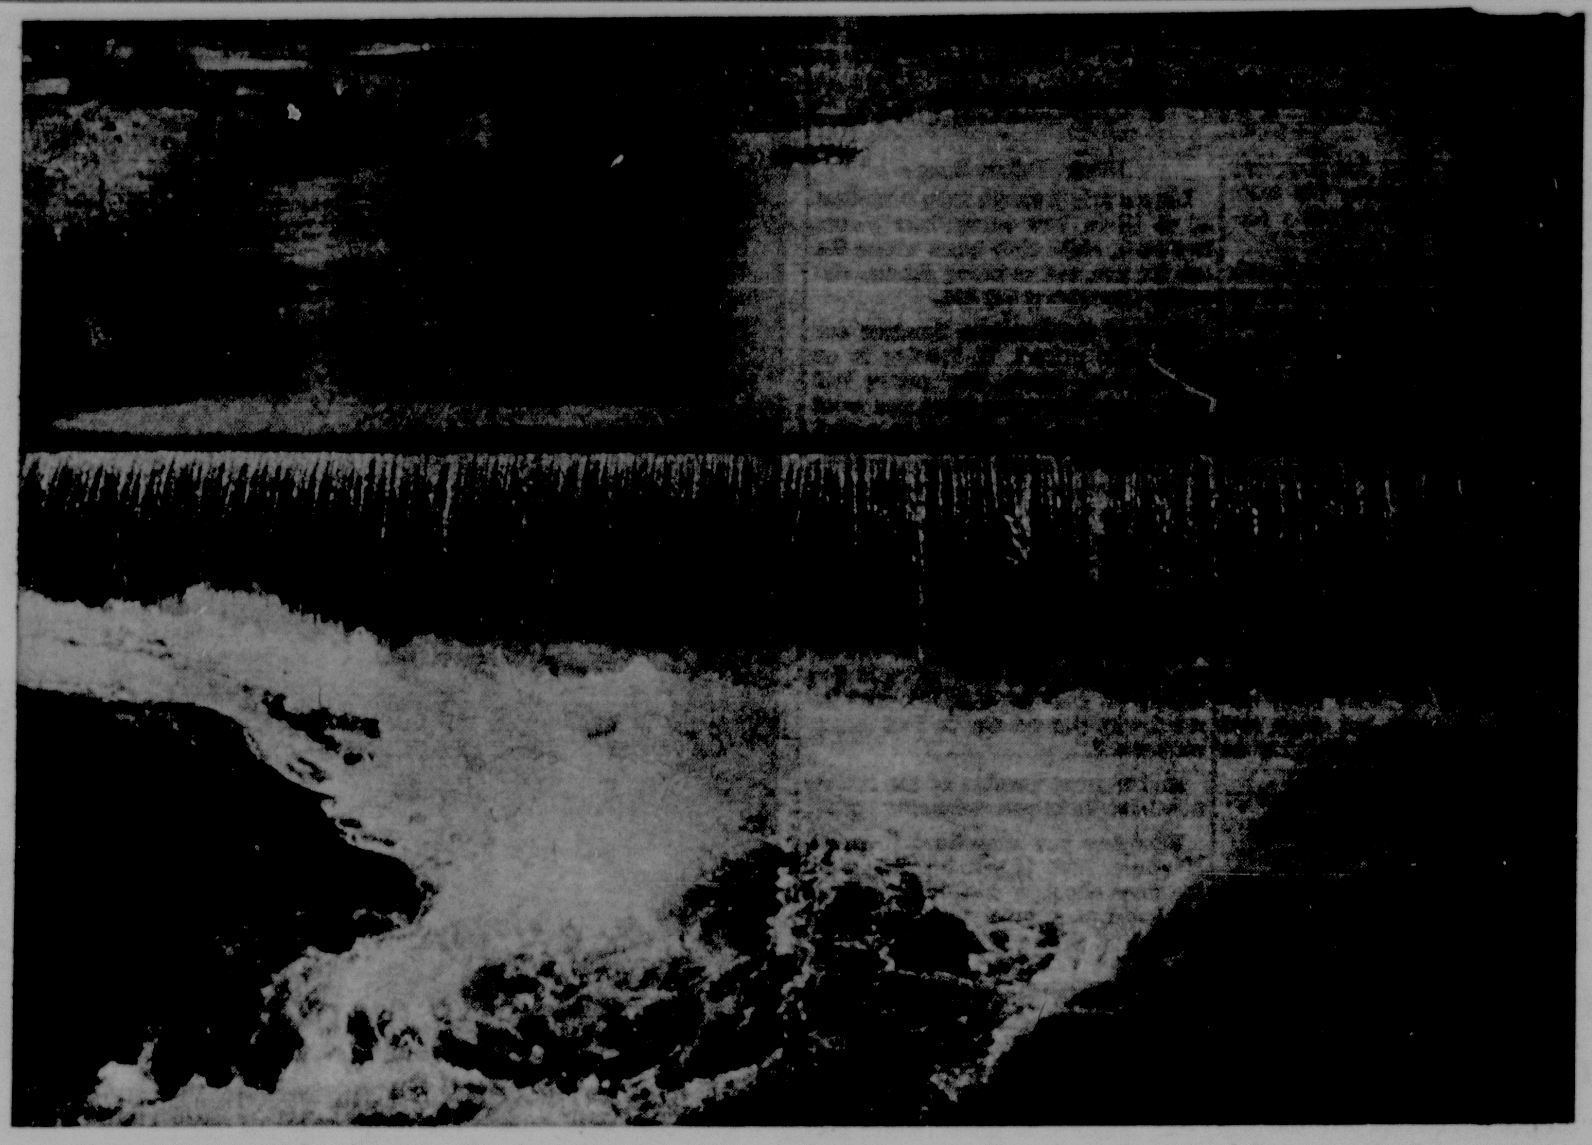

Dancing is one of the features of the resort. Informal dances and dancing lessons are held on the terraces. Regular dances are scheduled with an eight-piece band that is talented with sweet, smooth, swing and Latin American music.

Spot For Mood

Because of Pococabana's extensive grounds, you can always find a spot to fit your mood — terraces, sun decks, giant shade trees or sweeping lawns.

Service and programs at the resort are the result of creative experience developed by the same owner-managment during more than 20 years.

Musicals, shows, dramas, comedy and good old-time harmony are the theme of the evenings. Dining includes bountiful, delicious, home-cooked meals.

"MEN MAY COME and men may go, but I go on forever" is the constant reminder of a country brook as it falls gently over an old mill dam, as it teaches its lesson of constancy and leads one to evalute the everyday awareness of Time as world events hurtle by. It is, indeed, a "pause that refreshes."

'THE OLD CORRAL'—There's a bit of the old West in the East, as is depicted above by the horse and colt with their proud owners. Saddle horses for riding the trails of the beautiful Poconos are available at practically all of the resorts, or can be obtained from nearby stables.

Roman Luxury Featured At Pocono Resort

SIMPLY because it is different, hundreds of attractive ways makes Pocono Gardens Lodge at Cresco, Pa., one of the top resorts in the Poconos.

It is different and nicer in many ways! For one, it is for honeymooners only. For another it is complete. Everything from an Olympic swimming pool to a skating rink to a ballroom is on the grounds of this honeymoon estate-in-the-mountains.

If you've ever wanted to live like an ancient Roman, lolling in a sunken bath tub, and enjoying the plus luxuries of the living in Julius Caesar's time, have a look at the Pocono Gardens Lodge resort.

Roman Luxury

You'll revel in the wonders of true Roman luxury, the paneled living room, furnished in the elegant style of Italian Provincial as in the magnificient bedrooms and the lavish Roman bath authentic in design with a sunken oval bath, almost a pool, set in warm pink mosaic tile.

The bath is further enhanced by floor to ceiling tile, built in sun lamps over chaise lounges, mirrored twin vanities all in the glow of soft indirect lighting.

Ideal Climate

THE climate of the Poconos checked regularly for Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau by weather officials, is refreshing mountain air that will bring vigor, health and enjoyment to the vacationist.

Averaging 80 per cent clear weather during summer, nights are delightfully cool for sleeping and temperate sunny days are the rule.

Official United States weather reports show that the Poconos possess the driest air east of the Rockies and enjoy the coolest summer climate south of Maine.

Real Estate Activity In The Poconos

THE demand for real estate for summer or vacation uses in this area faces an increase with each succeeding year, various members of the Pocono Mountains Real Estate Board reported recently.

The term summer cottage is inappropriate in this day and age, board members say, as Monroe County finds itself as the hub of the radius of many large near-by cities with easy access from their area to here.

The many present roads, to which will be added newer highways under construction, will give the area a much larger potential population from which to draw future summer or permanent residents.

More and more summer property-owners, the board members say, are now using their cottages throughout the year, for fishing, hunting and winter sports. Many families are looking ahead to a long-range series of plans for vacations purely from an economic point of view.

Real estate, they have found, is a good hedge against inflation and at the same time the family can enjoy vacations and also acquire an equity in the property.

Good Sites

Many vacation-minded prospects look ahead to a place of future retirement when choosing a site.

Almost all prospects prefer to be located on a lake or stream, but there are still others who choose a secluded area. For the sportsman, there is a great attraction in being near the state-owned lands which are plentiful in our area.

Demands for such land come also from developers and various associations for camps and other recreational uses for their members.

In addition to having an ideal location, Monroe County also has its beauty spots and the climate is an attraction which brings back many a resort visitor.

Chestnut Grove Has Casual Wear

CHESTNUT Grove Lodge and Cottages at Swiftwater caters to honeymooners, designed to cost them little in cash but to leave them rich in memories. The setting is the unspoiled natural beauty of the Poconos but with sumptuous dining and gracious living as part of your stay.

The newest addition is individual honeymoon cottages, near enough to be convenient but a separate unit in itself with modern furniture, your own radio and television set and a real fireplace.

Full breakfast is served from 8:30 until 11 a.m. Since the emphasis is on informal life, casual sportswear such as slacks or shorts are acceptable in the dining room. However there is also a chance to dress up in the Chestunt Grove Honeymoon Ball at which formal attire is optional.

Social Directors

An experienced social director excels in group entertainment. Sunbathing, canoeing and rowing on the lake, tennis, archery, shuffleboard, basketball, volleyball, badminton, horseshoes and a complete softball diamond are available for daytime sports.

The new Turquoise Swimming Pool; the Chestnut Burr, a cozy recreation room are both gathering places to make new friends, and our suites in the Inn or private cottages with efficient but unobstrusive maid service, give you a chance to be alone when you want.

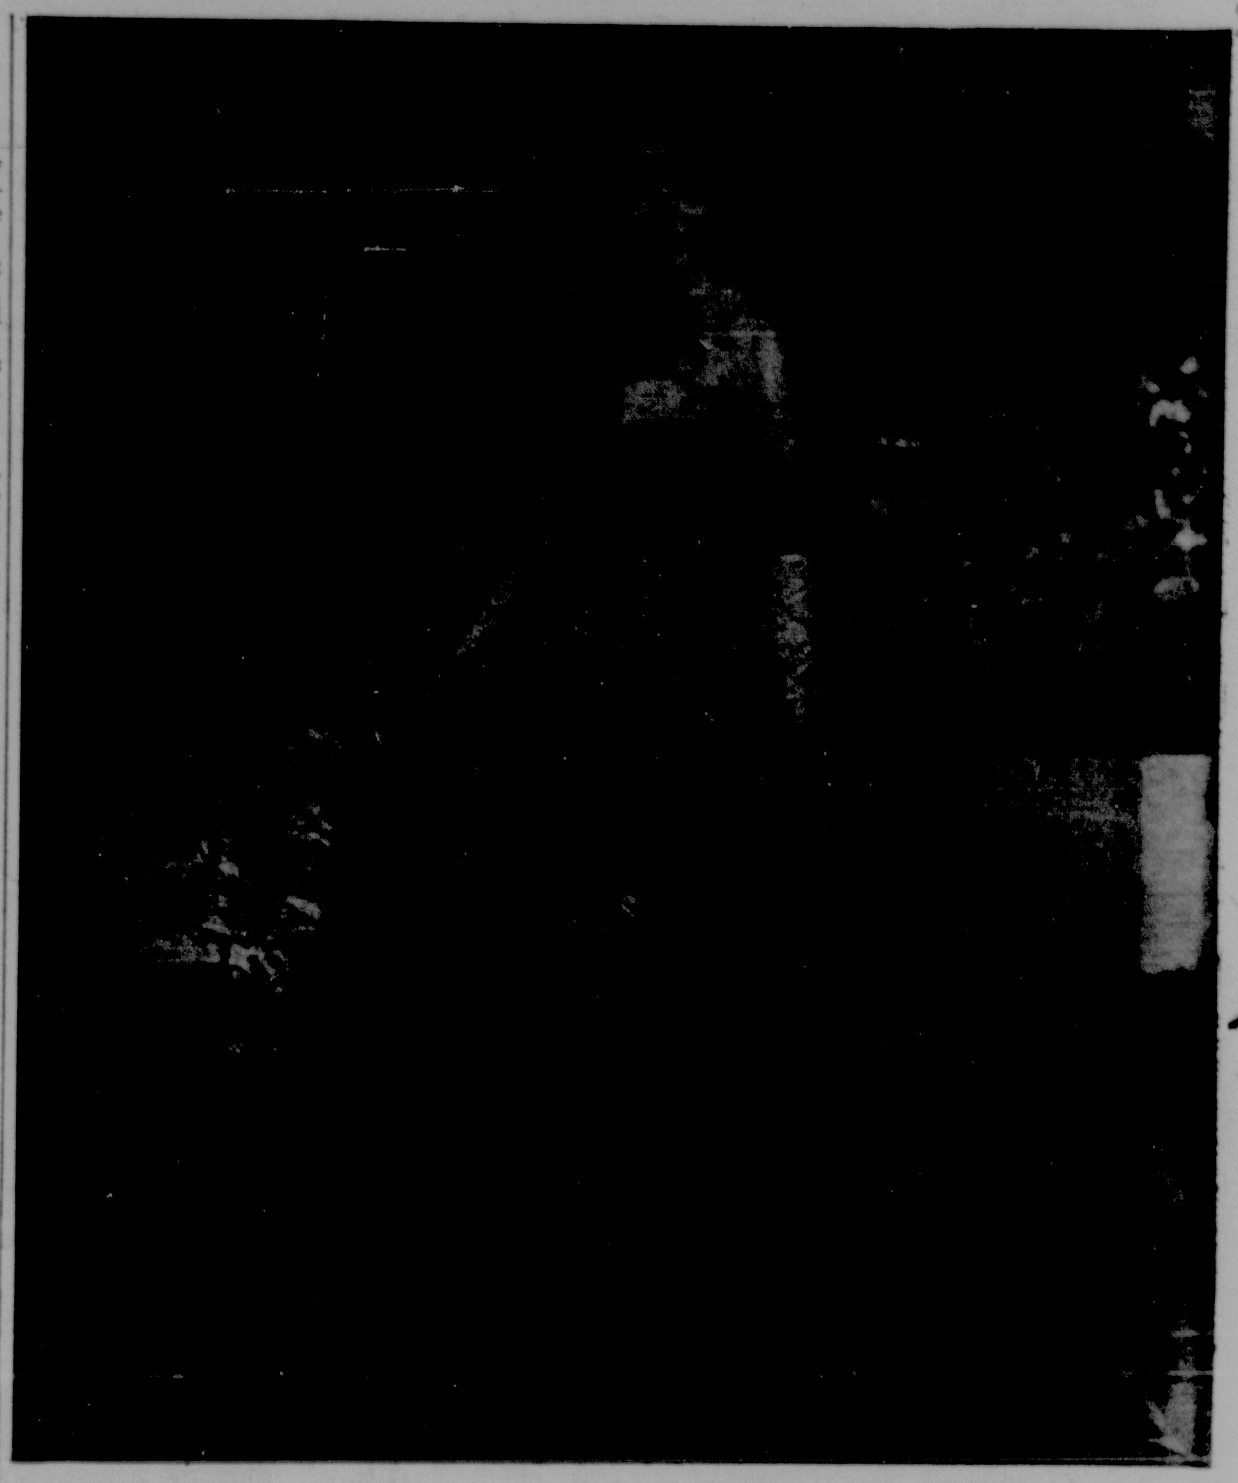

Highway Secy. Praises Efforts

By Park H. Martin
Secretary of Highways

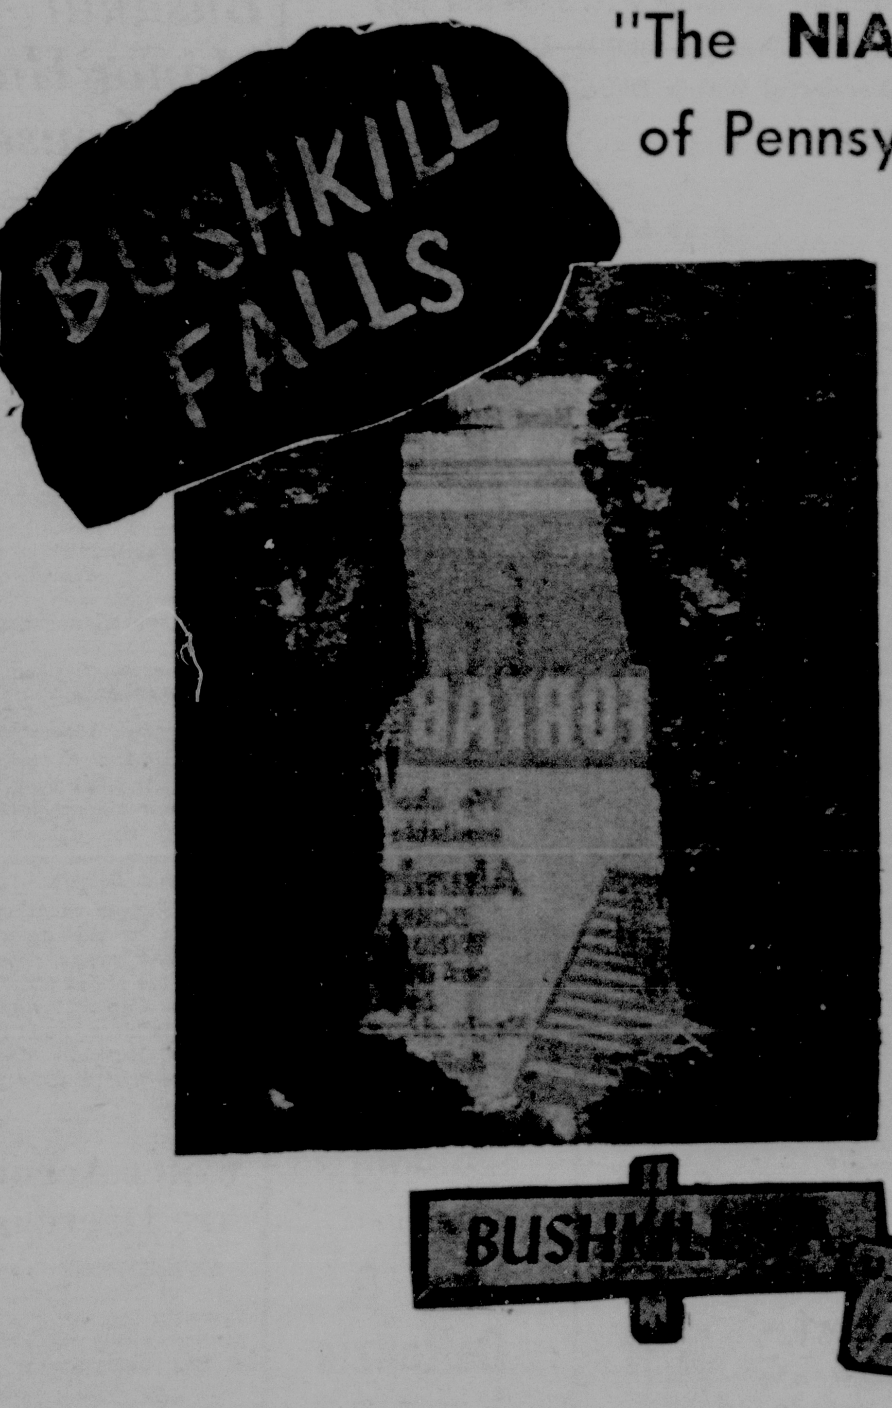

IT IS with a deep sense of appreciation that I have been asked to commend you and the Daily Record staff in marking another chapter in the history of your fine newspaper.

The Daily Record's constructive support of the economic progress of Monroe County and its consistent efforts to interpret for its readers the objectives of the Department of Highways in relation to this progress, has been most encouraging to myself and my associates.

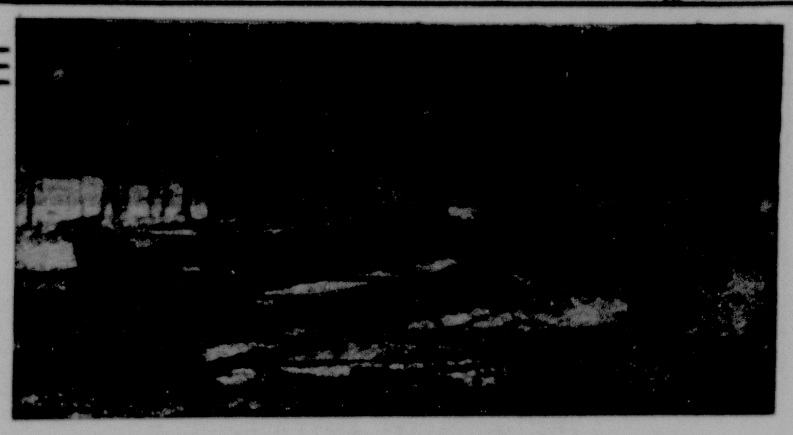

The area which you serve has benefitted substantially because in addition to being an outstanding newspaper the Record has always been a vigorous exponent of progress and good government.

Bushkill Manor Has Playhouse

BROADWAY and primeval country combine at Bushkill Manor. Throughout the season from June 26 to Labor Day Broadway plays are presented nightly at the playhouse on the grounds.

Pre-theater cocktails and dinner in the Manor Lounge are followed by after-the-theater cocktails, supper or snacks with entertainment and community singing in which the playhouse company joins.

Yet Bushkill Manos is also a sportsman's paradise. In season, the guests have the privilege of hunting over several thousand acres for deer, bear and small game. For fishing the manor grounds border the Big Bushkill, stocked with native trout each year by the state of Pennsylvania.

Deluxe Accommodations

In addition to swimming in a large spring-fed pool, there is golf, horseback riding, tennis, and just enjoying the deluxe accommodations, fine food and the best of wines and liquors.

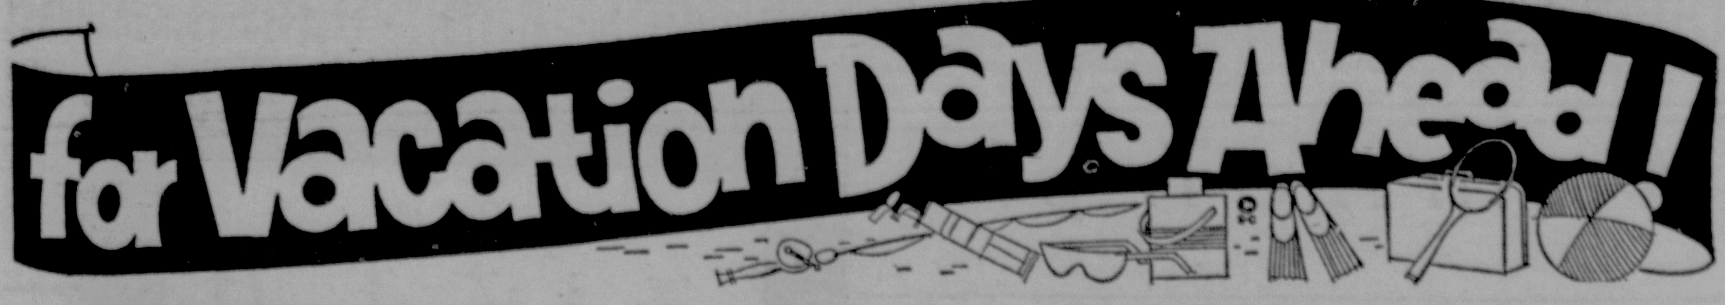

The biggest vacation value, however, is in the comraerie among the fellow guests, show people. Operated for show people by a showman — Capt. Harold Auten, producer, writer and film industry veteran. Bushkill Manor is a sort of lodge where show people get together.

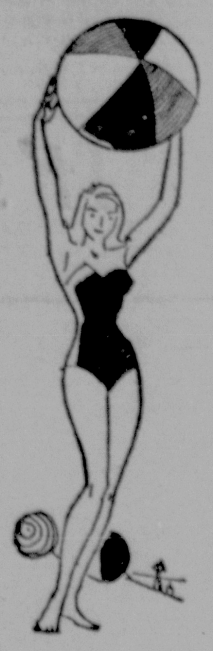

Water Accounts Are Decreasing

WATERFRONT accidents in the Port of New York, which set a five year low last year, continued to decline during the first nine months of 1961, according to records maintained by NYSA Safety Bureau.

The number of accidents during this period totaled 2,333, compared with 2,436 during the corresponding year.

Pocono Wild Animal Farm Is A Top Tourist Mecca

JUST five minutes by car from downtown Stroudsburg, nestled on the side of Foxtown Hill, is a family attraction, the Pocono Wild Animal Farm.

This will be a unique experience for visitors because you go right in with the animals, pet them and feed them tidbits from conveniently placed dispensers.

In the woodland setting, llama, Chinese or Mexican deer wander around studying the people who pose for pictures or offer them snacks. A Mexican burro may give his vocal thanks for the hand-out offered.

Larger animals are kept in cages as are the monkeys who would find the penned compound no trouble to climb out of and disappear.

A bull Elk, a bison, yak and camel may be found in separate cages with signs giving technical names and some data on his homeland.

A favorite for old and young alike, that makes a lasting impression. is the sunken concrete home of the black bears. Wearing fur coats all year round, these playful animals attract a large following.

Children find the antics and chatter of the monkeys irresistible. Tails and paws aid in climbing up the tree inside the cage or the cage itself to get close to the treat from little hands.

Baby animals are kept in a separate section. There, the treat is a bottle of milk for their snack.

While feeding the animals and walking through the compounds taking pictures, hunger overtakes the little ones. The soda stand will care for human needs and if there is a lack of film in your camera or a memento of the visit required, the souvenier shop will have many articles to fill the bill.

An afternoon spent at the Pocono Wild Animal Farm is a quick trip to the four corners of the globe with a color and three-dimensional quality

Poconos Have 'Endearing' Beauty Spots

THE quietness and unchanging qualities of the Pocono Mountains have endeared them to literally thousands of visitors to this area.

As mountains go, the Poconos are not high. They are old mountains with gentle slopes and quiet contours.

Man has made little impression upon them, building along the fringes, the valleys, streams and plateaus.

From the mountains, streams come tumbling to form spectacular waterfalls, farther in quiet lakes or flow along in calm-moving streams.

In the broad valleys of the West End there are reaches of fertile farms. The valley of the Delaware River to the east is guarded by the Kittatinny Range and the Blue Ridge Mountains. Roads wind through gaps in the mountains—Water Gap, Wind Gap, Smith's Gap.

Bushkill Falls Is Called 'Niagara Of Pennsylvania'

THE thunder of Bushkill Falls in the distance give visitors the same sense of expectancy as Niagra Falls, and is another reason why they have been called "The Niagara of Pennsylvania." However, the approach is quite different — a two-minute walk by forest pathways bordered by laurel and rhododendron and over rustic bridges.

The falls and the tumbling mountain stream with its eddies, pools and rapids between fern-clad mossy banks is the center of 100 acres of natural beauty, made accessible for your enjoyment by winding paths; made convenient for your pleasure by private picnic tables, open fireplaces and plenty of play space.

Souvenirs may be purchased at the main building, and there are adequate rest rooms.

Don't forget to bring your camera, bring a picnic lunch, bring the family for an unforgettable day in unspoiled beauty where once the Indian trails ran from the Delaware River to Canada.

The falls, 300 feet from the top water basin to the lowest gorge and falling 100 feet in its greatest plunge, are located two miles from the village of Bushkill, in the Eastern Poconos, and are 1,200 feet above sea level.

The Poconos Have A Wide Range Of Fun For All

THE Pocono Mountains area is a family vacation spot. The area caters to your budget and has sights and activities for the younger set to make your family vacation a memorable one which will be up for re-election next season.

Cool mountain air with lots of room to run and play will bring cheers from the little ones. Parents need not worry over traffic either. Resorts and motels are situated away from highways with yards of green grass that coaxes little ones to run or roll on it.

Traveling with a family is easy in the Pocono Mountains. Service stations feature clean rest rooms and many have plenty of room to change the baby. Restaurants and diners have a service for heating the baby's bottle and can dish up a child's portion quite as tasty as what Mother and Daddy are having — just the right size for Junior appetites.

If your little ones are in awe of the four legged variety of inhabitant, there are numerous stops on the highways which feature native deer and even sell snacks to cement a fast-growing friendship.

Views Range

The views range from restful to the most spectacular and all within easy driving distance from your chosen vacation site. Resort or motel facilities include a list of places near-by for youngsters to visit. Playground facilities are provided and there are numerous swimming areas.

Driving is like taking a boat tour with each stop a port of call. Souvenirs of your trip through the beautiful Poconos are never complete without a record of the stops, scenes and memorable moments captured on film. Developing service can be as fast as 24 hours and your prints are ready to be enjoyed in time to return and take others to match those special ones. Polaroid film is available in many areas and has enjoyed such popularity with summer guests that it is stocked with the same care as regular film.

Sleeping accommodations for the younger set is no problem with adjoining rooms and for the littlest ones, cribs are placed in parent's rooms.

During the trip, the night life for parents is not ignored. Square-dancing enjoys a great deal of popularity and the crowds are friendly and eager to teach visitors the steps that will aid them most in the dance. Full skirts and flat shoes for Mother for this occasion while Dad is comfortable in a sport shirt and slacks. While parents enjoy an evening out, the youngsters are safely tucked into bed under the watchful eye of an available baby-sitter.

Sunday morning, area Church services welcome visitors to join in worship in the many historic churches. Speical lawn suppers are highlights of the summer season where visitors may have an opportunity to join residents of the Poconos in old-fashioned festivals.

If you arrive at a camp site, you will find the best camping with modern facilities at Promised Land State Forest. The site is near the long beach and swimming is part of the vacation season.

Fishermen are in Angler's Heaven with the bubbling Brodheads, McMichael's Creeks and the Delaware River to try a hook in. Boats may be rented for a day on the water or just pull on hip boots and wade out as the children splash further down: far enough away so as not to frighten off the fish. A big one on the line can give the finishing touch to a day in the Poconos.

If golf clubs are packed among your gear, there will be more than enough courses to suit your particular taste here. One way to leave troubles in a crumpled heap is to place them on a golf ball and bat the ball over any of the rolling golf courses of which the area is justly proud. The views which accompany the landscape are a bonus to players and even if the score-card says more than 100 points for 18 holes, the score isn't really all written on the card.

Picnic sites dot the area. Roadside tables are situated in maple groves along the highways with handy trash barrels to help keep things tidy for the next visitor to enjoy.

All the conveniences of home, without the worry to go with it, makes a family vacation in the Poconos the best for family fun.

A Great Lure In Waterfalls

SOMEONE HAS written "There is a great lure in waterfalls. No one disputes it. Humanity seeks them out and revels in their beauty. The geologist studies the rock formations about them with interest; the artist ransfrs suche of their beauty as he can catch to canvass; the poet is inspired by them; the mere nature-lover drinks in the loveliness of the scene and rejoices in it."

THE so-called shell home industry is entering an era of orderly growth and this year should account for "an increasingly significant share of the nation's housing market," a home financing expert says. "Availability of financing will be the key to the industry's growth," says Joseph C. Ekkers, vice president of Universal C. I.T.

In The Heart of The Scenic Pocono Mountains

SOME OF THE FINEST golf courses in the world are located in The Pocono Mountains, offering every level golfer a challenge to his talents. Most of the major resorts have excellent courses, which are open to the public on a seasonal or game basis. The varied courses in the area are the location of some of the major golf tournaments in the East, but are equally enjoyed by the novice or the expert.

Many Golf Tourneys In Poconos

WITH the formation of the Pocono Professional Golfers Assn., the sport has taken on a new status in the area.

Now during the summer months, there are weekly pro-amateur tournaments that give even a high handicapper a chance to play against and with the area's top pros.

Each professional is paired with three amateur partners. The amateurs are allowed to use their club and handicaps. The tournaments are run on an 18-hole best-ball basis.

The PPGA, as it is commonly known, was the idea of Harry Obitz, who felt that competitive golf was lacking in the Poconos.

PPGA Member

Almost every Pocono pro is a member of the PPGA and many of the professionals from neighboring courses belong, including Tony Longo of Clarks Summit, considered one of the world's greatest trick-shot artists.

The PPGA is continually stepping up its program. This year is no exception. More tournaments, bigger prizes are just a few of the many activities planned or being carried out.

Onawa Lodge Has Many Facilities

Later during the summer vacation, the 75-acre resort offers a selection of free sport facilities on the American plan which includes three meals daily. summer and winter sports, horseback riding, swimming in the There is also a large softball and sports field.

Big Game Season and the Holidays and Winter Sports each cater to particular tastes. Skiing with rope tow on slopes and trails, tobogganing in the 500-foot chute and skating on the flood-lighted rink are all drawing cards.

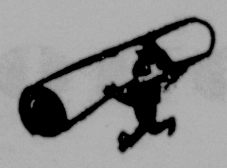

Special weekly rates are in effect from early September to late in June, owner-manager H. Irwin Shinner says.

Accomodations in the Main Lodge and Cottages are available as low as $9.50 per person, daily.

Dingman's And Silver Thread Falls

THERE are sites and more sites but there is no site in the entire Delaware Valley more delightful than the park where Dingmans Falls and Silver Thread Falls are found.

This scenic park is located one mile off Route 209 at the Eastern gateway of the Poconos. These two majestic water falls, the highest in the Poconos, are within a short easy walking distance of each other on separate streams.

There is no climbing required to view them. They are both higher than Niagara. It is safe for children.

Dingmans Falls is a 175-foot cascade of water tumbling over moss-covered rocks ending in a swirling pool, a truly magnificent scene. The more curious and energetic visitor may wish to explore further and find the "Serpent's Tongue", a lively little waterfall busily finding its way to the Dingmans Falls.

"Pot Hole"

There is also the "Pot Hole", a rock formation 14 feet deep and 14 feet wide, caused by the constant flow of water for centuries. The Silver Thread Falls is a unique and beautiful waterfall. Its crystal clear spring water is channeled through rocks so straight and smooth it defies explanation.

As its name implies, Silver Thread Falls, is truly a thread of silver, appearing in a setting only a virgin hemlock forest can produce.

Many wild flowers, mosses and lichens are seen throughout this park among which is the rhododendron that grows profusely and blooms in July. Many visitors return at this time to enjoy the flowers along with the falls.

Great pride is taken in maintaining this park so that none of the natural beauty will be destroyed. Photographers and artists spend many pleasant hours capturing its beauty.

Picnic Area

A large clean picnic area, parking area and rest rooms are provided without charge for the comfort of visitors.

The gift shop offers a large selection of gifts, souvenirs, and postcards. Light refreshments may also be purchased here.

This section of Pike County is also rich in history and Indian lore. One of the earliest settlers was Andrew Dingman who was born at Kinderbrook, N. Y., in 1711 and settled at what is now known as Dingmans Ferry about 1735.

His name is preserved in the names of Dingman Township, Dingman Creek, Dingmans Ferry and Dingmans Eddy on the Delaware River and for two centuries has been one of the most conspicious names in the history of Pike County.

Modern Banking Facilities Available All Over Area

THE banks in Monroe County have always served the area and the vacationers well but in the past several years they seem to have outdone themselves.

All have taken giant strides towards giving the public the very latest in modern banking facilities and conveniences. Large sums of money have been spent on plant and equipment . . . large sums have been spent on the employment and education of personnel in the latest banking methods.

Monroe Security Bank and Trust Company has revamped its method of bookkeping by installing new equipment. It established and built branches in Mountainhome and Brodheadsville.

The First Stroudsburg National Bank completely renovated its main office and has recently added a walk-up window for those who can not get to the bank during regular business hours. It also maintains a branch in Arlington Heights and Bushkill.

Modernized

In November of last year East Stroudsburg National Bank formally opened its completely modernized and remodelled bank building with the extended service of ample parking facilities and drive-in window.

The First-Stroudsburg National Bank opened a new branch office in Bushkill moved its Consumer Loan Department to more adequate and convenient quarters in its Arlington Branch, installed the service of a Walk-in Window, added a completely new bookkeeping department room, installed the latest Postronic Bookkeeping System, remodelled its old bookkeeping department into beautifully appointed officers' quarters, and established a new business development department with conference rooms and library in which it is gathering and tabulating every conceivable type of information about the area.

Monroe Security Bank and Trust Company, recently merged with Monroe County National Bank thus extending its service to East Stroudsburg in that bank's modern plant contented itself with lifting the external face of its Stroudsburg Office with a thorough sandblasting job.

Branch

Northwestern National Bank of Scranton operates a branch office in Mount Pocono. Here too the latest in banking are at the asking for vacationers.

But probably more important than physical plant, has been the tremendous change in attitude, in methods, and the effort to serve efficiently and well. Dozens upon dozens of directors, officers and employes have been sent to banking schools, to conferences, and to other banks for the purpose of instruction and learning. Instruction periods, within the local banks themselves, are held regularly.

Study continues without interruption on the subject of how to do the job better for Mr. Public, and planning goes on for repackaging bank service and presenting them in more acceptable form.

In the past few years the little old-fashioned bank has disappeared and modern banking has emerged staffed with people who are sincerely striving to help business, industry and the individual with their banking needs and problems.

Healthy, Alert

The people of Monroe County can be assured that the banks which are the heart of the area's economy, are healthy and alert to their needs.

Cooperation among the local banks has also been excellent. whenever a banking need arises beyond the point of one bank to meet it they do not hesitate joining forces to see that the need does not go unfilled.

And there is no doubt that they will go on planning both individual and jointly, to do whatever is necessary to meet the growing demands for good banking service.

Do Not Miss Norway House

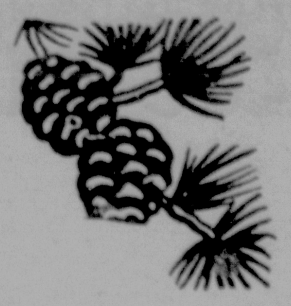

NORWAY House is a quaint restauraunt located on Route 191 just south of Mount Pocono. It serves entire dinners of Norwegien dishes and a complete line of other meals.

Recently installed in the establishment is the new charcoal pit. Vacationers in the area may now enjoy their favorite meat charcoal cooked, brouled or roasted.

A large parking area is located in the rear of the lot and the lawn is shaded with large Maple trees. Many guests have ordered their dinners and then relaxed on the porch or lawn until called by the waiter then set down to a piping hot meal cooked just the way you like it.

Much time is used in preparing the dinner, but this is for you so that you may really enjoy your meal here.

Norway House will handle small parties by appointment only and then prepare the dinner no one can walk away from and say they did not receive enough to eat.

Blake's Lodge Stresses Its Informality

NOT too large but that the comfort of every guest is of concern to the management, not so small that you won't find congenial companions. Blake's Beechwood Lodge is a small and informal resort at the peak of the Poconos, 2,100 feet above sea level.

Located but half a mile from the great Tobyhanna State Park, guests at the Beechwood are furnished free transportation to the new sandy beach on the lake. The forests of the park are splendid for nature study, hiking and hunting in season.

On the grounds are croquet, ping pong and quoits. In the rumpus room are pocket billiards and other games. A weekly picnic is held at outdoor fireplaces for the guests.

Noted for excellent food, Blake's Beechwood Lodge has accommodations for guests in large rooms with cottage or cabin for families or small groups. Home cooking is under the personal supervision of Mrs. Bessie Blake.

Visit The Lighthouse Antique Shop

A NEW idea in antique shops has been opened in the Poconos by Katherine J. Carpenter, Pocono Manor resident for the last 14 years, who has opened shop in the old Lighthouse Restaurant across from the Henryville Lodge, Routes 191-196, about eight miles north of Stroudsburg.

It is the Paterick Henry Antiques and the new ideas are that all objects will be not only marked in price, but will explain on an attached card marked "Certified Antiques", just what the object is, its vintage dates, and where it originated.

This isn't an easy job, according to Mrs. Carpenter, since she is offering such a wide selection of objects. Her antiques include medival knight's helmets and edged weapons, primitive 'early Americana' such as corner cupboards, cherry dropleaf tables, hutches, dough boxes, drysinks, blanket chests, and old country store primitives. She also has a few collector's items in Sheraton, Hepplewhite and Chippendale. And the pride of her collection is an original, lifetime collection of "Deer and Pine Tree" pressed glass, over 60 pieces, all original.

Mrs. Carpenter,actually started in the business by accident. After furnishing her home in early American antiques, she was casting about for something to keep her busy. Since she was so 'inactive', she decided she wanted to run an antique shop, so she could keep buying antiques.

Her husband, president of Gray L. Carpenter & Associates, a New York public relations firm, was agreeable (he liked the idea, too). So the Patrick Henry Antiques was launched. Carpenter, by the way, was selected by McGraw-Hill as one of the 60 outstanding young U.S. business executives and with such names as Pierre du Pont, David Rockefeller, and 57 others wrote chapters in the McGraw-Hill 'Top Management Handbook', published last year.

PIKE County, to the north and east of Monroe County, has sometimes been referred to as the heart of Pennsylvania's $100 million resort industry.

Pike's Pocono Mountain region is highly regarded as one of the east's foremost vacation centers.

A fairly new industry, development of the Poconos began about 50 years ago. Expansion has been rapid and there now are hundreds of resorts catering to every taste and pocketbook.

There are camps for children with two-week vacations, honeymoon cottages for those who want to crowd a lifetime of memories into a few days or weeks and resorts for families who have passed through both previous stages, but still appreciate the leisure of the hills or the faster pace of the resort hotels.

Growing side by side with the resort industry is a system of state parks and forests, planned and administered by the State Dept. of Forests and Waters and stocked by the State Fish Commission.

The Poconos actually occupy two counties, covering the entire area of Pike County and spreading southwards into Monroe County.

High Palteau

The overall land is a high mountain plautau, ranging in elevation from 1,500 to 2,215 feet above sea level. It is dotted with lakes, streams and waterfalls and covered with abundant forests. It is excellent for hunting and fishing as well as for summer vacations.

Early in its growth, the state government realized the Poconos should be free for all to enjoy, not reserved just for those who stay at a particular lodge or hotel.

The commonwealth began a systematic program of obtaining control of the most picturesque views in the state.

Among these are Big Pocono State Park. It combines picnic areas with one of the most picturesque views in Pennsylvania. From an elevation of 2,130 feet, the farmlands, homes, lakes and wooded mountains spread toward the horizon.

The 1,300-acre tract has two parking areas, picnic tables, fireplaces, a refreshment stand, and about 10-miles of foot and horse trails.

Tobyhanna State Park, opened nine years ago, offers even more diverse facilities. Although the park contains approximately 7,320 acres, only a fraction of this amount has been developed.

Formal hiking trails have not been constructed, but the hearty vacationer will find many miles of enjoyment on the many fire roads and ancient timber trails traversing the area.

For water sports and fishing, there is a 165-acre lake with a 600 foot long sand beach. Picnic areas and fireplaces have also been built.

One of the finest fishing spots is Gouldsboro Lake — 278 acres of public fishing water, well stocked by the state. Facilities include parking space for 450 cars, 200 picnic tables, 80 fireplaces, an 800-foot bathing beach, and a boat house and 150-foot boat dock.

On a much smaller scale is Snow Hill Lake, only three acres small, but well stocked with trout, and also known for catfish and sunfish.

The small-scale park has 15 fireplaces, about two-dozen picnic tables, deep-well water, a 20 by 20 foot shelter, and seclusion.

Rated as the most picturesque park in Pennsylvania, Childs State Forest contains a weeded glen and gorge, plus three individual waterfalls.

Previous history gives this park an added attraction — here was located one of the first industries in this section of the state, and foundations of the ancient tannery and woolen mill can still be seen.

The park includes several miles of hiking trails, and a unique swimming basin carved out of rock by thousands of years of tumbling water.

Promised Land

On the other side of the state park picture is Promised Land, a 420 acre lake and a site that includes parking and picnic areas, rustic cabins with electric lights, refrigerators, and open fireplaces, running water at the cabin door, and a bathing beach with life guards — all the conveniences of home.

But the too urban picture, with its concession stands and souvenirs and mementos is only at the gateway. Behind this area are 50-miles of rugged hiking trails, a natural glacial body of water known as Bryce Lake. There is also Egypt Meadow Lake and Balsam Swamp for nature lovers to explore.

Bear Wallow and Klein Trails lead to a virgin forest. Spruce-Balsam-Tamarack Swamps abound with birds of every description and beaver colonies.

Besides experiencing the wonderful scenery and activities of outdoor Poconos, vacationers are also rewarded with the finest atmosphere and climate on the east coast.

Official U. S. weather reports show the Poconos possess the driest air east of the Rockies, and enjoy the coolest summer climate south of Maine. Averaging 80 per cent clear weather during the summer, the Pocono nights are usually cool, while the days are sunny and temperate.

Outdoor Art Shows Are Enjoyed By Everyone

TWO Outdoor Art Shows, sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Art Group, annually attract not only the casual tourists but artists from outlying areas for exhibit and art collectors who find the Courthouse Square in Stroudsburg a treasure trove for buying.

Last year the shows drew more than 80 artists whose 800 paintings overflowed into neighboring streets. Propped against the cannons in the Courthouse square, strung clotheslines between the trees, or leaning against the buildings of lawyer's row, the setting rivals continental sidewalk art show.

On Camp Stools

There are even "artists in residence" on their camp stools, ready to talk art with the interest, compare each other's progress or some of them to demonstrate their craft as they wait.

The first show will be held July 13 and 14; the second, Aug. 17 and 18. There is no admission charge and visitors are welcome.

The Art Group is also sneaking in an early show June 16, limited to paintings by members only, to which the public is also invited. It will be held on the lawn at the Village Inn in Marshall's Creek.

Duckloe Bros. Feature Hand Made American Furniture

FOR a step into Americana, a trip to Duckloe Brothers, Portland is the answer. For Early American buffs, the shop and Golden Eagle Inn, is an adventure in furniture.

The warmth and tone of solid cherry lovingly handcrafted into masterpieces of Americana are found in a range of sizes and styles to match and contrast with interiors. Maple and oak are also used in certain pieces. Deacon's benches, side chairs, cabinetry at its height is found at Duckloe Brothers.

Furniture for living rooms and bedrooms are styled with the past in mind and the future at hand. Sturdy woods, well-made for every room in just the size and shape that will go with a particular piece of favorite furniture.

Dining Room Line

Hutches and dining tables and serving carts all with the famous scroll and brass hardware are among the dining-room line.

If the day reaches time for luncheon, the Golden Eagle Inn, through the swinging doors affords a several course meal or spirits to your taste. All served, of course, in the atmosphere for which the cabinet makers are famous all over the East — Early American.

Showrooms on the second floor of the Inn also feature room displays with each grouping coordinated in furniture, fabrics and accessories.

The firm was commissioned by the Restoration Committee of Old Mystic Seaport, Conn., to reproduce furniture of the era for their project of restoring the complete whaling settlement.

DOMESTIC ceramic tile production for 1961 slipped below 1960's volume of 234,000,000 square feet, reports Stylon, Inc.

Production of 1962 should exceed that of both 1960 and 1961.

Nurses' Assn. Active In Pocono Area

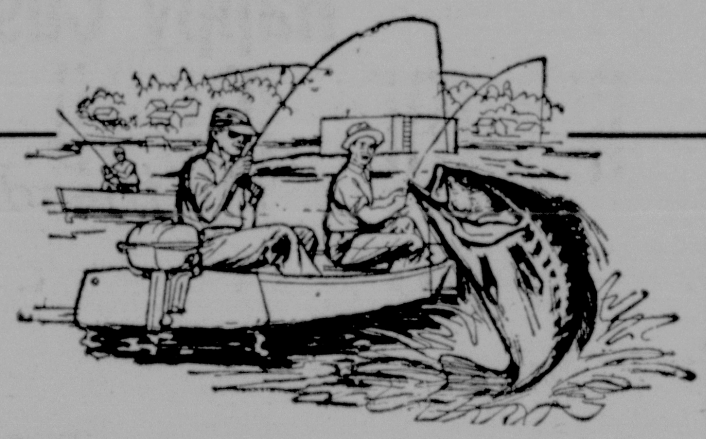

"WHILE the services of the Visiting Nurses Assn. of Monroe County were organized primarily to fill the need of local residents for skilled part-time nursing care in their own homes, summer cottagers and vacationists have also had reason to be grateful.

Convalescents coming to the Poconos to regain their health are particularly glad of the fact that such care is available in the county.

Registered graduate nurses offer part-time services to those requiring nursing care in their own homes, including the aged, long-term invalids, mothers with new babies and convalescents returning home from the hospital.

Dressed in their trim blue uniforms, the Visiting Nurses travel hundreds of miles each month to provide professional nursing care and health instructions. All calls are answered but visits are continued only under the direction of the doctor.

Fees are adjustable to meet individual needs. Weekend visits are made only in cases of emergency or to acutely ill patients. The telephone number of the Visiting Nurses Assn. is HA 1-4000.

ENCHANTING woodland path invites the visitor and resident alike to enjoy the beauty of The Poconos at all seasons of the year, but particularly when the Mountain Laurel, the Pennsylvania State Flower, is in bloom.

Beautiful State Parks In Area A Tourist Attraction

THE self-bestowed title "Pennsylvania's Picturesque Playgrounds" for the Poconos is recognized by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which has centered many of its most popular state parks here.

The vast resources for recreation in the area known as the Pocono Mountain Plateau are situated from 1500 to 2215 feet above sea level. The plateau is dotted with lakes, streams and water falls and is adaptable to forest growth, fish, game and other wild life.

State parks, nearly all within an hour's drive of hotels, motels, boarding houses and camps in the area provide unexcelled facilities.

Tobyhanna State Park, approximately 7,318 acres, lies about one mile north of Tobyhanna Village, and provides a lake of 165 acres with facilities for fishing, boating, swimming, fireplaces, picnic tables and refreshment concessions.

George W. Childs State Forest Park, named in honor of philanthropist G. W. Childs, is located in Pike County, three miles west of Dingmans Ferry and Rt. 209. Nature trails, exceptionally picturesque falls, and picnicking facilities make this an attractive spot for the summer visitor.

Historically, it reflects a picture of early pioneering days of industry. Joseph Brooks of Yorkshire, England, finding adequate waterpower for the needs of a woolen mill engaged on a large scale in the sheep raising business in conjunction with his mill. This venture continued until 1832, with the death of Mr. Brooks.

Promised Land State Park is located in Pike County, ten miles north of Canadensis. To the usual picnicking, swimming, boating, fishing, facilities, 50 miles of nature trails are within hiking distance of this area.

Exceptional beauty spots such as natural glacial lake known as Bruce Lake Forest Monument, which is set aside as a wilderness area, and Egypt Meadow Lake and Balsam Swamp, affording exploration to nature lovers, are accessible. The Bear Wallow and Klein Trails lead to a few of the remaining virgin forest trees. Beaver colonies are prevalent throughout the area.

Some 3400 acres located in Delaware and Porter Townships in Pike County, known as Little Bushkill or Minisink Wilderness area contain about 10 miles of wilderness trails. The area abounds in swamps and contains about a mile of still water suitable for canoeing.

Of local interest, the swampy section and islands were havens for draft evaders and deserters during the Civil War. As foundations, the remains of cabins used by them can still be seen today.

Playhouses Offer Many Fine Plays

AT LEAST three summer theaters—one of them a new enterprise — will be in operation in the Poconos this year. A fourth is a possibility at this writing.

The newcomer is the Cherry Lane Playhouse, located between Routes 611 and 191 about 10 miles north of Stroudsburg. It will open June 11 and will present "Our Town," "Charley's Aunt" and "Dial M for Murder" in addition to Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" in repertory.

Also scheduled is a concert series featuring Paul Draper, dancer; Jack Irwin, Broadway musical comedy star; Jacqueline Rew, concert singer; Angus Godwind, folk singer, and Marcelita Lopez, pianist.

Puppet shows will be presented especially for children at Wednesday matinees during the season, which ends June 24.

Opens June 26

Bushkill Playhouse will open June 26 with "Marriage Go Round." Matinee attractions for children and adults will be presented on Wednesdays and Thursdays at 2:30 p.m. during July and August.

Other plays scheduled include "Blue Denim" the week of July 2; "Gigi," July 9; "The Mouse Trap," July 16; "Time Out for Ginger," July 23; "Charlie's Aunt," July 30; "Kiss and Tell," Aug. 6; "Rain," Aug. 13; "Summer and Smoke," Aug. 20, and "The Pleasure of His Company," Aug. 27.

Pocono Playhouse at Mountainhome will open its 16th season on Monday, June 11, with Gloria Swanson starring in "The Inkwell."

Other plays scheduled during the summer include "Critic's Choice" with Hans Konried; "Here Today" starring Tallulah Bankhead; "The Miracle Worker" with Teresa Hughes and Peggy Burke; "Everybody Loves Opal" starring Nancy Walker; "John Loves Mary" with Fabian in the starring role; "The Gazebo" with William Bendix in the leading role, and "A Raisin in the Sun" with the original New York cast, starring Claudia McNeil.

Three musicals will be presented for two weeks each. They include "The Music Man," opening July 9; "Bye Bye Birdie," starting July 30, and "Kiss Me Kate," opening Sept. 3.

As this resort edition was being written, the Wind Gap Playhouse had not decided whether or not it would open this year. A decision was expected momentarily.

Signal Depot Is A Top Defense Installation

THE Tobyhanna Signal Depot, a key Defense installation since it opened for business nine years ago, has also become a prime tourist attraction.

During Armed Forces Week this spring, more than a thousand area residents and vacationers accepted the depot's invitation to see the Army Signal Corps at work. Among the out-of-towners were numerous honeymoon couples, who took advantage of a new Tourmobile service provided by the depot.

The Tourmobile is a train-like arrangement of motorized flat carts ordinarily used to move equipment about the depot. Several of these carts were hooked together and furnished with comfortable seats, complete with safety belts.

Instead of nursing sore feet after walking around the 1400-acre installation, visitors, for the first time this year, rode in comfort, befitting their status as taxpayers. At strategic points, the Tourmobile stopped and passengers were asked to dismount to see some special piece of equipment.

Ultrasonic Cleaner

One such item was an ultrasonic cleaner that, in seconds, by high frequency sound waves, completely cleans used communications equipment. Visitors were invited to remove items of jewelry for cleaning, and old rings and bracelets suddenly were made to look new again.

The big DEE stands for Digital Evaluation Equipment. The only one of its type in the Army, it was delivered to the depot last fall and installed in a large air-conditioned room in the Maintenance Division. Designed to greatly increase production in the event of emergency, the DEE can quickly and automatically test all types of Signal Corps equipment. An electric typewriter types out what, if anything, is wrong with the item under test.

The depot, completed in 1953 at a cost of $35,000,000, is the largest of three U.S. Army Signal Corps depots the others are located in Lexington, Ky., and Sacramento, Calif.

A secondary function is to repair and, in many cases, completely overhaul used Signal Corps equipment.

State Police Will Render Assistance

HARRISBURG — Summer travelers in Pennsylvania will find the State Police ready to be of assistance in many ways to make the trip safer and more pleasant.

Drivers traveling through strange areas can be sure any trooper they encounter will know the area thoroughly, and should feel free to stop any trooper on the highway to ask directions, according to State Police Commissioner Frank G. McCartney.

Troopers can tell the tourist about public parks and other attractions. They also may advise of the nearest lodging or restaurant.

Should something be left behind at a rest stop or overnight lodging, whether it be a pair of sunglasses or a misplaced child, contact the State Police. They will see that it is returned to you.

If your car breaks down on the road, troopers will help you locate a mechanic. They will frequently lend a hand themselves to change a tire or to get gasoline and water.

Troopers will also locate you to deliver urgent messages from home. Friends and relatives should always be informed of where you are traveling from day to day and told to contact you through the State Police if any emergency arises.

If you are camping out or staying at a lodge in an isolated area, contact the State Police. They'll have patrols check your camp at regular intervals.

Many Acres Of Game Lands Reserved In The Poconos

A TOTAL of 60,000 acres of gameland is located in Monroe County to support the large number of game in the county.

But unhappily for the Summer hunters of the bigger game, most of the open seasons don't begin until Fall.

Visitors to the Poconos this Summer will have to be content with fox, woodchuck, red squirrel and birds, and even then not on Sundays.

But for those who stick around this year there will be a small game season. Small game includes ringneck pheasants, rabbit, squirrels, wild turkey, bobwhite quail and grouse.

There were over 10,600 deer killed in the Poconos during the regular 1960 season, according to reports filed in the Harrisburg office of the Pennsylvania Game Commission by successful hunters.

The Game Commission now runs over 60,000 acres of "Game Land" owned by the state in the Poconos.

It produces an annual crop for the hunters of Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The local game protectors expect a bumper crop and a good kill of all game on these lands if the weather is favorable.

The land, controlled by the commission, is, and always will be open to the general public for hunting purposes. The Game Commission is well aware that with the ever increasing population the average hunter has a hard time finding space in which to pursue his sport. It is always seeking to increase the acreage of game lands to insure a place for all hunting license holders.

Area Has Top-Notch Hospital Facilities

IF VISITORS to the Poconos notice a sort of special jubilance this year it may be due to the fact that the residents of the area have just triumphantly waged a $1,000,000 expansion campaign for the Monroe County General Hospital.

Nobody, it is true, goes on a vacation to have an accident or fall prey to any of the illnesses that may plague them during the rest of the year, but life being what is is, accidents and illnesses don't always confine themselves to company time.

Resort operators have recognized what a vital role a truly modern hospital can play in a resort community and have supported the expansion campaign enthusiastically. In fact, the resort division was the first division in the county to go "over the top" in the campaign.

No Longer "Rural"

A community hospital, supported and administered by the people of Monroe County, the General Hospital has long ago outgrown its "rural hospital" status. It is approved by the joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals and is a member of both the American Hospital Assn. and of the Pennsylvania Hospital Assn. with all that implies by way of standards, facilities and staff.

Its chief surgeon is a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons. Its laboratory is equipped with the most modern medical equipment to assist the pathologist in performing more than 27,670 laboratory procedures carried out in the past year.

The hospital keeps up with the march of medical knowledge in the detection of cancer in its new Cytology Laboratory. Regularly scheduled seminars feature outstanding men in their field to keep its staff up on new procedures.

The General Hospital also has an electroencephalograph for brain studies. Besides extensive installations in their regular X-ray department, the hospital has two portable X-ray machines.

Plus "Gym"

In the physiotherapy department, they haye electrical muscle stimulation equipment and hydrotherapy apparatus plus a "gym" for physical therapy exercises needed by some patients.

The present hospital has 130 beds and 30 bassinets. When the new $1,500,000 wing is completed (current timetable for groundbreaking, Spring 1963) it will add 50 additional beds.

The resorts of the Poconos offer all the facilities for health a vacationer wants—but if accidents or illnesses should happen, the Poconos are able to take care of its own and the visitor through the General Hospital of Monroe County.

At these locations, trained technicians are on hand to help find the answer to your particular building, repair or remodeling operation.

ESNB Has All Banking Services

THE NEW Drive In-Walk Up window at the East Stroudsburg National Bank has captured the fancy and interest of the banking public. Anytime during the hours that the window is open one can see a generous number of people doing business from the comfort of their car. The extended hours of operation also meet the need of the public.

General banking can be transacted at the window from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Friday.

Easy approach by means of a wide, level driveway makes it convenient for anyone to reach the window. Return to the street is equally convenient and easy to accomplish.

The individual that wishes to park and do business has a choice of 19 ample parking spaces, anyone of which is only a few steps from the bank. Well designed architectural features attract the eye and well planted areas provide shade and produce seasonal bloom.

The inside of the bank is a happy combination of eye catching color and functional business equipment. Everything is provided to more adequately serve the public.

Combine all of these features with Officers and Staff trained for efficiency and dedicated to giving friendly service and the result is "Banking at its Best!" Both those that visit and those that live in the Poconos enjoy doing business with the "Friendly Bank."

Poconos Have Long History Of Entertaining Vacationers

ACCORDING to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, most of the 241 member resorts in the Poconos are holding the line on prices this summer, although a few have upped the rates to meet the improved accommodations and increased recreational facilities.

However, the rates compare with last year, there's no comparison with earlier years when prices in the Poconos, quoted in a booklet "Mountain and Lake Resorts" put out by the passenger service of the Lackawanna Railroad, ran as low as $6 a week for the economy resorts in town.

The year was 1909 when George A. Cullen, general passenger agent prepared his booklet for vacationing customers of the railroad which then charged $3.50 for a round trip to New York.

Delaware Water Gap was then one of the most expensive areas, and one of the most popular with 40 resorts listed for the area. Weekly rates at its finest resorts ran up to $15 per week.

In Stroudsburg, the prices were less elite dipping to $12 weekly average, some going as low as $6 to $10.

The rates sky-rocketed in the mountains, running from $10 to $27 a week at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls.

The booklet is replete with pictures of resorts in the area and with purple passages of discription of its beauties.

Nan-Ro Cottages, A Family Resort

NAN-RO COTTAGES, just two miles out of Canadensis on Seese Hill Road, is the family resort for week, month or season. For families who wish to get away from city heat for the summer, these housekeeping cottages high in the Poconos (with the convenience of the quaint village nearby) are highly recommended.

There is ample space for children to play, with large lawns and play equipment near adult activities. The children will enjoy swimming in the new pool as will adults. Fishing on the property and nature trails near-at-hand coax worry out of mind and relax away pressure.

Nan-Ro Cottages offers accommodations with an eye to those on a budget. The cottages are white trimmed in red with the white rail fence framing the resort property.

Rimrock Studios Worth A Visit

THE custom-tailored look of gifts from the Rimrock Studios is theirs by right since the lamps, sculpture wall decorations, jewelry and other varied items are designed and created at the studios by Val and Mae Robbins.

It is a fascinating way to spend an hour just browsing and an invaluable source of gifts to cherish. Val will also design and create beautiful accessories or occasional pieces to order in fine modern walnut or old mellow pine.

Rimrock Studios are located on the main road from Bartonsville to Snydersville on Route 12.

Chas. Kimmel Offers Plans

CHARLES Kimmel, with 35 years of master building experience has announced that a variety of floor plans are available, personally designed.

Only better grade materials are used hand selected by Kimmel for strength and serviceability in all the homes built by this Master Builder.

It's A Veritable Golfers' Paradise!

LIKE never before, the swing in golf is to the picturesque Pocono Mountains where there is a course for every golfer from the duffer to the scratch player.

There are more than thirty courses in the Poconos with eight of the layouts in true championship form capable of holding any top professional event. There are also area courses ranging in length from a 2,200 yard, nine-hole layout to the 7,200 yard (back tees) course.

A new miniature 18-hole golf course will open tomorrow along Route 611 to add to the Pocono's huge array. It is the new Continental Miniature Golf Course.

All owners report the greens in better shape than ever.

Excellent Conditions

Glen Brook Country Club, with pro Paul Patten back for his second year, reports greens in excellent condition. The course has been cleared of "grown-in" areas and renovating of "traps" has placed the layout in the best condition ever.

The championship course claims a great deal of Pocono play. It is the only par 73 course in the area and measures 6,508 yards. Its 16th hole, 150-yard par three, is one of the toughest in the area.

John Kupice is teaching pro.

Mo-Nom-O-Nock Inn at Cresco and Cliff Park at Milford are both good nine-hole courses. There are traps on either course.

The Pocono public courses include Wiscasset and Indian Mountain, both owned by Vance Megargel. New this year in the Megargel circuit is a par 3 layout at Blakeslee Corners on Rt. 115.

The course, in the development period for the last three years offers a challenge to amateurs and pros alike with its natural obstacles. Wiscasset is located on Rt. 611 between Swiftwater and Mt. Pocono.

Other public courses are Mount Pocono Golf; Blue Mountain Golf and Bush's Golf Course.

At Shawnee Country Club the magic combination of names of golf and Fred Waring are identifiable with one of the leading spots in the East. Located on the banks of the Delaware, the Shawnee Inn has been in existence since 1911. Under Waring's guiding hand, the recent years have been a consistent program of development until today it is known everywhere as "The Golf Capital Of the East."

Four tee positions are offered on every hole. This makes it possible to extend the play from 5,800 yards on the yellow course to 7,200 yards on the white. Par is 72. Jack White is golf pro.

Shawnee is the home of the 1938 PGA championship and the 1961 Arnold Palmer-Jackie Gleason match in Sunday Sports Spectacular.

Tamiment's Robert Trent Jones-designed course earns the title of the toughest challenge in the area. The course, located 12 miles from Stroudsburg on Route 29 East, cost over $750,000 to build. From three Tamiment-in-Poconos holes it is possible to see 20 miles in any direction.

Danny Kaye Play

Tamiment is the home of the Danny Kaye Pro-Am Tournament, which this year will be held in September. The 17th hole at the course, two years in the making, cost about $30,000 to construct.

Art Wall, Jr., the 1959 PGA "Golfer of the Year" registers out of Pocono Manor Inn Golf Course, a challenging course, it is some 1800 feet high in the Poconos.

Manor pro is Jack Cuttle who has held the job for the past thirty seven years. Wall represents the Manor on the pro circuit and holds the Manor course record of 63. The Manor is located 15 miles north of Stroudsburg.

Mountain Manor on Route 209 at Marshalls Creek, probably the most played course in the area, is headed by veteran Ray Lambert, senior PGA member. The course has layout of 27 holes with nine of them a par three set-up.

Water Gap Country Club (Wolf Hollow) is home of the 1927 and '28 Eastern Opens. The Gap's 12th hole is only 120 yards long, but earned the name "Hagen's Folly" after the Haig took a 12 on it in the Eastern Open. Sam Kinder, an excellent player, is the Water Gap pro. WGCC is a private club but arrangements can be made to play the course.

Other Courses

The Inn at Buck Hill is also the birthplace of Pocono golf. The first round was played there in 1909 about seven years after its construction had begun. Ted Beadle is on his 17th year at The Hill and Harry Drennan, golf manager, is in his forty-second season.

Skytop, founded in 1928, is headed by Harold Calloway. It rarely allows outside play, however, reserving its course for some 3,000 members and resort guests. At Vacation Valley, free golf lessons are given to guests who stay a week and pays a week's $7 greens fees. The Vacation Valley course is 3,000 yards long and includes a 580-yard seventh hole.

Blue Mountain Golf Course, located ½ miles east of Saylor's Lake, is owned and operated by Bert and Grant Knowles. It has a challenging nine-hole regulation course with natural obstacles.

At Tannersville is The Randall's Woodmont Lodge and Golf Course. The nine hole layout is a fairly rugged challenging course.

Fernwood has a nine-hole course and is located on Route 209 East of East Stroudsburg.

Indian Mountain Golf Course is located at Kresgeville in the Western Poconos.

Varkony's Offers Many Attractions

VARKONY'S Country Inn and Cottages caters to those individuals who prefer fine continental European and American Food. Their Smorgasbord is famous throughout the area. Entertainment is featured Friday and Saturday evenings with special beverages served in the air conditioned dining room and cocktail lounge.

A vacation land for families and couples, rates for the distinctive modern cottages are arranged on American plan or light housekeeping with season, month or week accommodations at moderate rates.

The swimming pool has an excellent filter system and safety fencing.

The quiet, cool and restful surroundings are set in the superb Poconos within a few minutes drive of stores, churches, boating and golf.

Playgrounds for children are on the grounds.

Pocono Mountain Art Group Is Very Active

ART AND the Pocono Mountains go together as naturally as breathing. The many people, amateur and professional, who are interested in art have made the two terms synonomous.

The Pocono Mountain Art Group, one of the largest and most active of its kind in Pennsylvania, boasts a membership of more than 125.

The PMAG grew out of evening art classes under the direction of Francis Meredith, which were held in East Stroudsburg in 1948. Speakers, demonstrations and activities are held at the semi-monthly meetings in Stroud Union High School. Highlight of the season is the "Sidewalk Art Show" when more than 250 paintings of all types, styles and sizes are on display in Stroudsburg's Court House Square.

Among the artists interested in the group are Edna Palmer Englehardt, J. Harvard McPherson, Peter Mendler, Helmut Silber, Rachel Bray, Sterling Strausser, Peter Heiden, David M. Harriton, Francis Meredith and Robert Wolbach.

These artists also aid in the art work done by the Pocono Art Center. This group has extended interest in the arts to include the performing arts with dance groups and classes in puppetry added to the range of art expression.

Had Exhibits

Cullen Yates, Agnes Dyer, Dr. Claus Jordan, Otto Christ, Henry Evans, Gloria Randolph, Paul Klee, Morandi and Mondrian have all had paintings on exhibit in the gallery at Sixth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg.

The aim of both groups is to arrange a place where professionals and amateurs may gather to discuss, demonstrate, exhibit and practice the arts. They are working toward the increase in interest in art in the country and to bring together more people for the general improvement of the arts.

Marcia Clapp De Rocco founded the Pocono Art Center in 1959. The center has arranged numerous shows of local and national importance. The International Art Exhibition made national press notices.

Lectures and demonstrations are held at the Old Stone House, Mrs. DeRocco's home where discussions are also held.

The annual Chamber Music Festival at Tamiment at which the Curtis String Quartet performs is another example of the performing arts.

"Sidewalk Show"

The annual "Sidewalk Show" by the PMAG is held late in the summer with many visitors coming for the two-day exhibit. The regular exhibition of the Pocono Art Center is at Sixth and Main Sts., on the second floor of the J. C. Penney Store.

Between the efforts of the two groups, any art interest in the area has ample outlet and expression be it amateur or professional.

With this activity, it is easy to see why there are as many people painting scenes of the beautiful Pocono Mountains as there are those taking pictures.

The Poconos Have An Historic Background

THE Pocono Mountains, historical heritage of the Keystone State, is the setting for more than a century of resorts and vacationing.

The Pocono Mountains, stage for the real-life story of pioneers in the wilderness.

The original 'natives" of the Pocono Mountains were a group of Indians called the Lenni-Lenape which means "the original people". The Minsi tribe of the clan had their chief village on the Minisink flats along the Delaware River, north of Delaware Water Gap.

When the white man came, he renamed these redmen, "Delawares" for the river by which they lived.

In the late 1600's, Dutch men built a road from Kingston along the Hudson to a copper mine on the banks of the Delaware. This road was the path over which early Dutch settlers moved to come into the Minisink country. Nicholas Depui came over the Old Mine Road in 1725 to settle there two years later on land he bought from the Indians.

Quick Built Cabin

South of the "Endless Hills", Blue Mountain and Kittatinny Mountain, the Pennsylvania officials heard rumors of the Dutch settlers. In 1730, they sent two men to visit the settlement.

Later, in 1733, Tom Quick, Sr., built a cabin and barn further up the river. A year later, his son, Tom Quick, Jr., was born. Tom, Jr., was to become famous as an Indian fighter.

The site of this settlement was where, during the Revolution, people across the Delaware forded the creek to get to the Wells Brother's gristmill. The name then became Millford.

When, in 1735, Andrew Dingman ferried people back and forth across the river in his flatbottomed boat, he could only know in his daydreams that the town which grew up there would be called "Dingman's Ferry."

When Daniel Brodhead bought land and established a settlement on the east side of Brodhead Creek, he called it Dansbury. Later, it became East Stroudsburg.

With the death of William Penn, the honesty in dealings with the Indians fell to misuse. The infamous 'Walking Purchase" cut into the land which belonged to the Indians. The agreement was "as much land as a man could walk in one day". . . but the men, working in relays, ran, night and day. The large chunk of real estate which then fell to the white man was, in effect, stolen from the Delawares.

To top the whole deal off, the Pennsylvania authorities, with another bit of underhandedness, showed papers which said the Pocono lands had been paid for.

The Indians were not too happy with the way they had been treated and when the chance came for them to "get back", they didn't hesitate. They took up the war chant in 1755 against the English and the settlers suffered in a series of raids, pillages and massacres. This was the "Indian War." Teedyuscong, an Indian who had been taught by the Moravian missionaries from Bethlehem was called the "War Trumpet of the Delawares."

Settlers fled before the wave of horror brought upon them by Teddyuscong and his warriors who worked south from Nescopek. On November 24, 1755, the Moravian Mission at Lehighton, then called Gnadenhutten, was destroyed.

When news of the massacre reached the Pennsylvania authroities, they assigned Benjamin Franklin to supervise the construction of forts. Franklin took more than 500 men and saw to it that a fort was built at Bushkill; one at the home of Nicholas Depui, in Shawnee; one in Stroudsburg, called Fort Hamilton; one in Kresgeville, Fort Norris, and Fort Allen was built near Lehighton.

Finally, urged on by the Quakers, peace came to the Poconos. The mountains, bordered on the south by the "Endless Mountains", part of the Appalachian Chain and extending far into the north, are a series of gently rolling hills. There is no Alp-like quality to these stately mountains which have been worn away by time and a series of glaciers.

A legal problem was knitting up in the Wyoming Valley. Both Connecticutt and Pennsylvania claimed the land and the settlers swore allegiance to whichever side they pleased.

In 1763, some Ottawa indians with Pontiac, moved into the valley and nearby areas. They attacked settlers in Wayne County, just north of the Poconos. Five years later, Teddyuscong turned up dead in Wyoming Valley and the Delaware Indians forgot the treaty he had signed in 1758.

These Indians went out to the northern section of the Poconos and in Cushutunk they fell on settlements in the Wyoming Valley. They then joined the Six Nations from farther north and with the aid of about 100 Tories began the end.

With the horror of raids and massacres on the settlers in the Poconos and on to the north, General Washington decided to settle the matter once and for all. He appointed General John Sullivan to take his famous and historic march through the Poconos into the Wyoming Valley and end the outrages.

Prior to the march, a group of "Army Engineers" were ordered to cut a road north to get to the valley. They began in the late spring of 1779.

The line of march began at Wind Gap, having gotten men billeted from Easton. They continued over the mountains to Sciota where they got supplies and marched to Tannersville. There, they got on the road which had been laid for them through the mountains and swamps.

Upon reaching the territory, the Sullivan Army, after numerous hardships, took on the Six Nations and put them out of business.

Because of the influx of people to the Poconos, a road was built along the general path of present route 209 which ran from Saylorsburg and Wind Gap to Stroudsburg, Shawnee and Bushkill.

From this road, others branched out to nearby settlements and formed the basis for the network of roads throughout the area today.

When in 1800, the first wagon road was built through the Delaware Water Gap and Western Railroad, a combination of several smaller, shorter lines, was opened, the Poconos were on the main line to and from New York.

Since the early 1800's, the Poconos had been known for the healthful refreshing air and the relaxing comfort of the foothills. Anthony Dutot built a hotel in 1829 in Delaware Water Gap and began the vacation center in that area. Other structures soon were built in Swiftwater, Stroudsburg, Paradise Valley, East Stroudsburg and Buck Hill Falls.

Summer guests came from the cities to enjoy the air, scenery and relaxation afforded by the quiet mountains. In winter, they were back at work in the cities and the people took up their regular work again.

In 1900, Foxcroft, a Quaker Group from Philadelphia purchased a tract of land at Buck Hill Falls. They built the famous "The Inn at Buck inns. One near Stroudsburg, one in Delaware Water Gap and a tavern west of Stroudsburg.

Natives worked at gristmills, tanners and lumbering operations. The opening of the Delaware and Hudson Canal aided in opening the Poconos to trade south and the gravity railroad carried coal to the New York market. The minerals and natural resources of the area were being used at their peak.

When the Delaware, Lackawanna Hill Falls", and sold property to people surrounding the beauty spot. It is one of the three largest resorts in the Poconos.

Grown Into Village

Later, Pocono Manor was built and has grown to the size of a small village, with its own post office and small shops.

When the dam was built across Wallenpaupack Creek, the largest man-made lake in Pennsylvania was made. In addition to providing electric power, it became a center for boating and fishing, averaging in depth 60 feet, numerous cottages and colonies are built along the 38-mile shoreline.

Residential and business property er Gap, the Gateway to the Poconos swung open.

Choice of Three

Visitors to the area were afforded the luxury of the choice of three seasons are all attractive to visitors and the area is an excellent site for industries, for the same reason as resorts are.

Usually, the Pocono Mountains bring to mind the flood of August 1955. The natural beauty of the area suffered with the rampaging water which washed out roads, bridges, communications and utilities. People were completely unaware of the awful nightmare confronting them when the two hurricanes, Carol and Diane in the Poconos is most popular. The area began as a farming, gristmill and lumbering section. With the depletion of the forest, the resort trade became more important. Now, the dumped water on the mountains for four straight days.

The peak of the flood claimed more than 75 lives. Worst of all was the loss of life at Camp Davis, just north of Stroudsburg on Route 191. There, women and children in a farmhouse were carried away in the torrent of water that sliced through the valley and rushed miles downstream to meet the Delaware River.

Today, the area has begun a series of flood control projects which will prevent such a thing from happening again. The water resources are being used to their greatest advantage through the construction of the various dams.
